Bankrupt Firm Executive Taken Into Custody by U. S. Agents.

HEARING ON WARRANT SET FOR FEBRUARY 17

Return of Notes Sought by Clients; Attorney Named to Aid Receivers.

EDMUND D. RHEEM.

Edmund D. Rheem executive vice president of the Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co., was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzling $162,000, and, after arraignment before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage, was released on $25,000 bond.

Rheem was arrested on a warrant sworn to by Department of Justice agents Loebel and Jacobson. They were said to be acting under orders of Assistant Attorney General Nugent Dodds, although Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw handled the case.

Rheem is a son-in-law of Harry Wardman and has been affiliated with his father-in-law in many building projects. For several years he has managed the affairs of the now bankrupt firm.

Hearing Set for February 17.

Hearing on the warrant is scheduled for February 17, according to United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage. The date was set after a conference with Attorney William E. Leahy, who appears as the financier's counsel.

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover had nothing to say about the matter but it was understood the case would be presented to the grand jury Thursday or Friday.

Coincidentally Justice Jennings Bailey in District Supreme Court signed an order assigning Michael M. Doyle as attorney for receivers of the Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co. The order also specified that Attorney Doyle was to act for the referee in bankruptcy, Fred J. Eden.

Return of Notes Asked.

Petitions for the return of notes were filed yesterday by Margaret A. Shanks, Nellie A. Hogan, F. A. Heimer, Elizabeth B. Buckingham, Maurice J. Pierce, Mary A. Chute, Sarah A. Nourse and Pearl Reed.

Margaret A. Shanks seeks to recover $2,500; Nellie A. Hogan, through Attorney T. L. Jeffords, asks the return of notes totaling $1,000; F. A. Heimer wanted notes totaling $7,500 returned, and Elizabeth B. Buckingham asks the return of notes totaling 4,000.

Mary A. Chute seeks the return of $500 in notes, through Attorney C. Clinton James.

Mr. Pierce seeks return of $5,000 in notes, through Attorney W. A. Coombe.

Sarah A. Nourse wants notes valued at $2,100 returned. She is represented by Attorney W. Barron Glover.

Boy Killed, 4 Hurt As Train Hits Auto

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., Feb. 3.—One person was killed and four are in a hospital here as a result of a grade crossing accident at Greenville, 12 miles south of Staunton, late this afternoon. None of those injured are believed to be in a serious condition. Harley Strickler, 5 years old, was killed.

The injured are Mrs. Sallie Strickler, the child's grandmother; Leonard Strickler, his father; Harold Strickler, 2; Hazel Strickler, 10. Six persons were in the light machine, the youngest being Hunter Strickler, less than 1 year old, who escaped unhurt.

The dead boy's skull was badly crushed. The train was not progressing fast, as the automobile was not overturned, and was little damaged.

INHERITANCE LOST BY MRS. WHOLEAN

Mrs. Mary F. Henderson Has Severed Foster Grandchild From Her Millions.

SUIT IS DECLARED CAUSE

The Henderson millions, amassed by Senator John B. Henderson, sr., will not be willed to Mrs. Beatrice Van Rensselaer Henderson Wholean, who had been accepted by society the world over as the blood descendant of the multimillionaire family.

Mrs. Mary F. Henderson, widow of the late senator, has disinherited her foster grandchild who recently filed suit in the District Supreme Court to have Mrs. Henderson removed as trustee of the Henderson estate on account of "her incapacity to do so because of her illness."

Jesse Shima, Japanese secretary of the aged dowager, and Harry Seay, real estate dealer and investment broker, who was secretary to Senator Henderson, are authority for the statement that Mrs. Wholean has been severed from the heirs of the Hendersons.

Mr. Joseph E. Wholean, the automobile salesman who married the supposed heir to millions, last night affirmed the statement of Walter C. Clephane, who was appointed guardian of Beatrice Henderson on December 22, 1924, by Justice William Hitz, soon after papers had been filed by attorneys of Mrs. Henderson, sr., asking that Beatrice Henderson be made her heir-at-law. Mrs. Henderson does not recall signing these papers.

The guardian had informed the court that he did not know who the parents of Beatrice Henderson were, but believed that the father is dead, and was unable to say whether the mother was living.

Until 1923 Mrs. Henderson, sr., had believed that Beatrice Henderson was her grandchild until an old servant of the family, after a quarrel with the girl, had asserted that he was as much "a Henderson as she was." It was then that Mrs. Henderson says she learned that her son, John B. Henderson, jr., and his wife, the former Angelica Schuyler Crosby Henderson, granddaughter of Stephen Van Rensselaer, the last of the patroons, had deceived her into believing Betrice was their child.

Search for a "Miss Sylvester," head nurse at a foundling home operated in Washington 25 years ago by the late Dr. William F. Frye, was begun last night by representatives of Mrs. Henderson, sr. This quest was begun when a nurse, who attended Mrs. Henderson, jr., during her purported

Cannon's Fight to Block Hearing On Technicalities Is Overruled

Accused Bishop Defeated in First Skirmish of Church Inquiry.

PERSONNEL OF COURT IS VEILED IN MYSTERY

(Copyright, 1931, by The Washington Post.)

Bishop James Cannon, jr., lost the first round in his fight for his ecclesiastical life yesterday, when Bishop W. N. Ainsworth of Georgia ruled that the investigation now in progress at Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church was not unconstitutional.

Today the presentation of evidence against the bishop will begin. It is understood that it will take the better part of two days to get this evidence before the ecclesiastical court of investigation. Then will come the verdict. If it is in his favor, the bishop goes scot free. If is against him, he is automatically suspended from his office for three years, until the next general conference meets, when the trial will be officially held before the committee on episcopacy of that body.

What the evidence against the bishop will be is pretty generally known by the public, for much of it has been published in the newspapers and in the Congressional Record. But there are whispers around the lobby of the hotel where the entire Methodist entourage is stopping and in informed Methodist circles here, that while the charges are generally known, the details of the evidence are not.

Evidence in Large Box.

When the afternoon session of the court broke up yesterday, the four prosecutors in the came came out of the church together. One of them, the youngest of the group, Dr. Costen J. Harrell, of Richmond, was carrying a large leather covered box, 3 feet wide, 3 feet deep and about 1 foot thick.

"That looks like evidence, Doctor," a reporter said to him.

"Since you ask, it is," snapped back the serious young minister.

What is in that giant portfolio only four men know, and they are not telling. Twelve Methodist elders will know before this day is out, for it is the carefully prepared record in the Cannon case.

These four ministers—Dr. Forest J. Prettyman, of Baltimore; Dr. I. P. Masten, of Richmond; Dr. Costen J. Harrell, of Richmond, and Dr. I. P. Martin, of Morristown, Tenn.—did not gather all of this evidence. Some of it was given them, so it is said in informed Methodist circles, by members of Congress, representatives and senators, and some by Methodist laymen, who felt a sense of outrage, as they said, because of the action of the Dallas Genearl Conference in exculpaping Bishop Cannon last May.

Charges of Serious Nature.

Briefly and succinctly the charges involve the bishop's dealings in Wall street with a brokerage house which

100 REPORTED DEAD IN TEMBLOR REGION

FIRES INCREASE TERROR

Auckland, New Zealand (Wednesday), Feb. 4 (A.P.).—With 100 known dead and 1,000 injured, the earthquake toll grew hourly today as rescuers tore into crumbled ruins of Napier, Hastings and other towns of North Island, New Zealand, razed in yesterday's disaster.

Large numbers of persons were still imprisoned in many toppled buildings. Many were believed dead. It was hotped a few would be found alive. In one store at Hastings sixteen persons were covered by ruins.

Business sections of Napier and Hastings weer leveled by the heaving earth and the flames which followed swiftly through piles of wood and masonry that had been buildings of "Sunny" Napier, and its neighboring towns of the beautiful Hawke Bay district.

The material loss will run into millions of pounds sterling, very little covered by earthquake insurance.

Quick to respond to the call, 38 doctors and 75 nurses from nearby cities aided in ministering to sufferers.

There was no panic today. The survivors, having passed through a terrifying experience, seemed dazed as they moved quietly through broken streets. On either side stretched flattened areas, with brick chimneys standing like tombstones.

The sea bed was thrust upward 18 feet by the earthquake. Ships at anchor in Hawke Bay were forced to move further out. The motor ship

Child Dies as Mother Takes Out Insurance

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Feb. 3.—As Mrs. Frank Danks stood upon her front porch taking out insurance on the lives of her three little girls today at her home on Beverly Hill, Kingwood, one of them, Mary Lou, 9 months old, was suffocated by smoke and flames less than 50 feet away in the living room.

Three Die When Train Hits Dynamite Truck

Salt Lake City, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Three men were killed and another seriously injured in a collision between a Denver & Rio Grande Western passenger train and a truck loaded with dynamite which blew up here this afternoon.

The truck was on a crossing when the train, No. 3 northbound, struck it. The truck was blown to splinters and the locomotive was badly damaged. None of the cars of the train was derailed but the explosion broke several of the windows and was felt in the coaches.

19 Accused of Diverting Vast Supply of Alcohol

New York, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—A country wide plot resulting in the diversion for beverage purposes of more than 1,000,000 gallons of alcohol and perfume was alleged by Federal agents today as ninteen men and two women were arrigned.

The defendants, residents of New York State and New Jersey, were held for hearings in removal proceedings to Chicago. They have been indicted there for conspiracy to violate the Federal dry laws.

CHEST NOW SHORT $300,000 OF GOAL

APPEAL WILL CONTINUE

With more than 78,000 persons reported as giving to the Community Chest this year, for a total to date of $1,647,690.31, Washington's Chest workers last night faced the task of raising approximately $300,000 in 24 hours if the goal of $1,950,154.40 is to be reached by the closing meeting of the campaign at Constitution Hall tonight. Officials felt there was a possibility of reaching the goal by tonight, pointing out that 100,000 contributions are expected this year and that this number of gifts should bring the Chest to its goal.

Tonight's closing meeting is expected to be the greatest Community Chest gathering ever held in Washington. Gen. John J. Pershing and other notables will be present. There will be a concert by the Navy Band and vocal selections by Fred East and William Raymond, accompanied by Robert Thomas, and songs by Mrs. Vernon Lowry.

The Chest aids, in some one of many forms, approximately 75,000 persons annually. The Chest goal was predicated upon the minimum needs of Chest organizations for furnishing this aid.

Territorial lines were abandoned yesterday and the workers of all units authorized to solicit gifts when and

SENATORS TRY TO SEE RELIEF COMPROMISE IN HOOVER'S LATEST WORD

SOME OF HIS PARTY SEEK TO CHECK HIM

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

There seemed to be a hope in the sorely harassed Senate yesterday following President Hoover's statement that the day is not distant when a compromise may be effected on the proposal to appropriate $25,000,000 to relieve distress, though there was nothing very tangible to base it on.

Although the President reiterated his opposition to a congressional appropriation so long as charities and local endeavor could take care of the situation, he pledged his willingness to generous appropriations in the event that they fell down.

It was hard to see where he had budged an inch from his original position, but considerable importance was attached to the conciliatory tone of his statement, and some senators, particularly Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, read into it a spirit of compromise which he urged his colleagues to enter into.

For one thing, the President attributed sincerity to the senators, which was not the tone of his famous utterance about "playing politics with human misery," which set off the fracas.

Harrison Sees Way Out.

Senator Harrison declared the President's expression of willingness to appropriate if the charities and local organizations can not handle the situation paved the way for a compromise.

"He thinks sincerely that they are adequate for this emergency," Senator Harrison said. "I do not. I think he is mistaken."

The thing to do under such circumstances then, he continued, was to appropriate $25,000,000 to be used only in the event it is needed. The appropriation may be well protected so that it can be used only if it should turn out that the President is mistaken, he said.

And with Senator Harrison it was not a case of the Greeks bearing gifts. He does not want an extra session, and there is reason for the belief that Barney Baruch and Chairman John J. Raskob and other Eastern Democratic influences are about to worry him and Senator Robinson to death, telling them to back down, that they are wrong.

Democrats Irritated.

But in the eyes of his fellow Senate Democrats the majority of them, to say the least, he spoke out of turn yesterday. Senator Swanson and others kept trying to interrupt him to pick flaws in his compromising speech, and he had a hard time waving them down. And the Progressives were particularly resentful.

Neither did Senator Harrison's spirit spread to Senator Robinson, who subsequently took the floor and directly charged the President with having influenced the action several days ago of the central committee of the Red Cross in refusing the $25,000,000 appropriation.

Quoting a letter from an unidentified college president that the committee's action was "a crime against humanity" and an "unwarranted interference with the orderly processes of Congress," Senator Robinson declared:

"There is not the slightest doubt that the action was taken for the sole purpose of attempting to defeat the $25,000,000 appropriation. And there is only one power or influence on this round globe who could have driven John Barton Payne" into such a position.

"That influence," he added, "was, in all probability, the Chief Executive of this Nation, who is the president of the Red Cross."

Glass Criticizes Red Cross.

Statement of President On U. S. Drought Relief

The text of the President's statement follows:

Certain senators have issued a public statement to the effect that unless the President and the House of Representatives agree to appropriations from the Federal Treasury for charitable purposes they will force an extra session of Congress.

I do not wish to add acrimony to a discussion, but would rather state this case as I see its fundamentals.

This is not an issue as to whether people shall go hungry or cold in the United States. It is solely a question of the best method by which hunger and cold shall be prevented.

It is a question as to whether the American people, on one hand, will maintain the spirit of charity and mutual self help through voluntary giving and the responsibility of local government as distinguished, on the other hand, from appropriations out of the Federal Treasury for such purposes.

My own conviction is strongly that if we break down this sense of responsibility of individual generosity to individual and mutual self-help in this country in times of national difficulty, and if we start appropriations of this character we have not only impaired something infinitely valuable in the life of the

BUSINESS OPPOSED TO EXTRA SESSION

MOST BACK PRESIDENT

New York, Feb 3 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Almost to a man the business and financial leaders of New York view with apprehension the prospect of an extra session of Congress after the present Congress ceases to exist on March 4.

Expressions obtained today from representative industrial and banking leaders reveal a widespread fear that the new Congress, summoned in special assembly before its regular meeting date next December, would indulge in tactics which would keep business in a ferment of doubt and thereby indefinitely postpone recovery from the present depression.

This sentiment is not confined to Wall street, where it is universal, but is distributed among the executives of enterprises which have only the faintest connection with the stock market and is expressed by the proprietors of small industries as well as the directors of the biggest commercial organizations.

The general feeling is that Congress can speedily dispose of emergency unemployment and drought relief measures, but can do little or nothing toward aiding general business recovery, and that therefore it should hasten its work to a conclusion and quit, thereby freeing the business interests from the danger to stability always existing when vast panaceal proposals are being considered which might increase taxes, upset markets or turn finance into new channels.

As to the dispute between President Hoover and the present Congress, which might force a special session, the business interests are mainly on the side of the President. They are virtually a unit in opposing the $3,400,000,000 bond issue for the immediate payment of World War veterans' bonuses. They are less unanimous on the $25,000,000 drought relief appropriation, but a majority support the Hoover position.

They view with some cynicism the maneuvers in the contest between the White House and the Capitol, regarding the various moves in the game as mere political gestures, designed to win votes and not made with any idea of aiding sufferers from drought or unemployment, helping business to regain its feet or bringing to an end the depression. The sooner such maneuvers are brought to an end the better, they contend, and the only way to end them is to have Congress

'LIAR' USED IN HOUSE OVER SENATE CRITIC

RULES CHANGE PROPOSED

(Associated Press.)

Indignation ran high in the House over Senate attacks on its members and an uproar was precipitated that threatened to terminate in a physical clash between angry Republicans and Democrats.

Smarting under criticism voiced Monday by Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, against House leaders opposed to the $25,000,000 Red Cross relief proposal, two Republicans—Cramton, of Michigan, and Treadway, of Massachusetts, made bristling replies.

Points of order were made by Democrats and general confusion resulted.

During the heated exchanges, Speaker Longworth, who had been mentioned by Caraway, suggested the rules be suspended this session to permit the House members to answer on the floor charges made by members of the other branch.

The Speaker said he would entertain a proposal later from the rules committee to make the change.

Cramton and Treadway, hampered by rules of 140 years' standing that prohibit representatives from making disparaging remarks on the House floor against senators, did their best to answer Caraway's attacks without mentioning his name.

Overriding the objections of Representative Cox (Democrat), of Georgia, Cramton arose to a point of personal privilege and asserted that any one who said he had sought by his position on the appropriations committee to obtain a $10,000 a year position was "a plain, unadulterated liar."

Without mentioning Cramton by name, Senator Caraway said Monday he had "tucked away his $10,000 plum."

Cramton, who was defeated for reelection, has been proposed for a position with the Washington Bicentennial Commission. He led the House opposition to the $25,000,000 relief proposal.

Representative Parks (Democrat), Arkansas, clamored for recognition from the Speaker to make a point of order against Cramton, on the ground that the Michigan member's remarks were unparliamentary.

"It is the only language that will adequately picture the occasion," Cramton snapped.

"To me it is no small thing that there should be carried in the press

Heflin Will Aid in Founding Newspaper at Birmingham

Observers See Backing of Proposed Daily as Means of Revitalizing Independent "Jeffersonian" Party; Will Follow Policy of Fellowship Forum.

J. Thomas Heflin, senior senator from Alabama who retires March 4, is connected with a movement to establish a daily newspaper in Birmingham, it was learned from authoritative sources yesterday by The Post.

Senator Heflin, after being barred from the State Democratic primary last August because of his bolting the party in 1928 to support Mr. Hoover for President, ran as an independent "Jeffersonian" Democrat in the general election in November. He was defeated by John Hillis Bankhead, son of the late Senator J. H. Bankhead, by more than 50,000 majority.

Political observers see in the newspaper founding plans, in which Heflin has been linked, means of stabilizing the independent party in Alabama even after such a crushing defeat following its inception only a few months ago. Golston & Kincey, Alabama capitalists, and leaders in the Jeffersonian movement, are named as backers of the project.

Policies of the proposed paper will be similar to that of the Fellowship Forum, national Klan organ, reports indicate. The large dailies, and a preponderence of weeklies, in Alabama have consistently opposed Mr. Heflin during his tenure in the Senate.

Calvin Coolidge Says:

Months ago one of these dispatches suggested it would help business if large employers would make it known that no more employes would now be discharged. When a few are laid off the rest fear they may be next. That feeling contracts the usual amount of their purchases. They cut expenses against the possible day of being out of work. That is one reason why savings bank deposits have increased and consumption has diminished. Then there come more discharges. The process is a vicious circle.

Twenty-five large employers have announced publicly that as far as they are concerned they will break that circle by ceasing any present discharges. Many other employers have adopted the same policy without formal statement. This good news not only involves half a million employes directly but by its influence will help many times that number. Every employer who can should follow this example. It is a practical, constructive and sound action worth many proclamations. The paralysis of fear will be removed and confidence promoted. The fortunate employes involved have a corresponding obligation to cooperate in breaking the circle by resuming normal expenditures according to their means.

Butler Coming Here Today To Confer With Attorney

Stormy Petrel of Marines, Facing Court-Martial February 16 for Attack on Mussolini, Will Plan Defense; Charges Are Completed.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The stormy petrel will leave his cage today. Which is to say that Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler will leave his camp at Quantico, Va., today and come to Washington.

He is coming here to confer with his attorney, Maj. Henry Leonard, U. S. M. C., retired, and map out plans for the legal battle that will break around him on February 16.

For six days Gen. Butler has been his own prisoner at Quantico, having been ordered by Secretary of the Navy Adams to place himself under arrest last Thursday.

The order, which notified Gen. Butler that he was to face a general court-martial, came as the result of the general's Philadelphia speech in which he alleged that Premier Mussolini had run down a child and failed to stop.

The day before yesterday, however, Maj. Gen. Ben Fuller, commandant of the Marine Corps, notified Gen. Butler that he was free to leave the camp and go wherever he pleased so long as he was in Philadelphia when his trial opens February 16.

It is expected that Gen. Butler will come here from Quantico by automobile, but it is not known what time he will arrive. He is expected to go directly to Maj. Leonard's office in the Wilkins Building, on H street of this situation is that the Red Cross permitted itself to be used for purposes not outlined in its charter."

Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, agreed that the action of the Red Cross was a "mistake."

"It has done more to impair the influence of the Red Cross than any unfriendly act which a senator could possibly have done," Senator Robinson said.

The feeling that a compromise may be effected was warranted more by the realization that there must be one than to any definite happening.

It is difficult to tell whether the Democrats or the administration Republicans are the more afraid of an extra session. Neither side wants one. The Democrats are afraid because they are being told by the predominant influences of their party that it is not politically the thing to do, and the Republicans are afraid because of the increasing bonus agitation.

There is no secret that they hope to stall off this matter until March 4, passing in the meantime perhaps some legislation liberalizing the loan features of the adjusted certificates. If there is an extra session the bonus agitation will run clean over them.

Compromises Still Problem.

As to what kind of a compromise can be worked out is another matter.

It was significant that the day brought a revival of the stories that Mr. Hoover never intended his "political misery" statement to apply to the proposal to loan the drought-stricken farmers money for food purchases. There was this explanation by "friends of the President" at the time the statement was issued and caused such a furore, but inasmuch as Secretary of Agriculture Hyde the night before had attacked the drought loan as "dangerously near a dole," the President's statement was taken generally as applying to it.

There always has been the belief that what really inflamed the President at the time was an attack upon him by Senator Dave Walsh. However, having been caught in the position of speaking so strongly against the drought appropriation, he has carried on a relentless, but mostly indirect, fight on it. His opposition has been felt through the House.

Cleveland Veto Referred To.

There is no question that the Democrats would accept the $15,000,000 appropriation for loans to the drought-stricken farmers. The compromisers pointed out yesterday this would fit right in with Mr. Hoover's desire that all relief be directed toward helping the stricken areas rehabilitate themselves.

But against this possibility was Mr. Hoover's citing of Grover Cleveland's statement when he vetoed a proposed appropriation for drought-stricken Texas.

But the fixers also had an answer to this. Mr. Hoover already has approved a measure similar to the one vetoed by Cleveland. That measure was to grant loans for seed. Mr. Hoover, before Christmas, approved a measure to loan the farmers $45,000,000 for the purchase of seed. The proposed $15,000,000 would be for loans for food.

It is doubtful whether the Democrats would compromise on Harrison's grounds, though they might. Most of them and all the Progressives think they have the administration on the run. The conciliatory tone of the President's statement was about the only tangible thing, insofar as he is concerned, on which they have to go, though.

First-Degree Murder Charged to Two Men

Matthew Carpenter and Hurst Neal, Negroes, were indicted by the District grand jury yesterday on charges of first degree murder. Carpenter is alleged to have killed Louise Banks, Negro, last January 26 in a house on E street northwest near Twentieth street. Neal is alleged to have killed James Stewart in a fisticuff in a house on Massachusetts avenue northeast near Second street.

A homicide charge against Willis H. Murray, Negro, in connection with the death of his father, William A. Murray, was ignored.

England Praised In Dawes' Speech

Ambassador Tells Legion Post at London [illegible] to U. S. Troops.

London, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes gave the allied countries, particularly Great Britain, high praise for their serevices to American troops during the World War, in a speech at an informal gathering of the London Post of the American Legion today.

The Evening News gave considerable space tonight to the ambassador's remarks, quoting some of the passages. From these it might appear Mr. Dawes was minimizing the American effort, but this was not the impression of his hearers, who roundly applauded his talk.

Members of the post joked the ambassador as he hasn't been joked since he became envoy to the Court of St. Jamese, and he seemed to enjoy the experience. Asked how he became a brigadier general of Engineers, Mr. Dawees said his examiners had asked him only one question and he answered it so brilliantly that he was promoted immediately. "They asked me," he said, "what I would do if I were asked to survey a field or a section of trench. I told them I would send for a surveyor."

of the country the direct charge that I have sought, through my place on the appropriations committee, to prepare myself for a job."

Republicans Applaud.

At this statement the Republicans arose, shouting and applauding their colleague.

"There are men on the floor, on both sides of the aisle," he continued, "who know that the statement printed in the press of the Nation is untrue."

Again the Republicans arose, shouting and applauding.

Parks advanced toward the well of the House, waving his arms, demanding the Speaker recognize his point of order. It was a tense moment. Members on both sides arose arguing, and it appeared for a moment there might be a free-for-all encounter.

Parks Overruled.

The tumult subsided, however, and Speaker Longworth overruled Parks' point of order.

Cramton then asserted he had never asked the administration for any position.

When Treadway gained the floor he said:

"We are not going to sit here and take that sort of talk and keep quiet about it. At least I shall not, and I think the other members of the House have just as much red blood as I have. We are not going to sit here and allow that type of abuse to be sent out over the country against the individual members of this House, from the Speaker down. We are going to defend ourselves and if the present rules will not permit that, then they ought to be changed."

SENATE MAY REJECT POWER MEN TODAY

COURT ACTION EXPECTED

(Associated Press.)

The Senate coalition, scrapping with President Hoover over the nominations of three members of the Power Commission, prepared yesterday for an attempt to reject the nominations, preliminary to seeking a court decision on the controversy.

Continuing to consider the nominations, despite Mr. Hoover's refusal to admit the legality of the action, the Senate interstate commerce committee reported them back to the Senate without recommendation.

The three, Chairman Smith and Commissioners Garsaud and Draper, thus were placed before the Senate for approval or rejection, as though they were not still holding office. The Senate agreed to consider the nominations today at 3 o'clock.

Would Cut Out Salaries.

Meanwhile, leaders of the move to remove the commissioners, awaited opportunity to call up the resolution now on the Senate calendar to request District Attorney Rover to institute quo warranto proceedings to test the right of the commissioners to office.

The controversy is expected to come before the Senate today in still another way, when the independent offices appropriation bill, which carries their salaries, will be considered.

Several senators have announced they will move to eliminate from this bill the salaries for the commissioners.

The committee action was taken with unanimous approval of its members, who felt the nominations should be placed before the Senate regardless of the merits of the controversy.

Rejection Expected.

Leaders of the recall move expressed confidence, in view of past votes, that the Senate formally will reject the nominations. This would place the issue before the courts to determine whether the commissioners could hold office legally in the face of their rejection.

The nominations were confirmed just before Christmas, but the Senate reconsidered its confirmation after the three commissioners had ordered the dismissal of Solicitor Charles A. Russell and Chief Accountant William V. King.

Despite the reconsideration, Mr. Hoover refused to return the names to the Senate, contending the commissioners had been confirmed legally and sworn into office.

American people but have struck at the roots of self-government.

Once this has happened, it is not the cost of a few score millions, but we are faced with the abyss of reliance in the future upon Government charity in some form or other.

The money involved is indeed the least of the costs to American ideals and American institutions.

President Cleveland, in 1887, confronted with a similar issue, stated in part:

"A prevalent tendency to disregard the limited mission of this power and duty should, I think, be steadfastly registered, to the end that the lesson should be constantly enforced that though the people support the Government, the Government should not support the people.

"The friendliness and charity of our countrymen can always be relied upon to relieve their fellow-citizens in misfortune. This has been repeatedly and quite lately demonstrated. Federal aid in such cases encourages the expectation of paternal care on the part of the Government and weakens the sturdiness of our national character, while it prevents the indulgence among our people of that kindly sentiment and conduct which strengthens the bonds of a common brotherhood."

Practical Problem Involved.

And there is a practical problem in all this. The help being daily extended by neighbors, by local and national agencies, by municipalities, by industry and a great multitude of organizations throughout the country today is many times any appropriation yet proposed. The opening of the doors of the Federal Treasury is likely to stifle this giving and thus destroy far more resources than the proposed charity from the Federal Government.

The basis of successful relief in national distress is to mobilize and organize the infinite number of agencies of self-help in the community. That has been the American way of relieving distress among our own people and the country is successfully meeting its problem in the American way today.

Two Distinct Situations.

We have two entirely separate and distinct situations in the country; the first is the drought area; the second is the unemployment in our large industrial centers—for both of which these appropriations attempt to make charitable contributions.

Immediately upon the appearance of the drought last August, I convoked a meeting of the governors, the Red Cross and the railways, the bankers and other agencies in the country and laid the foundations of organization and the resources to stimulate every degree of self-help to meet the situation which it was then obvious would develop.

The result of this action was to attack the drought problem in a number of directions. The Red Cross established committees in every drought country, comprising the leading citizens of those counties, with instructions to them that they were to prevent starvation among their neighbors and, if the problem went beyond local resources, the Red Cross would support them.

People Cared for Today.

The organization has stretched throughout the area of suffering, the people are being cared for today through the hands and with sympathetic understanding and upon the responsibility of their neighbors who are being supported in turn by the fine spirit of mutual assistance of the American people. The Red Cross officials whose long, devoted service and experience is unchallenged, inform me this morning that except for the minor incidents of any emergency organization, no one is going hungry and no one need go hungry or cold.

To reinforce this work at the opening of Congress I recommended large appropriations for loans to rehabilitate agriculture from the drought and provision of further large sums for public works and construction in the drought territory which would give employment in further relief to the whole situation. These Federal activities provide for an expenditure of upward of $100,000,000 in this area and it is in progress today.

Has Always Met Situation.

The Red Cross has always met the situations which it has undertaken. After careful survey and after actual experience of several months with their part of the problem they have announced firmly that they can command the resources with which to meet any call for human relief in prevention of hunger and suffering in drought areas and that they accept this responsibility. They have refused to accept Federal appropriations as not being consonant either with the need or the character of their organization. The Government departments have given and are giving them every assistance. We possibly need to strengthen the public health service in matters of sanitation and to strengthen the credit facilities of that area through the method approved by the Government departments to divert some existing appropriations to strengthen agricultural credit corporations.

Tells of Jobless Situation.

In the matter of unemployment outside of the drought areas important economic measures of mutual self-help have been developed such as those to maintain wages, to distribute employment equitably, to increase construction work by industry, to increase Federal construction work from a rate of about $275,000,000 a year prior to the depression to a rate now of over $750,000,000 a year; to expand State and municipal, county and State governments shall use their own resources and credit before seeking such assistance from the Federal Treasury.

I have indeed spent much of my life in fighting hardship and starvation both abroad and in the Southern States. I do not feel that I should be charged with lack of human sympathy for those who suffer, but I recall that in all the organizations with which I have been connected over these many years, the foundation has been to summon the maximum of self-help. I am proud to have sought the help of Congress in the past for nations who were so disorganized by war and anarchy that self-help was impossible.

But even these appropriations were but a tithe of that which was coincidentally mobilized from the public charity of the United States and foreign countries. There is no such paralysis in the United States, and I am confident that our people have the resources, the initiative, the courage, the stamina and kindliness of spirit to meet this situation in the way they have met their problems over generations.

Pledge by President.

I will accredit to those who advocate Federal charity a natural anxiety for the people of their States. I am willing to pledge myself that if the time should ever come that the voluntary agencies of the country, together with the local and State governments, are unable to find resources with which to prevent hunger and suffering in my country, I will ask the aid of every resource of the Federal Government because I would no more see starvation among our countrymen than would any senator or congressman. I have the faith in the American people that such a day will not come.

The American people are doing their job today. They should be given a chance to show whether they wish to preserve the principles of individual and local responsibility and mutual self help before they embark on what I believe is a disastrous system. I feel sure they will succeed if given the opportunity.

The whole business situation would be greatly strengthened by the prompt completion of the necessary legislation of this session of Congress, and thereby the unemployment problem would be lessened, the drought area indirectly benefited and the resources of self help in the country strengthened.

Food Price Inquiry Begins Next Week

Aids of Baking Companies, Involved in Mergers, to Be Questioned.

(Associated Press.)

Hearings in the Senate's investigation of food prices will begin Tuesday. The agricultural subcommittee appointed to make the investigation yesterday fixed that date for beginning its study of the prices of bread, wheat and flour.

The investigations into the costs of meats, dairy products and sugar will follow later.

Chairman Capper said the witnesses would include representatives of the big baking compaines which have recently participated in mergers, representatives of farm organizations, retail dealers and millers. The committee has been directed to inquire into the failure of retail prices of bread and other food products to reflect the declining prices paid to producers of these products.

SENATORS TO VOTE ON OIL TOMORROW

Way Cleared for Committee to Rule on Plans to Curb Imports.

REQUA SUPPORTS WILBUR

(Associated Press.)

The way was cleared yesterday by the Senate commerce committee for a decision tomorrow on measures seeking to curb the flow of cheaper foreign oil into this country.

Hearings were closed, and Chairman Johnson called a meeting for tomorrow to consider action. Meantime, the Senate finance committee instructed its chairman, Senator Smoot, of Utah, to move to get jurisdiction of the oil legislation.

A dispute between the committees is impending.

Mark L. Requa, of California, who was chairman of the petroleum conference at Colorado Springs two years ago, closed the hearings by advocating establishment of a committee on natural resources, with authority to control operations.

Requa Noncommittal.

Mr. Requa declined to take a position on either of the pending bills. Senator Shortridge (Republican), California, has proposed a tariff of $1 a barrel, and Senator Capper (Republican), Kansas, seeks a limitation of 16,000,000 barrels annually.

Representative Nelson (Republican), Maine, joined the opposition to the measure yesterday, asserting they would result in increased prices for fuel oil and put a number of industries out of business.

A close vote was indicated as in prospect in the commerce committee on the legislation.

Mr. Requa indorsed the suggestion of Secretary Wilbur that authority be given the Federal Trade Commission to limit oil importation on a pro rata basis comparable to the limitation agreed upon by domestic producers.

The Californian said economic conditions generally were slightly better in the Pacific Coast region, as compared with the East and other sections. He also said the percentage of bank failures also was lower there, but he did not attribute this to better banking.

Robinson opposed adding too many restrictions in event that the national banking laws were changed, but said some modifications might be wise.

It probably would be advisable, he said, to raise from $25,000 to $50,000, or even $100,000, the minimum capital requirement of a bank applying for a national charter, to discourage the opening of too many small banks which have difficulty in "earning a living."

Favors "Serious Competition."

Asked if he would advocate a uniform chartering system in place of the 49 separate systems in operation throughout the country, Robinson said anything that reduced the "serious competition" between State and national systems would be "good."

He agreed with other witnesses the capital gains tax served to build up artificial values, and said he was favorably impressed with the "trade area" branch banking proposal of J. W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency, to extend branches from commercial centers to rural communities.

Owen D. Young, New York industrialist and author of the Young plan for reparations payments, will testify today.

BUSINESS OPPOSED TO EXTRA SESSION

adjourn and maintain its recess until the legal time for its reassembling.

Among those who expressed opposition to the extra congressional session were Willis H. Booth, vice president of the Guaranty Trust Co., and president of the Merchants Association of New York; Lincoln Cromwell, director of the Merchants Association, and member of William Iselin & Co., dry goods commission merchants; Walter Stabler, of Kenneth Slawson Hobbs, Inc., real estate, and a director of the Merchants Association; Walter J. L. Banham, president of the New York Board of Trade, and Robert B. Wolf, president of the Pulp Bleaching Corporation, and director of the Merchants Association.

Wall street opinion has been expressed during the last two weeks in the weekly market letters of the brokerage houses, most of which directly speak of the "menace" of an extra session, taking it for granted that every one will know such a session would be disturbing to business.

Girl, 16, Swallows Poison.

Janet E. Dorsch, 16 years old, swallowed a small quantity of poison yesterday afternoon at her home on Fourth street northwest near F street, police said. Neighbors called the fire rescue squad, members of which gave her first-aid treatment. Her condition was not serious and she remained home.

12 LABOR GROUPS GO ON STRIKE IN CUBA

TO LAST DAY AT LEAST

Havana, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—More than a dozen of Cuba's largest labor groups went on strike at 6 o'clock tonight and will remain out at least tomorrow.

The strike, sponsored by the Cuban Federation of Labor, was ostensibly in sympathy with commercial fishermen, but was agreed on in union meetings last night as a protest against congress' authorizing President Machado to suspend constitutional guarantees indefinitely. The fishermen have been on strike more than seven weeks as a result of wage cuts.

Carpenters, plasterers, textile workers, cigarmakers, linotype operators, stevedores, metal workers, builders, sponge and deep sea fishermen are included in the walkout.

Strike Not General.

The strike does not cover as many branches of trade as the workers had expected and therefore is not a general strike, but much of Cuba's commerce and industry are affected.

Because some labor leaders have been arrested by the government, the walkout may last longer than the scheduled 24 hours.

I fthe strike does end tomorrow night it will coincide with the expiration of the 60-day suspension of constitutional guarantees. By vote of the Senate last night and the House earlier in the week, the President was empowered to extend the suspension indefinitely, thus lifting the eight most important rights granted under the Cuban constitution and reimposing the law of public order. This is an old Spanish measure, similar to martial law, except that civilians may not be tried by military court.

May Invoke Old Law.

After the indefinite suspension was authorized the president said he was adverse to invoking its powers unless absolutely necessary.

Tonight it was said he probably would use them tomorrow if strike disorders of a serious nature occurred.

Street car employes, dissatisfied over a reduction in pay, were scheduled to join the walkout tonight, but did not do so. Some labor leaders said these men would strike Thursday and that the present move was only the beginning of a series which would affect all lines of trade.

Massachusetts had 795 fatal automobile accidents last year, an increase of 2.3 per cent over 1929, but child fatalities decreased to 160 from 197 for 1929.

DAY IN CONGRESS

February 3, 1931.

SENATE.

Met at noon and recessed at 5:15 p. m. until noon today.

Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, proposed compromise in drought relief fight, under which Federal appropriation would be used only if needed by Red Cross.

Senator Couzens (Republican), Michigan, asked whether Senator Robinson (Democrat), Arkansas, would accept $15,000,000 loan in lieu of appropriation.

Conferees on urgent deficiency bill agreed to $2,000,000 for medical supplies for drought sufferers.

Banking investigating committee heard Henry M. Robinson, California, urge establishing fund in Federal Treasury to pay depositors of banks which fail.

Manufactures committee voted favorably to report Davis bill requiring Government contractors to pay local wage scales.

Senator Johnson (Republican), California, called meeting commerce committee tomorrow to act on proposed restriction of oil imports.

Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, introduced resolution providing for cooperation of Secretary of War with Alleghany County in constructing a bridge across Alleghany River.

Received nominations of postmasters in many States.

Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, predicted there would be no legislation this session giving cash to veterans.

Eugene Meyer, New York, refused to enter detailed discussion with Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, before banking subcommittee.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:50 until noon today.

Began consideration of District appropriation bill.

Representative Cramton (Republican), Michigan, without specifically naming Senator Caraway (Democrat), Arkansas, said he was an "unadulterated liar" for charging that Cramton got himself a good job with bicentennial commission.

Reprseentative Treadway (Republican), Massachusetts, bitterly denounced criticism of House leaders by Senator Caraway.

Speaker Longworth ruled that House members could not use names of senators, but said he would give opportunity to change House rules to permit it.

Debate on drought relief occupied most of session.

Ways and means committee continued hearings on veterans' relief and Chairman Hawley announced he had called many more witnesses.

Agrciulture committee approved tax of 10 cents a pound on yellow oleomargarine.

Interstate commerce committee approved Cooper bill for Federal aids to maternity and infancy and rural health work.

Free bill to reduce immigration by 90 per cent for next two years was opposed in a minority report from immigration committee members.

ARGUMENTS IN OIL APPEAL END TODAY

DENVER MAN TO REPLY

(Associated Press.)

Two angles of the naval oil cases which startled the Nation nine years ago yesterday held the attention of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals as one man convicted of bribery and another found guilty of contempt of court sought reversal of their sentences.

Arguments in the appeal of Albert B. Fall from his conviction for accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny were concluded and those in the case of Harry M. Blackmer, Denver oil man, fined $60,000 for contempt of court, were begun. The Blackmer arguments will be concluded today. Fall's charges grew out of a lease of oil lands to Doheny's company, and Blackmer's from failing to appear as a witness at the conspiracy trial of Fall and Harry F. Sinclair.

Atlee Pomerene, special Government prosecutor, contended that Fall had legal responsibility for handling the oil leases and even if he did not he awarded them to Doheny's company. He said the defense contention that the former Secretary of the Interior could not be charged with bribery because the leasing was not a statutory act, was immaterial.

Pomerene Speaks.

Franklin Harrison, Pomerene's associate, told the court the Supreme Court had held that Fall had acted officially in awarding the leases. Pomerene assailed the contention that Fall did not have a fair and impartial trial.

Frank Hogan, chief counsel for Fall, closed the arguments by reiterating his contention that a Government officer could not be indicted for an act not included in his statutory duties. He contended that the Secretary of the Navy had jurisdiction over the oil reserves.

Karl C. Schuyler, of Denver, representing Blackmer, argued that the Walsh law of 1926 under which an American citizen residing abroad may be fined up to $100,000 for refusal to return and testify in a criminal case, was unconstitutional because it attempted to extend the authority of the courts beyond the limits of the United States.

Blackmer was summoned by the Government in the hope that his testimony would help find the source of Liberty bonds which had been traced from Fall to Sinclair and to the Continental Trading Co. of Canada.

Testimony of Sinclair.

Before the trial, however, Sinclair testified before the Senate investigating committee that he had received bonds from the Continental Trading Co. as his share of profits of an oil deal in which Blackmer figured. Fall's son-in-law testified at the Sinclair conspiracy trial that he received the bonds from Sinclair for himself and Fall for one-third interest in Fall's New Mexico ranch.

Schuyler said "sovereign control" of the United States over its citizens did not justify an attempt to stretch the arm of the courts beyond the limits of the country. He argued that the law did not extend to the defendant the same benefits it gave the Government.

Pomerene contended that the Government was forced to face the defendant with its witnesses, while the defendant could use a deposition in his defense. Pomerene will conclude today after which the defense will reply.

New Smoke Inspector To Aid Enforcement

Determined to ferret out the smoke law violators of the District with greater expediency, Health Officer William C. Fowler yesterday ordered the appointment of an additional inspector to assist Chief Smoke Inspector J. Frank Butts.

"There is entirely too much smoke discernible around the city," Dr. Fowler said. "I have noticed it myself and it looks bad. Consequently I have instructed Mr. Butts to go after the violators with unusual vigor." The new inspector is Ward M. Lusby. There are three other inspectors besides Mr. Butts.

School Problems to Be Discussed.

The buildings, grounds and equipment of the public schools will be discussed by Jere J. Crane, first assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, before the Public School Association in the Franklin Building this evening at 8 o'clock.

MEYER TESTIFIES ON BANK SERVICE

Dissatisfied With Work for Country and Agriculture, He Tells Committee.

QUIZZED BY BROOKHART

(Associated Press.)

Dissatisfaction with the service rendered by the banking system to the country as a whole and especially to agriculture was voiced yesterday by Eugene Meyer before the Senate banking subcommittee considering his nomination to be governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

Further than this the New York financier would not commit himself during another three hours questioning by Senators Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, and Fletcher (Democrat), Florida.

The hearings will be concluded tomorrow when several House members will be heard. They will include Chairman McFadden, of the banking committee, whose charges that J. P. Morgan influences were behind Meyer's nomination, have been denied.

Refuses to Go Into Details.

Mr. Meyer refused yesterday to be drawn into a detailed discussion of methods of controlling speculation and what the reserve system might do to prevent recurrence of existing economic conditions pending completion of a study he is making of testimony before the Glass banking investigating committee.

"I object to going off half cocked on opinions before an adequate study is made," he said.

He told Senator Fletcher he had no connection with international finance and the reserve board had "nothing to do with it under the law." He said further the board had no powers to correct what the Florida senator termed a "maldistribution of the gold and silver supply," and could not, under the law, prevent the listing of overcapitalized stocks.

Brookhart complained interest rates to farmers were too high, whereupon Meyer read the Reserve Board public statement of last September saying it had been assured that ample funds would be given the farmer at low rates to move their crops.

Called Glittering Generalities.

"They are very glittering generalities," Mr. Brookhart said, adding he had seen no farm rates lowered.

Mr. Meyer insisted that was a matter to be taken care of by State banks and suggested commercial banks in Iowa might lower their rates on deposits to bring down lending charges. He thought the deposit rates too high in Iowa.

Mr. Brookhart again read a clipping quoting R. B. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, brother of the Secretary of the Treasury, as saying in 1926 that grain prices were lower "as they should be," and said Meyer joined in such "Eastern philosophy," against the farmer.

"Mr. Mellon doesn't guide me in my opinions," the nominee replied, referring to Andrew W. Mellon, and added, "certainly R. B. Mellon doesn't."

MAJ. E. M. BARKER DEAD.

Retired Army Officer of Middleburg Dies on West Coast.

Maj. Eston M. Barker, a retired United States Army officer, of Middleburg, Va., died Saturday in the Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco, Calif., it was learned yesterday at the War Department.

Maj. Barker entered the military service as a private in 1900. He was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Philippine Scouts in 1906 and reached the grade of major in 1920. He was retired in 1922 because of disability received in line of duty. He is survived by a sister, Miss Florence Barker, of this city.

DEPOSITORS' FUND IN TREASURY URGED

YOUNG TO TESTIFY TODAY

(Associated Press.)

Establishment of a fund in the Federal Treasury for use in paying off depositors in banks which fail was proposed yesterday by Henry M. Robinson, California financier, as a means of speeding up liquidation of such institutions.

Mr. Robinson, the chairman of the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles, told the Senate banking investigating committee it was "terrible" the way liquidation of defunct banks was delayed.

He said he often had "wondered" if a fund should not be given the controller of the currency to pay depositors up to the limit of the assets of the banks in difficulty.

Would Reimburse Treasury.

While he did not elaborate, it was assumed by committee members the witness would have the Treasury reimbursed after liquidation was completed.

Mr. Robinson served on President Hoover's national drought-relief committee last year. He was the first Western banker to testify in the banking investigation.

The Californian said economic conditions generally were slightly better in the Pacific Coast region, as compared with the East and other sections. He added the percentage of bank failures also was lower there, but he did not attribute this to better banking. Mr. Robinson opposed adding too many restrictions in event the national banking laws were changed, but said some modifications might be wise.

It probably would be advisable, he said, to raise from $25,000 to $50,000 or even $100,000 the minimum capital requirement of a bank applying for a national charter to discourage the opening of too many small banks which have difficulty in "earning a living."

Competition Too Serious.

Asked if he would advocate a uniform chartering system in place of the existing 49 separate systems in operation throughout the country, Mr. Robinson said anything that reduced the "serious competition" between State and national systems would be "good."

He agreed with previous witnesses that the capital gains tax served to build up artificial values and said he was favorably impressed with the "trade area" branch banking proposal of J. W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency, to extend branches from commercial centers to rural communities.

CAPITAL NAVY YARD WILL GET $320,000

Work Around Norfolk Calls for Appropriation of $1,680,000.

QUANTICO JOB INCLUDED

The Washington Navy yard is to get $320,000 out of a total of $4,440,000 provided for Navy Department building activities in the urgent deficiency bill agreed to yesterday by the House and Senate.

Appropriations for the Washington Navy yard include $275,000 gor extension of the sea wall, $25,000 for improvement of the power plant and $20,000 for improvement of the heating plant.

These items were added to the bill by the Senate and there was speculation as to whether the Senate amndments would b accptd by th House conferees.

The Norfolk, Va., Navy Yard was given $630,000 and the naval operating base at Hampton Roads, Va., $850,000, while the air station there was given $200,000.

An appropriation of $160,000 for the Marine Barracks at Quantico, Va., was also approved by the conferees.

Proposal by the Senate to appropriate $125,000 for extension of the laboratory building and $60,000 for the improvement of the pier at the naval research laboratory at Bellevue, D. C., was stricken out in conference.

An item of $120,000, approved by the Senate for construction and equipment of a second floor of the tuberculosis building at St. Elizabeths Hospital, also was agreed to by the conference as was another item of $75,000 for improvements to old buildings at the hospital.

Howard University got $200,000 for various improvements. This represented a reduction of $50,000 from the amount added to the bill by the Senate for the university.

DEATH TOLL IN NEW ZEALAND QUAKE AREA MOUNTS TO 125

Taranaki in Napier roadstead reported the ship was shaken violently as though by explosions aboard.

Describing the scene, S. Lewis, of Sydney, who arrived at Wellington last night, said two-story buildings came down like packs of cards. In one street, the two sides of buildings met, burying a row of taxicabs with their drivers.

Lewis said he was sitting in a car outside the postoffice of Napier. Suddenly the car was shaken violently. He leaped out to see what was wrong, but was thrown down by the plunging earth.

Looking up he saw all buildings on the opposide of the street collapsing. Then clouds of dust enveloped the whole place, as tenants rushed out screaming. Thousands rushed to the beach, at first thought the safest place. Bluff Hill, its slopes covered with houses, collapsed inward, covering the whole town with dust.

Flames, spread by broken gas pipes, orared through the town, with water mains torn apart, firemen were practically helpless. Tall buildings were dynamited to halt the spreading fire, but the explosion had little effect. The big Masonic Hotel was destroyed by fire. Every two-story brick building came down.

The postoffice and the Caledonian Hotel stood, saving the lives of hundreds who congregated in them. oOtside people lay dead in the streets and women rushed about hysterically. Buckled by the rocking ground, roads and streets were in waves.

British Sailors at Scene.

Under the leadership of British sailors rescue work was well organized at Napier before dark and help was being rushed to all the suffering communities by land and sea. Two warships, with large staffs of doctors and nurses and plentiful medical supplies, were steaming under forced draft from Auckland, and other parties were hurrying from the nearest towns.

With the coming of daylight it is expected the rescue work will be organized more thoroughly and before another day, it is hoped, that if no serious new shocks occur that the worst will be known.

The first refugee to arrive in Wellington from Hastings, one of the towns laid waste by yesterday's earthquake, said indescribable confusion had followed the disaster.

The Hawke's Bay district of the North Island, where great loss of life and immense property damage resulted from an earthquake early yesterday, is a rich agricultural district and also the center, at Waikaremoana, of one of the Dominion's largest hydroelectric developments.

Napier is the capital of the Hawke's Bay district and is 210 miles by rail northeast of Wellington. The main portion of the town stretches along the flat shoreland of Hawke's Bay, while the suburbs extend over the hills to the north.

The site consists of a picturesque peninsula and the harbor, Port Ahuriri, is sheltered by a breakwater. The Cathedral Church of St. John is one of the finest ecclesiastical buildings in New Zealand, imitating the early English style in brick.

Rich Agricultural Region.

A literary and scientific society, hospital, acclimitization society and mental hospital are among the many public institutions. The town was named after Sir Charles James Napier and sends one member to the New Zealand House of Representatives. The district is agricultural, pastoral and fruit growing, and from Napier are exported large quantities of frozen meat wool and other products.

CIVIC GROUP VIEWS CAR LINE PROBLEM

Trolley System Owner Is Speaker at Alexandria Commerce Body.

LOSSES ARE RECOUNTED

Robert L. May, owner of the trolley line between Alexandria and Washington, appeared before a special meeting of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce yesterday to acquaint that body with the situation with respect to the future of the line.

He stated that he had been notified that the present terminal of the company at Pennsylvania avenue and Twelfth streett northwest would have to be abandoned; that apparently the only place available for a new terminal would be near the Bureau of Engraving and Printing on Fourteenth street, and that in order to continue the operation of the line it would be necessary for him to spend approximately $150,000 immediately for new trackage and other facilities. Should he decide to abandon the line, however, the National Park and Planning Commission proposes to introduce a bill in Congress to reimburse him to the extent of $250,000 for the loss incurred in the abandonment of the line.

He had been unable, he said, to secure the cooperation of the Fairfax line in meeting this expense, and it seemed probable that it would be necessary to abandon th trolley line entirely. Patronage of that line, he stated, is steadily falling off, particularly since the purchase by his bus line of a number of new busses, and should he be obliged to establish a terminal on lower Fourteenth street he believes the traffic would not justify the continuation of the line.

Mr. May stated he had informed the city council that he would be willing to transform the right of way of the trolley line from the Alexandria terminal to Four Mile Run into a highway, which he estimated could be done for $10,000 a mile, but he would be prevented from doing this by the State law, which requires that such highways be open to the public and would preclude the possibility of using it for his buses alone, thus affording a direct and adequate highway into Washington.

The Chamber of Commerce decided to appoint a committee to keep in touch with the situation, particularly as to the arrangements to be made for handling the traffic during the bicentennial celebration of Washington's Birthday in 1932, and this committee will be appointed by William B. McGroarty, chairman of the transportation committee.

where they chose. This means that members of teams which have exceeded their quotas will be permitted to work in other sections. Gen. Pershing sent a message again to every worker in the Governmental unit, expressing pride that his unit had exceeded its quota of $350,000 by more than $17,000 and his belief that this unit can even exceed the new quota of $400,000. Unit reports at the luncheon at the Willard Hotel yesterday showed contributions of $153,037.62, from 14,245 givers. Group Solicitation unit reported $48,782 from 4,493 contributors; Governmental $48,619.34 from 6,265 contributors; Metropolitan, $46,830.49 from 3,175 contributors; special gifts, $4,550 from 12 contributors; schools, $4,455.79 from 300 contributors. The number of givers is over 10,000 more than were listed for the entire campaign last year, when 68,500 persons gave to the Chest.

John W. Hardell, chairman of Division 11 in the Metropolitan unit, told of several unusual gifts, among them that of a Civil War widow who, from a pension of $35 a month from the Government, insisted on making a donation of $5. Still another widow, with only a few dollars in a tincup, insisted on giving something to the Chest and the worker finally consented to take 25 cents. Another unusual gift was that of a machinist, making an average of $40 a week, who gave $185 to the Chest.

Banners were awarded yesterday as follows:

Frank E. Cunningham, clerk of the District Supreme Court; Reid S. Martin, chief clerk of the General Accounting Office; Capt. E. McKall, C. W. Handley, Mark Lansburgh, Chauncey G. Parker, jr., and Arthur Adelman.

Direct appeals to Washingtonians able to give to the Community Chest, but who have not yet contributed, were made last night on the radio by Mrs. John J. O'Connor, chairman of the information unit, over WRC, at 6:10 o'clock; by E. C. Graham, chairman of the group solicitation unit, over WOL, at 6:30, and by Right Rev. John M. McNamara over WMAL at 6:30.

Graham made a vigorous plea for a whirlwind finish to the campaign, calling upon every one to put forth the utmost effort to make it a success.

"Thousands of men and women, breadwinners for their families, are out of employment; thousands of little children, dependent upon these breadwinners, must look to the Chest for aid; orphanages must take care of more children; old persons must be sheltered and fed. All these things are the responsibility of every person in Washington, regardless of race or creed, because Chest organizations minister to all alike, regardless of race, creed or color.

"Down in the drought-stricken areas people are literally starving; stock is dying, farms are barren, and only the Red Cross offers any hope. We must take our share of this burden if we desire to continue to be known as a civilized people."

List of Large Gifts.

Gifts of $100 or more were as follows: Lincoln National Bank, $1,145.60; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Erwin, $1,300; Henry N. Brawner, jr., $1,000; Admiral Willard H. Brownson, $1,000; Equitable Life Insurance Co., $750; Southern Dairies, Inc., $500; Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. CURRENT EVENTS IN VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND

ALEXANDRIA MASS MEETING IS CALLED

Col. Clarence Deems, Jr., to Stay at High School as Military Instructor.

HORACE L. ALLEN DEAD

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

At a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last night, Lawrence Roland, president of the Alexandria citizens' committee, announced that a mass meeting of citizens will be held in the auditorium of the Elks Home at 8 o'clock Friday night to consider the situation in the Alexandria public schools. This is an aftermath of the action taken by the city school board Saturday night in rescinding its former action in which the replacement of Col. Clarence Deems, jr., military instructor of the Alexandria Corps of Cadets, has been asked.

Col. Clarence Deems, jr., whose status as professor of military science and tactics in the Alexandria High Schools was the subject of a controversy between the citizens of Alexandria and the Alexandria school board last week, which resulted in the school board reversing its former action in requesting the relief of Col. Deems, will remain as military instructor of the cadet corps, as indicated in a telegram received by Gilbert J. Cox, clerk of the school board, from the commanding general of the Third Corps Area at Baltimore. The telegram reads:

"Your telegram and letter in reference to Col. Deems received. In view of action of the school board recalling its letter of January 22, 1931, no further steps will be taken by this headquarters toward the relief of Col. Deems, who will remain as P. M. S. & T. in Alexandria High School."

The letter referred to requested information as to whether Col. Deems would remain in Alexandria, in view of the action of the board in clearing his record.

The civic development committee of the Chamber of Commerce, L. H. Dudley, chairman, has adopted a resolution providing that the matter of the present school system in Alexandria be called to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Monday night, and that the decision of the chamber be communicated to the school board.

A preliminary meeting to perfect plans for the annual observance of the international day of prayer, sponsored by the Interdenominational Missionary Federation of Alexandria, will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, to which all persons interested have been invited. The event will be in charge of Mrs. E. E. Carver and will be held February 20.

The officers of the local federation are Mrs. George T. Klipstein, president; Mrs. Louis S. Evans, vice president; Mrs. E. E. Carver, second vice president; Mrs. Tyson Janney, secretary, and Mrs. J. C. Winterwerp, intercessor. The theme is "Ye Shall Be My Witnesses."

Alexandria, Lodge, No. 758, B. P. O. Elks, launched a membership drive yesterday, which will close this week-end. The new members will be initiated at a class initiation on March 9.

The committee in charge consists of John M. Reed, chairman; J. Owen Lynch, Robert M. Colvin, Edward J. Fleming, John W. Tulloch, Elliott F. Hoffman, Leopold Ruben, Windsor Demaine, Burruss Mundy, William E. Moore, Jerome Kaufmann, Judge William P. Woolls, Dr. J. J. Garvey, Robert H. Cox, John W. Brookfield and T. Rice Groves.

The aid of the Chamber of Commerce has been asked by 50 women employes of the Blue Ridge Manufacturing Co., of Alexandria, which manufactures work shirts, to enable the company to continue operation, it being understood the establishment is threatened with a temporary close-down unless more orders are forthcoming.

The matter was taken up with the business development committee by Dan S. Hollenga, business managere of the chamber, and the latter was authorized to confer with dealers in New York and Baltimore and endeavor to arrange for orders so that the plant may maintain a year-round schedule.

This concern, it is understood, employs approximately 125 girls and women, with a pay roll of approximately $1,000 a week.

The dead line for obtaining city licenses is Saturday of this week, according to a statement issued from the office of Charles H. Callahan, commissioner of revenue. The issuing of licenses has been very slow so far, only 682 general licenses having been issued to date, 719 automobile licenses, and 125 for trucks. Last year there were 1,767 general licenses issued, 3,369 automobile and 386 truck licenses.

A report from J. B. Amorky, grocer, of 428 North Alfred street, that two geese and a rooster were stolen from a coop at his place of business Monday, brought prompt action, the missing poultry being located by Sergt. Edgar Sims, half an hour after receiving the report, at the house occupied by "Jumbo" Bryant, Negro, in Butt's court. The fowls had been dressed and were ready for the oven.

Bryant was taken into custody and charged with the theft. Willie Williams, Negro, was also arrested and is being held as a witness.

The principal feature of the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday in the George aMson Hotel was the presentation of a play, "The Independent Order of Unmarried Women," by students of the Alexandria High School.

Judge William S. Snow, president, reported on the excellent program presented by the Washington Rotary Club last week, at which he and Rotarian Alfred Thomson were guests.

Thomas Chauncey, treasurer of the Alexandria United Charities, announced yesterday a donation of 25 tons of soft coal by a citizen whose name is withheld. The coal will be distributed to the worthy poor of the city on application to the charities body.

Horace L. Allen, 33 years old, a World War veteran, died Monday night at his home, 1419 Prince street. He had returned four days before from Oteen, N. C., where he had been under treatment in the veterans' hospital. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Beulah Allen; a daughter, Miss Alice Virginia Allen, and his mother, Mrs. Elton Williams.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon by the Rev. Percy Foster Hall, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, and interment will be in Bethel Cemetery. Members of Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, of which Mr. Allen was a member, will attend.

Illness Prevents Talk On Yorktown Project

Richmond, Va., Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Illness today caused postponement of the address John Stewart Bryan, of Richmond, was to have delivered tomorrow before the Maryland Legislature on the plans of the Yorktown sesquicentennial commission.

Mr. Bryan, a member of the Virginia commission, notified Gov. Ritchie he would be unable to fill the engagement and the Maryland governor announced that a new date will be offered as soon as Mr. Bryan recovers.

BUDGET FOR FAIRFAX SCHOOLS COMPLETE

Submission to Supervisors Follows Hearing Held on Tax Levies.

NEW BUILDINGS ASKED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

A public hearing was held yesterday afternoon by the School Board and Board of Supervisors relative to the proposed tax levy in Mount Vernon district for the improvement of school facilities.

Representatives from the Potters Hill and Community League presented a petition from the league protesting the closing of the school there. They were under the impression that the School Board had recommended that a seven-orom school be erected at Franconia and the Potters Hill School be closed and the children transported to Franconia. They stated that they were not against a levy for increased school facilities in Mount Vernon district, but they were opposed to having the funds raised by such a levy and expended in one locality.

Ask for New School.

A petition was presented from residents of the Franconia community, signed by 240 citizens, asking that a new school be built there immediately and asking that a 10-cent levy be laid in the district for school improvements. It was shown that, according to the approximate assessment of that distirct made during the past year to arise the $7,500 asked by the School Board, it would be necessary to levy a special tax of not less than 20 cents on the $100 valuation. Most of the persons present at yesterday's meeting seemed to be opposed to suchc a large levy for this year. Several of those present stated that they wished to know more fully the program the School Board contemplates in regard to improvement of the school facilities in Mount Vernon district before they were willing to commit themselves in support of increased tax levy of such an amount.

Most of the persons present appeared to be more willing to submit the question to the residents of that district by having a special bond election for providing new schools in Mount Vernon district.

The school budget for the next school year was completed yesterday afternoon at a joint session of the supervisors and the school board, which ended three days of consideration. The budget, as completed, was submitted to the board of supervisors for their approval.

It was estimated that the receipts and balances for next year would amount to $228,591.26, this including the State appropriation of $63,144.08, special district levies and trust funds. The probable disbursements for the 1931-32 school year were estimated for administration, which includes the expenses of the school board, salary of clerk, local superintendent, secretary of the board, office supplies and other miscellaneous expenses at $5,919.92. The instruction costs, which include the salary of teachers, supervisors, vocational training, music instructors and substitute teachers, were estimated at $130,290. This item shows an increase because of the policy adopted last year by the board of basing the salary of the teacher upon her teaching certificate, experience and enrollment in the grade taught.

Other Instruction Costs.

Other instruction costs, which includes free textbooks, maps, globes and charts, vocational and laboratory equipment and supplies, $1,125. For coordinate activities, which includes the dental clinic, $500. Auxiliary agencies, transportation by contract, which includes railroad, car fares, private buses, wages of drivers, county-owned buses, repair and upkeep of buses, liability insurance, tuition paid to other divisions, tuition to Falls Church and cost of trucks, $23,880.

The cost of operating the school plants was estimated at $14,600, for the next year. The fixed charges, which include rent, insurance, treasurer's commission and employes compensation law, $8,704.75. The maintenance of school buildings, repair of buildings, upkeep of grounds, repair of furniture and other expenses, $10,600. The capital outlay for building a school for colored pupils at Floris, $7,300, and part payment on literary loan bonds for the towns of Fairfax and Herndon, $1,310.

The total estimated county school expenses are $204,229.67. This will leave a balance of $24,361.59 to care for expenses from July 1, 1932 until school starts the next fall, when it is expected the State appropriation will be available to carry on until the county taxes are available.

District Levies Fixed.

According to the estimate of the school board in regard to the special levies in the six magisterial districts of the county for the special district funds a 20-cent levy on the $100 valuation will be laid in Dranesville and Falls Church districts and a 10-cent levy in Providence district. In each of the three districts a 5-cent levy will be made to provide for sinking funds for indebtedness. The receipts and balances from the previous year in Dranesville district will amount to $4,261.25, and the total disbursements for the district fund will be $3,860. This will include payment on literary bonds, interest and the bond issue.

In Falls Church district the receipts and balances from the previous year will amount to $8,263.73 with disbursements for literary bonds, interest and bond issue payments, amounting to $4,000.15.

In Providence district the receipts and balances from the previous year will amount to $6,914.85 with estimated disbursements for literary bonds, interest and bond issue payments amounting to $5,652.73. The school board asked the board of supervisors to lay a levy in Centerville district which will raise $1,500, Lee district $3,000 and Mount Vernon district $7,500. This levy, if approved by the supervisors, will be the first special district school levy in the three districts and will be used only for capital outlay or the erection of new school buildings. The total disbursements contemplated from the new school buildings. The total disbursements contemplated from the special funds will amount to $25,512.88 with a balance of $5,926.94 on hand at the close of the year.

According to the figures prepared by the school board the disbursements for 1931-32 school year from the six districts will amount to $234,330.69. Compared with the receipts and disbursements other than districts and towns for 1930-31 the budget as submitted to the supervisors for 1931-32 shows a reduction of approximately $12,000.

The Fairfax County Teachers Association will meet this evening in the auditorium of the Franklin Sherman School, at McLean. Miss Adele Pfalzgraf and Miss Jennie Tomko, of the association's program committee, have arranged for a series of entertainment numbers. The teachers will consider a revision of the present requirements for the honor roll.

The regular monthly meeting of the Fairfax County supervisors will be held today in the Fairfax Courthouse. Following the business meeting the supervsiors plan to complete the budget for county expenditures for the ensuing fiscal year. On completion of the budget it will be advertised locally for 30 days. At the end of that time a public hearing will be held to affard the txapayers of the county an opportunity to voice their opinions for or against any item included in the budget before it is finally adopted.

The Woman's Guild of the St. Paul's Episcopal Chapel at Bailey's crossroad will hold its meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Irvin Payne.

The Oakton School and Community League will hold its meeting this evening in te auditorium of the Oakton School. They plan to take action on the project of finishing the rooms underneath the school stage as dressing rooms.

The Woodlawn Gavel Club will hold its meeting this evening in the Odd Fellows Hall at Accotink.

The Senior School League of the Bailey's Crossroad School will sponsor a dance in the schoolhouse this evening to raise money for the music fund.

HATCHET NOT BURIED IN DANVILLE STRIKE

Dispute Over Who Won or Lost Rages, but Few Find Mill Jobs.

RED CROSS GIVES RELIEF

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Feb. 3.—The dispute over who and by what means the textile strike was won or lost continued here today, with the union members no nearer its solution but with few of them taken into the mill fold.

On the preceding days the mill management continued to reinstate men or women who went out on strike and for whom vacancies could be found without deliberately discharging strikebreakers.

Against the water-tight denial of H. R. Fitzgerald, mill president, that there has been no sort of negotiations with the mills looking to the ending of the strike, Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers, issued a statement in New York saying that the strike had been ended by a "good friend on both sides," both disputants agreeing to keep his identity secret. Mr. McMahon indicated also that the hatchet is not entirely buried, declaring that the union still stood on its declaration that the mill management was discriminating against union membership.

The "friend" referred to by Mr. McMahon is believed to be H. M. Morgan, coal mine operator of Virginia, who came to the strike scene. Dr. Carroll Flippen, of the University of Virginia, mentioned also in connection with the strike's termination, said in a telegram received today: "Morgan promises to publicly confirm my press statement unqualifiedly and to say to union men in Danville that he asked my personal opinion about discharge of so-called strikebreakers and I expressed personal opinion that the mills would do no such thing."

Relief work in the mill village by the Red Cross was under way today, being restricted at present to nursing service.

ARLINGTON WOMEN TO BEAUTIFY ROAD

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Meeting last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Fuller Hayes, the Neighborhood Garden Club voted to take over one mile of State highway for planting and general beautification, in preparation for the bicentennial celebration in 1932.

In taking this action, it is said this is the first organization in northern Virginia to adopt plans advocated by J. P. Neal, landscape engineer of the Virginia State Highway Department recently.

The plan to be carried out was suggested by the program committee, of which Mrs. Frank L. Ball is chairman. The plan provides for taking over one mile along Glebe road, southward from the Lee highway to Wilson boulevard. Working under the direction of the landscape engineer, the club will plant shrubbery from sources near the highway right of way, filling in cuts and other places now without vegation. The club will also undertake the job of ridding the right of way of the signboards and other unsightly structures.

Last month 240 deeds were recorded in the county clerk's office, the monthly report reveals. The tax to the State amounted to $474.98.

Other items in the report are: Wills and administrations, 4, State tax, $15; chancery suits, 24, tax, $36; actions at law, 15, tax, $21. Fines collected for violation of the prohibition laws amounted to $170, costs totaling $152; fines in cases other than prohibition were $65.25, costs amounting to $50.

Delinquent eral estate tax collections for the State treasurer amounted to $52.26. The amount collected for the county treasury was $469.33.

County Engineer C. L. Kinnier goes to Lexington, Va., today to attend the sixth annual highway conference. Supervisors B. M. Hedrick and Edwarl Duncan, and State Senator Frank L. Ball will go to the conference tomorrow. Seneator Ball is to speak there tomorrow night.

Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth has received a copy of the order of the State Corporation Commission making operative the new rates of the Rosslyn Gas Co.

The order sets Monday, April 6, as the date for a public hearing at Richmond on the petition of the Public Utility Commission of Arlington County for lower rates than those now to apply.

In ordering approval of the schedule as outlined by the gas company, the Corporation Commission says that it is given "without prejudice to the hearing on the said petition of the Utility Commission of Arlington County, and shall not be considered a final determination on the merits of the reasonableness of the charges and rates thereby put into effect."

G. O. Basham, an attorney associated in the case with Mr. Gloth, and Maj. Calvin I. Kephart, valuation engineer, are preparing a case in behalf of the gas users of Arlington County that the rates may be of more benefit to the average gas user.

The Arlington County Monarch Club will meet at 12 o'clock tomorrow in the Ashton Heights Woman's clubhouse. Final arrangements for a benefit card party to be given on the evening of February 13 will be completed.

A benefit card party, the proceeds of which will go to the Arlington County Chapter American Red Cross for the drought relief fund will be given tomorrow night under the auspices of the auxiliary of the Bon Air Utility Association in the community house. Mrs. Edward C. Bockhaus, president, is general chairman.

The Floral Circle of Mary Washington Chapter, No. 50, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clarence Simmons. Mrs. Jennie Lee Smith will act as cohostess.

Divorce suits were filed in the county clerk's office yesterday by Anita Brandon against Alexander Brandon and for Nellie M. Gabrilletto, by her "next friend," Rebecca Carter, against William G. Gabrilletto.

The Arlington Rotary Club will meet at 12:30 tomorrow at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

Survey being completed and the roadway staked off, relocating of Rucker avenue where it connects with Courthouse road also being completed, Engineer Kinnier announced work on the project will be started in a few days.

RED CROSS COUNTY CHAIRMEN CHOSEN

ROAD EXTENSION URGED

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post.
9103 Conn. ave., North Chevy Chase, Md.
Telephone Wisconsin 4205

Committee chairmen for the collection of Montgomery County's quota of the American Red Cross drought relief fund of 10,000,000 were announced last night by F. Barnard Welsh, general chairman of the campaign committee.

Mr. Welsh and other members of the committee which collected $18,000 for the Laytonsville tornado relief fund have been asked by the Montgomery County Chapter of the Red Cross to undertake the raising of $3,600 for Montgomery County's quota. Other members of the general committee include George M. Hunter, president of the Montgomery County National Bank at Rockville, who has been named treasurer; George Sacks, State Senator Robert G. Hilton, Fred Thomas, Frank B. Severance, who is chairman of the disaster relief committee of the local Red Cross; John Janney, Capt. Chester Wells, Frank M. Downey, Frank L. Hewitt and Douglas Riggs.

The county has been divided into small districts and quotas set for each district lwth chairmen for each district. Under the direction of Mr. Hewitt, the Silver Spring district has been taken over by the Silver Spring Lions Club, with Mrs. Howell Forsyth and Mrs. Frank Myer as subchairmen. A subchairman for Takoma Park will be named by Mr. Hewitt.

The Chevy Chase district is being handled by Capt. Wells, assisted by James Cunningham Rogers. Workers of this district will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. Roger J Whiteford, 101 Leland street, to plan for the conduct of the campaign in Chevy Chase.

The Bethesda district is being organized by Mr. Sacks who has named a large corps of woman assistants. He also will name subchairmen for Battery Park, Edgemoor, Drummond, Kenwood, Alta Vista, Chevy Chase Gardens and Friendship Heights.

In a statement issued last night, Mr. Welsh declared he is confident that Montgomery County can raise its $3,600 quota by Saturday night and has set that date for the end of the drive. Pointing to the splendid showing made by the committee in the Laytonsville relief drive, he expressed full confidence that an oversubscription will be registered by Saturday night.

Following are the chairmen for the various districts:

Damascus, A. R. Souder; Laytonsville, Guy Riordan; Woodfield, E. D. Hawkins; Etchison, Ernest Hawkins; Olney, Frank M. Downey; Sandy Spring, John Janney; Brookeville, Mrs. James Brown; Burtonsville, Snowden Athey; Hyattstown, Russell Murphy; Clarksburg, Mrs. Minnie Wire; Barnesville, Mrs. Lawrence H. Price; Dickerson, Lloyd Jones; Boyds, Mrs. Amy Pollock; Germantown, A. R. Selby; Dawsonville, Mrs. Robert Allnutt; Poolesville, Harry M. Williams; Beallsville, Mrs. George Staub; Darnestown, Hatton Waters; Travilah, Preston L. Snyder; Potomac, Mrs. W. A. Myers; Cabin John, Mrs. Juanita Frank; Glen Echo, Mrs. Berlin G. Brann, chairman of the county chapter; Rockville, George M. Hunter; Gaithersburg, Frank B. Severance; Washington Grove, Robert Palmer; Colesville, County Commissioner Lacy Shaw; Garrett Park, Richard H. Akers; Kensington, the Rev. Fred A. Kullmar.

Several sub chairmen remain to be named and they will be announced today, according to Mr. Welsh.

A delegation of 22 residents from the Potomac, Seneca and Poolesville districts appeared before the Montgomery County commissioners yesterday and presented a petition asking that Old River Road route extending from the end of the concrete highway near Potomac toward White's Ferry, a distance of 15 miles, be improved.

William F. Prettyman, Rockville attorney, spoke for the group. The citizens have been active for several weeks in behalf of the new road and pointed out that the improvement of this route would intersect with a Virginia highway planned from Martinsburg down the valley to the river.

Mrs. Charles Lane, of Kensington Heights, was named to represent the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs on the county almshouse committee, at the request of the organization. Following the meeting, the commissioners were the guests of Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners and chairman of the Democratic State central committee for Montgomery County, at a luncheon in the Olney Inn.

Killer of Husband To Serve 10 Years

Mrs. Essie C. Smith Recalls Motion to Have Jury Verdict Set Aside.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 3.—Mrs. Essie C. Smith, convicted of the killing of her husband, John Alexander Smith on November 7, this afternoon withdrew her motion to have the corporation court jury verdict set aside and her attorneys announced to Judge Archibald D. Dabney that she was ready to begin her sentence of ten years in the penitentiary.

The announcement was made by Homan W. Walsh, who, with Lyttleton W. Waddell and Stephen D. Timberlake, represented the accused at the three-day trial which ended when the jury found her guilty last Friday.

Judge Dabney imposed the sentence today before a packed courtroom. Asked if she had any statement to make, the woman made no reply.

DO-X, Hit by Wave, Delayed on Flight

Plane's Trip to Brazil May Be Held Up 15 Days for Repairs.

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—The giant German seaplane DO-X lay at Gando Bay near here tonight while mechanics attempted to repair damage suffered when a big wave struck the ship as she was taxiing for a takeoff this morning.

Experts here believed it would be at least 15 days before the plane could resume the flight to Porta Praia, Cape Verde Islands, the second leg of a projected journey to Brazil.

The part damaged was the under structure, severely battered by a gigantic wave. One report indicated another complication through the faulty functioning of two of the 12 motors. Capt. Friedrich Christiansen attempted to taxi from Gando Bay to Las Palmas today but after a short cruise over the rough waters he decided to return to Gando Bay.

WHY THE KNOCK

A Gulf Refining Company official talks about No-Nox Ethyl.

"The manufacturers of motor cars have found that the higher the compression the better the performance. To increase compression the motor builder reduces the size of the combustion chamber. The principle of high compression may be demonstrated with a rubber ball—the harder you throw it to the ground, the higher it bounces; or take the old-fashion muzzle loading shot gun, the tighter the powder is tamped the greater the force of the shot. In the motor the tighter the piston squeezes or compresses the charge of fuel before firing, the greater will be the power from the explosion.

And here's where No-Nox Ethyl steps into the breach. The tendency of ordinary gasoline to "knock" limited the compression. By mixing Ethyl compound with No-Nox the knock is stopped, "knocked out."

For many years Charles F. Kittering, president of General Motors Research Laboratories, and his associates endeavored to perfect an anti-knock compound and their labors were finally crowned with success when they found that tetraethyl lead would do the trick.

About one teaspoon of "Ethyl" fluid to one gallon of No-Nox Motor Fuel gives an ideal anti-knock gasoline, which eliminates knocks, gives added power on hills, faster pick-up and a cooler running motor. The reason for this is the fact that "Ethyl" fluid controls the combustion rate of gasoline—keeps it from burning too quickly as the compression is raised.

Your motor was designed to deliver a certain number of revolutions per minute—fuel knocks reduce these revolutions (r.p.m.'s), the motor becomes sluggish—slows down. With the proper (r.p.m.'s) revolutions per minute of your motor more power is generated and with it greater mileage with a much less strain on the motor, as well as the car generally.

Vibration in the motor is a deadly enemy to car performance—it is communicated to the frame and thence to the body with the resultant loosening of nuts and bolts. No-Nox Ethyl minimizes vibration and thereby reduces deterioration.

Consistent users of No-Nox Ethyl over a period of a year or more will find the general condition of car and motor to be very satisfactory. Gulf Service Stations are now dispensing No-Nox Ethyl.

"I might also say," he continued, "that starting is troublesome on cold winter mornings or even when the weather has a pleasant snap. A gasoline of low end point, like No-Nox Ethyl for instance, vaporizes more quickly and completely making starting easy."—Adv.

RITES FOR H. A. KITE TO BE AT RESIDENCE

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL

Harry A. Kite, prominent Washington real estate operator and president of the firm of Harry A. Kite, Inc., 1019 Fifteenth street northwest, died yesterday following an acute heart attack at his home, 2220 Wyoming avenue northwest. He was 49 years old.

Mr. Kite had been under the care of his personal physician, Dr. Roy Lyman Sexton, and a heart specialist, Dr. Thomas S. Lee, since Wednesday, January 21, when he was stricken with a heart attack while at work.

A native of Stanley, Va., Mr. Kite came to this city in his early youth. He rose rapidly to prominence in the building field, and as president of the company which bears his name, became widely known as a developer of real estate properties throughout the Northwest and Northeast sections of the District. Among numerous apartment houses erected by his company is Kew Gardens, 2700 Q street northwest. His building projects also included several hundred private dwellings.

Besides his real estate activities, Mr. Kite was also active in a number of other enterprises. He was at one time president of the Mortgage Bond & Guaranty Corporation, and formerly served as treasurer of the Peoples Life Insurance Co.

Mr. Kite was a graduate of Roanoke College, Salem, Va. He was an ardent sportsman, and until warned of heart disease several years ago held active memberships in the Burning Tree Club, the Congressional Country Club, the Blue Ridge Rod and Gun Club, and the Racquet Club. He was also a thirty-second degree Scottish Rite Mason and a member of Osiris Lodge, No. 26.

In 1911 Mr. Kite married Miss Claire Wright, daughter of Judge Daniel Thew Wright. He is survived by his widow, two sons, Paul C. Kite and Harry A. Kite, jr.; a daughter, Nancy Claire Kite; his mother, Mrs. Laura Kite; a brother, Lloyd Kite, and two sisters, Mrs. Austin Bricker and Mrs. Charlotte Kerrick. His mother, brother and sisters live in Stanley, Va.

Funeral services will be tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at his late residence, with the Rev. Charles T. Warner, of St. Alban's Church, officiating. Interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Woman Seeks $50,000 For Auto-Crash Hurts

Isa May Redwine, of 2606 Mozart place northwest, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to recover $50,000 from Clarence E. Knox, of 1121 Fifth street northeast; Lewis Stanley Wetmore, of 1019 Eighth street northwest, and the Independent Taxi Operators Association.

The woman, through Attorneys Harry T. Whelan, William B. O'Connell and Louis L. Whitestone, tells the court she was injured in a collision between a cab and another automobile. All defendants are alleged to have been at fault. The woman complains that she was in another automobile and that the other defendants did not keep a proper lookout.

Reichstag Opens Without Incident

Government's Budget May Be Pared to Bone During Session.

Berlin, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—This first day of the new eight-week session of the German Reichstag passed without incident while the members concerned themselves entirely with routine matters. The great day will come on Thursday when Chancellor Bruening begins the budget debate.

He already has assured the Volks party, which insists upon further large cuts in government expenses, that he and the finance minister will examine the budget once more with that end in view.

On Saturday the new rules of procedure probably will stir up some lively debate, and next Tuesday Foreign Minister Curtius is to report on his negotiations at Geneva.

The budget, which cuts government expenditures to the bone, probably will be the most important issue at this session and the various parties are divided in their stand.

Aguirre Will Lecture On Mexican Education

Senor Enrique C. Aguirre, former member of the faculty of the National University of Mexico, and director of recreation of the federal district of Mexico, will speak in Stockton Hall, George Washington University, tomorrow night on "The Educational Program in Mexico."

Senor Aguirre is lecturing in the United States under the auspices of the committee on cultural relations with Latin America. A graduate of the Springfield Y. M. C. A., he has held responsible positions in Mexico, Cuba and the United States. For a time he was on the faculty of the Ludlow (Mass.) High School.

CITY HEADS APPROVE CENTER COMMITTEE

MONEY SOON AVAILABLE

Plans of Maj. John C. Gotwals to organize a permanent working committee within his department to supervise the erection of the Municipal Center were approved yesterday by the District Commissioners. The chief purpose of the group, which will be subdivided, is to see that all work on the huge project is properly coordinated and hence done with the maximum efficiency and least cost.

Maj. Gotwals will be chairman of the committee, while his colleagues will be Maj. H. L. Robb, assistant engineer commissioner; Albert L. Harris, municipal architect; Capt. Hugh P. Oram, assistant engineer commissioner, and several architectural consultants who are employed especially on the project.

Among the subcommittees to be designated will be those which deal with architectural form, materials, foundations and space and occupancy. Others may be named as needed.

The present District appropriations bill contains approximately $1,500,000 for the Municipal Center. As it will be made immediately available, work will begin on the project as soon as the measure has the President's signature. An authorization of $6,000,000 for the first unit, the courts building, will enable the District government to let the contract this spring.

Maj. Gotwals said that no time would be lost in getting started on the project as soon as the money is on hand. The municipal architect's office is already equipped with the necessary extra staff to push through the construction plans.

The Commissioners yesterday also accepted the offer of Cora M. Hunt to sell lot 26, square 533, in the Municipal Center area for $14,535. Approximately 70 per cent of tract is now owned by the District.

Girl, 6, Seriously Hurt When Struck by Auto

Seriously injured when she was struck by an automobile at Fourth and East Capitol streets, Margaret Yinger, 6 years old, of Fourth street southeast near East Capitol street, was treated yesterday at Casualty Hospital for a fractured leg, a broken clavicle, a possible fractured skull and several lacerations.

The car, which hit the child, police said, was operated by Thomas E. America, of E street southeast near Seventh street. Witnesses told police that the girl ran in front of the machine and that America was unable to avoid striking her. He was not held.

A cold does 3 things

"Pape's" stops them all

A cold always affects you in at least three ways. Air passages are inflamed and irritated. Perspiration is checked. Bowels are clogged with acid wastes from the mucous discharge. So doctors say you must do three things to be rid of a cold.

Pape's Cold Compound does all three! It reduces inflammation and swelling of the mucous membrane; it induces perspiration; opens the bowels. Chew one of these pleasant tablets and see how quickly nasal discharge stops; head clears; breathing becomes easy. See how that achy, feverish, weak feeling disappears. And "Pape's" doesn't stop with killing cold germs. It activates bowels and removes germs and acid wastes from the system. All drug stores—35c. Just remember "Pape's."

Mrs. Crutcher Says $11,000 Was Forced on Her in Divorce Action.

THREE ARE DEFENDANTS

Richmond, Va., Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Mrs. Nellie Rudd Crutcher, of Drakesbranch, told a jury in law and equity court here today why she is asking $100,000 damages from Cameron Dunlop, Charlotte County tobacconist; Mrs. Dallas J. Pettus, of Drakesbranch; her daughter, Miss Dorothy Pettus, of Richmond, for alienation of the affections of her husband, Willie Crutcher.

Nearly 100 witnesses have been summoned for the case, trial of which is expected to require most of this week.

On the stand today Mrs. Crutcher charged that the three defendants were in conspiracy to take her husband from her and that their activities had shattered her domestic bliss and brought about her divorce. She testified that she accepted a cash settlement of $11,000 at the time of her divorce because "it was forced on me."

The plaintiff told of frequent social functions at the Pettus home, of the influence she said Dunlop, who was his partner in business, exerted over Willie Crutcher; of the act of her husband in providing a horse which Miss Pettus rode on week-ends, and of other actions which she said had contributed to the breaking up of her home. She also told of a rift between herself and Mr. Dunlop which resulted in her not being invited on outings when her husband was going with the others.

Boy, 5, Hurt by Auto.

Struck by an auto as he stepped from a car-loading platform at Twenty-fifth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest yesterday, 5-year-old Joseph Courtney suffered lacerations to the face. He was treated at Emergency Hospital and then sent to his home at 1616 Riggs place northwest. The driver, according to police, was John R. Coder, 18, of Riggs place near Sixteenth street northwest.

DRIVING 1,945 AUTOMOBILES 21,000,000 MILES

That's a Real Test For Any Gasoline and Motor Oil

IF all gasolines and motor oils were as high quality as "Standard," it wouldn't make any difference what kind you used: they'd all give you maximum results. But they aren't and they don't. The quality has to be proved and "Standard" does it with actual operating road tests—21,000,000 miles of them in one year.

Those 21,000,000 miles last year showed the power in ESSO, the Giant Power Fuel. They showed the excellence of "Standard" Gasoline; the extraordinary lubricating qualities of "Standard" Motor Oil. They stood the test in 371 passenger cars and 1,574 trucks—"Standard" vehicles driven daily over good roads, bad roads and no roads at all.

And those 21,000,000 miles proved the economy of using "Standard" Products. Costs were carefully watched. Miles per gallon checked. Engines were taken down and inspected. "Standard" Products proved themselves again. And their popularity with the public (they're two-to-one favorites) showed that motorists everywhere have found them right, too.

In the interests of your own pocketbook and the pleasure a smooth-running motor gives you, you can't ignore the results of the "Standard" 21,000,000 mile test. Stop at the nearest "Standard" service station or dealer's today and ask the operator to "fill 'er up!"

"STANDARD" MEN ARE SAFE DRIVERS
because they obey the rule "Be Careful—Be Considerate"

Fifty careful miles every day is the average for each "Standard" vehicle. Here are a few records, selected at random, of the men who drive for "Standard":

W. W. Weaver, Norfolk, Va., 20 years without a single accident.

NO COMPROMISE.

President Hoover's statement in opposition to the Federal dole is before the people. It expresses the American spirit of self-help and self-reliance, which is at work throughout the country in hundreds of voluntary forms, relieving distress whether it arises from drought or unemployment.

The avoidance of recrimination in Mr. Hoover's statement emphasizes the strength of his position as opposed to the Democratic-insurgent demand for a Federal dole. He puts an end to Democratic hopes of a "compromise" in the shape of a surrender of principle on his part. The Democrats of the Senate are now worried, as they hear from the country, and are trying to save their faces by suggesting reduced appropriations, loans, and other artifices which would still tend to destroy the Red Cross and place American citizens upon a Treasury dole. Senator Harrison, for example, seemed to breathe conciliation and compromise, but his idea of compromise was to have President Hoover surrender to the Senate. The President's statement is a sufficient reply.

The dilemma of the Senate coalition is now clearly evident. It can not escape utter defeat on the dole proposition at this session without forcing an extra session, which would in turn, bring down country-wide condemnation. When the Democratic conference voted to adopt the slogan, "the dole or an extra session," it laid a trap for itself and not for the administration. It antagonized the country and the House, and the President's statement reveals that the threat has no effect upon him. He will not join the Senate in broaching the Treasury for the sake of avoiding an extra session.

The public accepts at face value the assurance by Mr. Hoover that the Red Cross and other volunteer agencies of relief are able to handle the situation without an appropriation from Congress. Increased contributions to the Red Cross may be anticipated as a result of his statement. The people are now informed that a Federal appropriation will not be substituted for Red Cross contributions. If additional funds are needed in the drought regions, it is up to the people to send money to the Red Cross as called for.

The House of Representatives as guardian of the Treasury has already beaten back the Senate, and will continue to do so. No compromise, in the form of a reduced dole, will be accepted by the House. Senate Democrats must find some other way in which to extricate themselves from the net of their own weaving. The best way out for them is to acknowledge that they blundered when they threatened an extra session; that the assurance of the President of the United States of the ability of the Red Cross to handle the situation is satisfactory to them; and that they hasten to abandon the attempt to set up a Federal dole, so that public contributions to the Red Cross shall no longer be discouraged.

This course would be patriotic, nonpartisan, and in harmony with Senator Robinson's assurance last November that he would cooperate with the administration in measures for the public welfare. Acknowledgment of a blunder is embarrassing, and small men usually do not have the moral courage to make it; but this acknowledgment, if made at once by Senate Democrats, will save them from greater embarrassment and chagrin later on. If they persist in their course, and force an extra session in the vain attempt to set up a Federal dole, no confessions or apologies hereafter will save their party.

WHY OIL WANTS A TARIFF.

The Bureau of Mines reports that the stock of petroleum stored in the United States on January 1 was as follows:

	Barrels.
Crude oil	506,447,000
Refined oils	159,423,000
Total	665,870,000

A demand is made by the oil interests for a specific import duty of $1 per barrel upon crude oil, and an additional ad valorem duty of 50 cents per barrel upon refined oils.

This would increase the value of domestic crude and refined oils by $1,000,000,000. The price of gasoline would shoot up as a consequence of the increased price of oil. Every automobile owner in the United States would be required to pay his part of the $1,000,000,000 contributed to the oil interests.

It is claimed by the so-called "independent" producers that the great oil companies are hammering down prices by importing oil from abroad. The big oil concerns are supposed to be objecting to an oil tariff. But the fact is that not one of them objects to an increase of $1,000,000,000 in the price of their domestic oil. They dare not advocate an import duty upon oil on account of the opposition that would develop from the instant they showed their hand. They permit the "little fellows" to demand an import duty.

Somewhere there is a limit to the quantity of petroleum in the United States. The oil imported from abroad helps to conserve the American supply and postpone the time when Americans will be dependent upon foreigners for their automobile gasoline. The foreign governments which control the outside oil fields would be delighted to see the United States put a tariff duty upon foreign oil and thus hasten the exhaustion of American fields. Then those governments would have the United States by the throat. The United States Navy would be dependent upon the British government for fuel with which to operate naval vessels.

No one is fooled by this oil tariff agitation except the small oil producers who are acting as catspaws for the big oil concerns. The American consumer, which means every citizen using an automobile, will not hand over $1,000,000,000 as a gift to the oil interests.

A $10,000 JOB FOR CRAMTON.

The rumor persists that Louis C. Cramton, a congressional lame duck, is to be rewarded by a job with the Washington Bicentennial Commission at $10,000 a year. No appropriation has been made for the job, but it is reported that the money will be taken from the lump fund allotted to the commission for the purpose of honoring the memory of George Washington.

It would be better to call off the bicentennial ceremonies than to have them accompanied by a scandal over the proper disbursement of funds. If the celebration in honor of Washington can not be held without taint it should be abandoned.

Mr. Cramton's initiative in extorting from the taxpayers of Washington excessive sums for the upkeep of the District government has made him obnoxious to the people of the National Capital. He has dealt unfairly with them while in a position of authority. They can not be expected to applaud his appointment to an office in which he would come in contact with them. If he were offered a place in the Philippines or Guam at $10,000 a year their objections would be less pronounced.

The Bicentennial Commission should not deliberately incur criticism by making a $10,000 job for any lame duck in Congress. The commission has no right to expend its funds in that manner. Let the political debts of the administration be paid out of some other fund than that which has been set aside to do honor to George Washington.

PAY OF VETERANS.

Proposals for immediate payment of veterans' certificates have been widely discussed before congressional committees and by the public. More than 50 measures have been offered for consideration, but none of them has proved to be satisfactory.

Gen. Hines, veterans' administrator, made an excellent summary of the situation yesterday before the Senate finance committee. Most of the plans that have been advanced would derange the finances of the Government, and those which would not put an unwarranted burden upon the Treasury would provide inadequate relief and tend to encourage veterans to fritter away their investment. Gen. Hines, therefore, concluded that the wisest policy is to press for more liberal allowances for the disabled, the widows and orphans. It would be a pity, he said, to have public opinion turn against relief legislation for the disabled because of an unwise act of Congress on the question of adjusted compensation.

Payment of the face value of the bonus certificates is out of the question. Treasury officials have indicated that they would be unable to market $3,400,000,000 in bonds at this time, and there is a preponderance of evidence to show that such a move would have an adverse effect upon business. The country can not afford to double the bonus, which would be the effect of paying the face value of the certificates at this time.

Various proposals to pay the present value of the certificates are unsatisfactory from the standpoint of both the Government and the veterans. From $1,000,000,000 to $2,700,000,000 would have to be raised, and veterans would be tempted to surrender their endowment policies for a fraction of their ultimate worth. This plan is so unsatisfactory that it would probably entail further legislation, giving veterans the balance payable under their certificates.

To increase the loan value of policies would be unsound from an actuarial standpoint, according to Gen. Hines. Since most veterans in need have already borrowed heavily upon their certificates an extension of the loan value would not give adequate relief.

Any feasible legislation on the subject would jeopardize the interests of a large majority of veterans for the benefit of the minority who are out of work. These certificates represent the only investment and insurance of about 80 per cent of all veterans. To sacrifice this insurance is too great a price to ask from the rank and file of former service men. It means future poverty for their families.

On the other hand, veterans who are out of work have better chances of relief than other citizens. In addition to the regular channels of social service they may look to veterans' organizations. The Government is preparing to extend its services to the disabled. In view of the fact that the Government has spent $5,459,000,000 in veterans' relief it can not be accused of niggardliness.

If Congress should decide that no effective relief can be given without disrupting the national finances it will still be acting in the interests of the veterans. Veterans can not seriously demand payment of these certificates, if that would dissipate their insurance and carry the country deeper into depression. They are citizens, first of all, and the financial stability of their Government is their first concern, since without that stability there can be no return to prosperity, and no chance to obtain jobs.

OBSTRUCTING THE AVENUE.

The Commissioners propose to bar taxicabs from F and G streets at certain periods of the day in the interest of relieving street congestion. Possibly, the situation being what it is in these streets, there is no alternative to the drastic plan. Meanwhile, however, District officials seemingly have manifested no concern over the blocking of Pennsylvania avenue at Fifteenth street by a contractor engaged in demolishing buildings. Piles of stacked brick not only preclude parking in a large part of the block, but also diminish the area available for vehicular movement. Pennsylvania avenue is one of the busiest and most congested streets in the city. It should not be obstructed by wreckers advertising second-hand bricks for sale.

EUGENE MEYER'S NOMINATION.

The examination of Eugene Meyer before a subcommittee of the Senate banking and currency committee has become such a farce that even senators have expressed their disgust. Mr. Meyer's nomination to be governor of the Federal Reserve Board was reported favorably to the Senate last week, but Senator Brookhart complained that he had not had a chance to examine the nominee, and special hearings were held for his benefit. The senator has grossly abused the privilege extended to him, and has worn the patience of members of the subcommittee to the breaking point.

Mr. Meyer is entirely justified in refusing to answer preposterous questions which have nothing to do with his work or with his qualifications for this office. It is a pity that the committee did not call a halt to the Iowa senator's irrelevant attacks after the first act. But the committee is attempting to forestall complaints on the floor of the Senate that the examination has not been complete.

When the senator from Iowa has had ample opportunity to make himself ridiculous perhaps the committee will report the nomination. In the meantime it becomes more and more difficult for the President to induce capable men to run the gantlet of senatorial bigotry and malice.

CHINA GOING RED?

Authorities on the subject are generally agreed that China is at a crucial point in its history. The government's forces are now engaged in a campaign against the communist hordes which have infested the country since the beginning of civil war last year. A large percentage of the population in some provinces is near the point of starvation. Many of the people have turned to communism and banditry. The red organizations, directed from Moscow, have obtained a strong foothold and it will be a tremendous task to uproot them.

In a dispatch from Shanghai Prof. Paul Monroe, of Columbia University, says:

> Unless something constructive is done soon China will dissolve into a mass of communistic excesses. * * * The one thing that will prevent this is a strong central government with a constructive program, which is impossible unless the militaristic factions are eliminated and the armies demobilizied.

China has millions of men under arms, but demobilization is impossible until some other means of providing employment for these soldiers is available. To demobilize under present conditions would be to strengthen the communists.

Prof. Monroe proposes a scheme to convert German reparations and allied debt payments into a loan to China. There is no reason why war debts should be confused with this question. The most practical means of saving China seems to be an international loan furnished by the great commercial powers of the world. Failure of the great powers to assist China in her struggle to throw off communism might prove to be one of the most disastrous mistakes of history.

RAILWAY TAXES.

Railway taxes in 1930, says the Railway Age, are estimated at $356,000,000, a reduction of $46,000,000, or of 11 per cent, below the peak 1929 total of $402,000,000. This reduction was principally due, of course, to the fact that Federal taxes are income taxes, and fall as income falls. This 11 per cent reduction in taxes, however, was accompanied by a drop of 16 per cent in railway gross revenues, so relatively the railways' tax burden was the heaviest which they have ever borne.

Taxes in 1930 took 6.6 cents out of every dollar of revenue received by the steam lines. The corresponding proportion paid in 1929 was 6.3 cents, and the peak, prior to 1930, was 6.4 cents, paid in 1928. Tracing the growth of railway taxation back by decades the proportion of railway revenues consumed by taxes amounted to 4.4 per cent in 1920, 3.5 per cent in 1910, 3 per cent in 1900 and 2.8 per cent in 1890. It is a far cry from this figure to the 6.6 per cent paid in 1930.

Taxes in 1930 took approximately 26 per cent of net revenue. In other words, on the average, more than one-quarter of the entire railroad network of the United States was operated for the sole benefit of the tax collector.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I'M NO MILLINER.

Some men encountering women fair
Can see the brilliants in their hair
And note their gowns and later tell
If they became them very well,
Or were they pink or gray or blue
Or beige or any other hue.
But I have never learned to care
Or notice what the ladies wear.

To save my life I can't recall
Were Mabel's earrings large or small,
Or later dare to make a guess
Concerning Jennie's hat or dress.
I never by a woman stand
To count the jewels on her hand,
Or look some lovely lady o'er
And think: "I've seen that gown before!"

How oft to me has Nellie said:
"In all the years that we've been wed
Not once have you remarked upon
The hat or gown that I had on,
Or raised your eyes above your book
To say: 'My dear, how nice you look!'
Women wear beautiful attire
For men to notice and admire."

Last night as she came tripping down
I thought to speak about her gown.
"My dear," I said, "I like your dress.
It adds unto your loveliness.
In all my life I've never seen
So beautiful a shade of green."
"Good heavens!" she cried, in accents cold,
"This thing is nearly two years old!"

A Good Executive Doesn't Do Work He Can Train Subordinates to Do.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MAN is little more than a bundle of habits done up in a skin. That is a simple truth known to everybody, yet comparatively few people take advantage of it.

The power of habit is something that can be harnessed. It can be trained to work for you, to think for you in time of crisis, and perhaps to save your neck and your reputation when some emergency catches you off-guard.

Harnessing the power of habit is a simple business of doing the same thing again and again until you can do it while your thoughts are busy elsewhere.

The first time you tied a bow tie, each movement required a conscious effort. Now you tie one as well while your mind is attending to other matters. You bathe and shave and dress without once being aware of what you are doing. The mind you control—the mind you use to direct every conscious act—may be concentrated on some sorrow or pleasure and so completely occupied that it can serve you in no other way. Yet your morning toilet is made as usual, and you find yourself ready for the street without knowing how it happened.

Habit dressed you. Your subconscious mind, trained by long habit, came to the rescue when your conscious mind quit giving directions and guided you through the established routine.

In short, you have a well-trained servant capable of taking charge when your wits desert you.

You didn't do the training intentionally, but you can do as much of it as you wish. By the simple process of doing a thing many times, you can train your subconscious mind to superintend the doing without waiting for orders.

When your car must be stopped or turned quickly to avoid collision, your habit-trained subconscious mind gives directions. If your hands and feet could make no move until your conscious mind gave commands, as it did while you were learning to drive, you would react about three seconds too late.

The power of habit is your one safeguard in time of trouble, and you are overlooking your best friend if you don't develop it to serve you.

PRO AND CON

Democrats, Beware!

New York World (Dem.).

The Democratic party is playing with dynamite. In the last week its leaders in Congress have placed it in the position where it can properly be charged with an irresponsible willingness to raid the public treasury. If the party does not extricate itself promptly from this position, if it sponsors the soldiers' bonus and the dole, if in fighting for these measures it forces an extra session and identifies itself with inflation and subsidy, it will have achieved the miracle of reestablishing the morale of the Republican party.

The present drift of policy among the Democrats in Washington is sentimental, greedy and unprincipled. Unprincipled, because there is no principle so fundamental to historic Democracy as opposition to the substitution of Federal for private and local action. Greedy, because the prime mover behind proposals like the one to distribute cash to veterans is a desire to buy the votes of veterans. Sentimental, because the proposal to use Federal money for so many different kinds of relief is put forward by men who believe or pretend to believe that relief will not be furnished by the sound method of local effort plus private contribution.

The only way forward for the Democrats is to retreat from the folly into which they have blundered.

Kansas Democracy.

Topeka Capital.

Senator McGill was quoted by a Washington reporter the other day on the Democratic presidential nomination in 1932: "I am confident a wet candidate will not be nominated. I am also sure there will be no repeal plank in the next Democratic platform. Our party will be as dry as the Republican." Maybe he believes it all. And, for that matter, a Democratic senator has a right to desire to be reelected in Kansas.

People Stand With Hoover.

Houston Post-Dispatch.

Political forecasters in Washington are predicting that the next Congress will give President Hoover plenty of trouble, since he will not have a majority in either house that can be counted on to do his will.

It might be forecast, also, that the President will give the next Congress plenty of trouble, and in this connection, it may be well to recall, that in the fighting between the executive and the legislative house, particularly the Senate, during the last two months, the President stands first in public approval.

When Mr. Hoover went into office he voiced lofty ideals regarding mutual respect of the legislative and executive branches of the Government, but he had not long worn the "hair shirt" the Senate wove for him, before he realized that, in the opinion of many senators, the chief end in life of a senator is to put the President in a hole. From then on he decided to fight the devil with fire. He knows what to expect from the new Congress. With both sides having their eyes on 1932, a merry battle is assured.

Compendium of Blah.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

There is in this country a daily publication which last year ran up a printing bill of $758,693, carried no advertising and had only 520 paying subscribers, from each of whom it received $1.50 a month. Despite these indications of insolvency, this journal does not contemplate bankruptcy, for it is the Congressional Record, all of whose bills are obligingly footed by the taxpayers.

Originally the Record was what its name implied—a verbatim account of debates in Congress, for the guidance of its members and for preservation in permanent form. Now it has become a dumping ground for every sort of document, whether of general interest or not, designed to flatter the vanity of members, to curry favor with their constituents or to bolster up pet bills.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

As Billboards Go, Wayside Footpaths Should Come, for Comfort and Safety.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The power of public opinion is well shown in the case of the antibillboards movement. As a result of this movement, which, it should be remembered, once had the active support of only a beauty-loving enthusiast here and there, the fight to free the highway approaches of the National Capital from unsightly advertisements is not in vain.

Touring motorists and, in fact, motorists of every kind, owe a great debt of gratitude to the public-spirited men and women who for many years, beginning before the day of the automobile, have agitated against billboards. Certainly it is not possible to estimate the worth in dollars of what they have done; that is, if beauty is to be a part of life.

There are other things, such as ramshackle outbuildings, wayside dumps, hideous hot-dog stands, &c., which also are objectionable. No doubt they will be eliminated in the course of time.

I should like also to call attention to the lack of footpaths along our highways. Without them pedestrians are always in danger. Of the 32,000 persons killed by automobiles last year a large portion were highway pedestrians. The careful motorist does not enjoy the beauty of the countryside quite as freely as he would if not constantly confronted with the risk of running over and killing pedestrians.

Let me add that highways without footpaths are lacking from the esthetic viewpoint. Our mental picture of country thoroughfares is apt to be idealized by wayside paths. In the nature-loving mind the wayside path is a highly prized feature of rural life. Its charm is embalmed in literature and art.

In the name of highway beauty, therefore, as well as for traffic safety, it is to be hoped that the highway sidewalks movement will grow in strength and be as successful as the anitbillboard movement bids fair to be.

F. P. ANDERSON.

Democratic Veteran Gives Up Hope of Another Democratic President Because of Raskob and Senate Democrats' Blunders.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am a Democratic veteran, and as such have become used to taking a hopeful view of things political under all conditions, and only a short time back I was dreaming that next year I might see my third Democratic President elected.

At that time you could espy some trace of intelligent leadership in the Democratic party, and there was some indication that, by abstaining from booze as its sole issue, it might win back the votes it lost in 1928.

This, taken in combination with resentment against the Republicans on account of hard times, made a shining outlook.

Today, however, I am writing in a regular Democratic nightmare, and gone is my dream of a successor to Cleveland and Wilson in the White House in 1933.

The ill-considered Democratic campaign management in 1928 was about the limit. But the situation now looks likely to be twice as bad.

In the first place, Raskob is on the job—just as wringing wet as ever—just as incompetent to get in touch with public sentiment outside his little old New York bailiwick. When to this Smith-Raskob handicap we add the incubus of Federal paternalism in its rawest shape, as advocated by Democratic leaders in the Senate, is it any wonder if I give up the hope that another Democratic President will be elected in my time?

Police Radio Butts in On WRC. Listeners-in Get Police Alarms and Jazz Mixed.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Will you permit me to call to your attention something that of late has practically ruined all of the joyful evenings I had listening to our radio.

Of course, you know that Station WPDW (the police radio) is located at No. 10 Precinct. I live in the 700 block of Otis place, about two blocks from the station, in a direct line. Since the installation and operation of WPDW I have not been able to get a program of WRC without hearing WPDW, if both stations are broadcasting at the same time. I can not explain this, as our radio has always given us excellent service (it is a Bosch) and I don't believe WRC and WPDW operate on the same number of kilocycles; so why should our programs be spoiled by mixed stations?

We have an old crystal set upstairs, with headphones, and since the operating of WPDW no other program can be obtained. Can anything be done to remedy this trouble? I would like suggestions from readers of The Post.

Nye Committee Throwing Away Public Money—No Right to Interfere With Elections.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read with much interest your editorial, "Why Nye Lives High." It is about time for the public to realize that this senator is throwing away public money right and left, and all for no good purpose.

What is the real purpose of this Nye investigating committee? Does it mean that all nominees for the Senate will sooner or later have to get the approval of the Nye committee on the amount they expend before they will, if elected, be admitted to the Senate?

The elections are held for the purpose of sending to the Senate the people's choice. With the Nye committee going into the different States to supervise or interfere with primaries, the committee naturally becomes a factor in deciding the results of the general election, which should be decided by the people and not by any senatorial committee.

LEAGUE SECRETARY LAUDS BRIAND PLAN

TARIFF WALL DISCUSSED

New York, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Sir Eric Drummond, permanent first secretary general of the League of Nations, arrived from Havana on the steamship Oriente today with an official tour of Latin-American capitals behind him. He was scheduled to sail on the Roma at midnight for Geneva.

Sir Eric said his commission found an enthusiastic welcome in South and Central America, but ran into a great deal of ignorance about the League of Nations.

"People seemed to have the idea the league wanted to interfere with domestic questions, which is, of course, completely outside the league's interests," he said.

He discounted the theory held in some quarters that Premier Briand's proposed confederation of European states would result in world tariff difficulties.

"Any state has the right to attend the meetings of the committee on closer European cooperation," he said, "and any State who thinks its interests would be adversely affected may offer objection to the committee's work. The object is to develop economic relations between European states and whatever result that might be obtained would have no effect outside of Europe.

"At present Europe has many high-tariff walls in a small territory and they work a hindrance to trade, much as tariffs between States of the United States would hinder trade."

Arkansas Senate Gives Borah Vote of Thanks

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 3 (A.P.).—The 100 per cent Democratic State Senate of Arkansas today, by resolution, unanimously extended its thanks to Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, for joining "with our delegation in Congress from Arkansas in their efforts to relieve the suffering in our Southern States."

"We extend to Senator Borah our most sincere vote of thanks and commendation for his act of statesmanship," the resolution said.

Recovery Is Seen By Bank Visitor

Bottom Touched on Dec. 20, Says Stephenson at White House.

That the business depression touched bottom about December 20 and that there should be a "very substantial recovery" by the end of the year, Rome C. Stephenson, president of the American Bankers Association, gave as his opinion here yesterday.

The belief that business is once mor eon the upgrade was expressed by Stephenson shortly after he had called at the White House, accompanied by F. N. Shepherd, executive manager of the American Bankers Association, to pay his respects to President Hoover.

At the recent meeting of the American Institute of Bankers at Shreveport, La., said Stephenson, the consensus among bankers from all over the country aws that trade conditions are slowly improving "in every nook and corner."

Road to Hoover's Camp Planned as Drought Aid

(Associated Press.)

The National Park Service plans to build a 20-mile road from near President Hoover's camp on the Rapidan to Panorama, on the Blue Ridge divide in the Shenandoah national park area.

Gov. Pollard and Senators Glass and Swanson, of Virginia, urged the construction, Secretary Wilbur said yesterday, as a means of relieving drought sufferers in the Shenandoah Valley by providing jobs. The road would provide an optional route for President Hoover in traveling between his camp and Washington.

GEN. BUTLER IS DUE IN CAPITAL TODAY

between Fifteenth street and Madison place.

The charges and specifications against Gen. Butler were whipped into final form yesterday and probably will be served on the fighting Marine while he is here today.

No intimation as to the nature of these charges has come from the Navy Department as yet, but there seems to be no doubt that, as a result of President Hoover's intervention in the case, they will be much less harsh than they otherwise might have been.

The charges have been drawn up by Rear Admiral David F. Sellers, judge advocate of the Navy. Yesterday Admiral Sellers conferred at length with Capt. William C. Watts, of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, who will be the prosecutor in the case.

There were rumors yesterday that the court-martial might be called off altogether. It was even rumored that the Italian Embassy had urged that the trial be abandoned and the "incident" brought to a close, but Secretary Adams made it clear that these rumors were without foundation.

To call off the trial now, it is argued, would be to nullify the apology that Secretary of State Stimson sent to Mussolini. It would be like saying, officials pointed out, that the American Government didn't mean to apologize after all.

The rumors probably arose from the fact that the White House is being bombarded with letters and petitions urging thta Gen. Butler be exonerated or be dealt with lightly, and from the further fact that public sentiment now seems to be largely favorable to Butler.

A large number of Americans now regard Gen. Butler as a martyr. They feel that somebody in authority was out to "get" him, and simply used the Mussolini incident as an excuse.

Even influential newspapers have changed their attitude. The Philadelphia Inquirer, for example, at first came out with an editorial indorsing the action taken against the man who once tried to clean up the City of Brotherly Love. On Monday, however, the Inquirer took the position that a court-martial was entirely unnecessary; that a reprimand [illegible]

LENNART TO MEET NO MORE PROTESTS

COUPLE TO BE WEALTHY

Stockholm, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—King Gustave will place no further definite obstacles in the way of the marriage of his young grandson, Prince Lennart to the daughter of an industrialist commoner, it was reported unofficially from the palace today.

Regardless of the monarch's disapproval, which would mean for the prince the loss of right of ascension to the throne, Lennart has gone ahead with plans to marry the pretty 20-year-old Karin Nessvandt.

Meanwhile the king's objections were held to be based solely upon a desire to preserve the dynasty, the extinction of which he is said to regard as against the country's welfare.

Another development today was that the 21-year-old prince will not become a pauper if he marries his childhood sweetheart. He declared that the Bavarian estate at Mainau, which was owned by his grandmother, the late Queen Victoria of Sweden, will be his.

As for his title he says he does not care. He does not know whether he will be known as Prince Bernadotte, like his granduncle who married outside the royal circle, or as a count or as just Herr Lennart Wilhelmson.

Mal Daugherty Pleads Not Guilty to Charges

Washington Courthouse, Ohio, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Mal S. Daugherty, former president of the now defunct Ohio State Bank here, pleaded not guilty today before Judge Charles Bell to the sixteen indictments charging him with mishandling of the bank's funds.

The trial, which is set to open Thursday, probably will be continued until the first of next week.

28 TURKISH BODIES SWING AS WARNING

7 Other Moslems Rejoice as Sentences Are Commuted in Holy War Plot.

THRONGS VISIT GIBBETS

Menemen, Turkey, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—The bodies of 28 Turkish Moslem reactionaries swung from gibbets in the cold Balkan wind today in a storm warning from the republic that the days of the caliphate have passed forever.

Singly, and in some cases by groups, the condemned men, convicted of leading an abortive revolutionary movement here December 23, were led at dawn from their cells to the gallows, where gypsy hangmen, western caps oddly topping baggy Turkish trousers and scarlet sashes, swung them aloft.

Because of the martial law which has been in effect since the revolt, citizens were kept in their homes until 8 a. m., and there were almost no witnesses to the executions beyond a few officials. An occasional scream could be heard from women peeping from behind shuttered windows, however, and with the advance of day, shuddering crowds passed the gruesome scene.

Perhaps the only cheerful place in Menemen today was the prison, where seven persons rejoiced because their sentences were commuted at the last moment from death to 24 years imprisonment. These were all over 65 or under 20 years of age. One of these was an 18-year-old shepherd boy who, when asked why he prayed continually, replied that he was thanking the soul of his dead mother for not having brought him into the world two years earlier.

$19,114 FUND ASKED TO SETTLE CLAIMS

WOMAN TO GET $5,000

Appropriation of $19,114.18 was asked of Congress yesterday by the District Commissioners to provide for payment of claims settled by them under authority of the law authorizing settlement of claims by the Commissioners.

Claims for which Congress was asked to provide money ranged from $6.25 to $5,000, the maximum amount which the Commissioners may award under the claims settlement act.

The $5,000 claim was approved for Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Roney, whose husband was killed when struck by a police automobile after alighting from a street car at Connecticut avenue and Livingston street northwets last October 14.

The Washington Gas Light Co. was given $14.27 to repay it for damages resulting in a collision between a company truck and a District truck. The Capital Traction Co. was given $158.85 because a District employe cut through one of the car company's power cables, causing a short circuit.

The list of awards for which appropriations were asked follows:

James Brannin and Grace G. Brannin, $426.66; John W. Barnes, $149.14; the Fleischmann Co., $2,916.95; Charles Hugin, $114.54; Agatha G. Smith, $897.25; Thomas Eagan and Maurice D. Rosenberg, surviving trustees, the Biltmore Association, $2,624.80; Edwin C. Dinwiddie, $115.20; Caleb Powers, $162.50; Helena G. Edminston, $82; John M. Kloss, $3,000; Arthur Cowsill, $250; Mrs. C. F. Lytton, $238; Mrs. Margaret Oliver, $100; Mrs. Arthur Atwood, $400; Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Roney, $5,000; Edward Volland, $10; Leon M. Rose, $6.25; Thomas E. America, $27; M. F. Coughlin, $25.25; Capital Traction Co., $158.85; Goodloe & Shumate, $400; Washington Gas Light Co., $14.27; Louise Hand Laundry, $10; Jerome Ferguson, $46; Edward Buckley, $171.70; J. L. Ball, $15.19; R. L. Miller, $174.45; L. D. Bushong, $18.50, and James M. Ganley, $1,589.68.

CANNON OVERRULED IN FIGHT TO PREVENT CHURCH HEARING

has since had a notorious bankruptcy, which will be thoroughly ventilated. There are other matters of a more serious nature, it said, which will also be presented to the investigating committee. The public is not unfamiliar with the basis for these charges.

As this is the first time that a Methodist bishop in the Southern church has ever had to face charges of a moral nature, the investigation of them is being carried on with all the dignity and majesty of a great impeachment trial, with this exception: The case is being heard behind closed doors, and policemen are stationed inside and outside of the church to keep all visitors from getting inside of the courtroom. If a devout Methodist should go to that church to pray while this investigation is in progress he could not get in for that purpose, unless the minister of the church brought him in and knelt beside him while he prayed.

Bishop Ainsworth is presiding. Associated with him but not on the bench are Bishops U. V. W. Darlington, of West Virginia, and Bishop W. F. McMurry, of Missouri, who are acting purely in an advisory capacity.

Decide Law Questions.

On questions of law, these three bishops go into a huddle and talk over the matter and then reach a decision, which is announced by Bishop Ainsworth, as the president of the court. The responsibility of the administration of the case, however, is Bishop Ainsworth's alone.

Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon, of Charlotte, N. C., who was to sit with Bishop Ainsworth in this case, did not come and Bishop McMurry took his place.

There are rumors from the courtroom that the battle over the legality of the hearing was a titanic contest. This is the first time, probably, that a defendant has been allowed to appear before an investigating committee and represent himself. Bishop Cannon is doing that.

All day long he seemed to dominate the investigation, with his objections and with his arguments in favor of the points he made. No longer the frail, sick, weak, decrepit invalid, he stood erect, his eye cold and calm, his demeanor quiet and placid, his spirit unruffled, no matter was charges were brought against him or what sharp word was spoken by his accusers.

Those who have known Bishop Cannon for a generation or longer are aware that in every ordeal his self-mastery is almost perfect. It is said of him that he never loses his poise, nor is ever at a loss for a ready word. His back is now to the wall, and this probably is his last fight.

PrPettyman Is Courageous.

Opposed to him is another Marylander, Dr. Prettyman. Frail, gentle looking, rather nervous in his manner, with the face of a poet and a dreamer, he is the last man in the world one would pick for the tack he has taken upon his shoulders. But he has one virtue without which no man can lead a movement such as is involved in this epochal case—supreme courage.

Bishop Ainsworth, whether by consultation with the other bishops or of his own desire, selected the twelve men who are sitting on this case. They are every one past middle age, except one or two, and not one of tehm was a member of the Dallas General Conference. So, officially, they have had no direct contact with the Cannon case before.

An injunction of secrecy has been placed on every member of the court, and not one of them will admit he is on the court. Not even the bishops will admit that they are here investigating the Cannon case. They the none of them registered by name in the Hamilton Hotel, where they are all staying. The manager of that hostelry told a reporter last night that he did not know one of them by name; that a certain number of suites of rooms had been engaged in the name of the Southern Methodist Church, and that he gave out the keys in a lot and they were distributed to those who are occupying the rooms.

Stamp Ads for Cotton.

London, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—To stimulate Britain's ailing cotton industry a special postage stamp advertising the Lancashire mills is being urged. A special cancellation mark with the slogan "Buy Lancashire cotton goods" also is suggested.

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire, and keep bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

MILL WORKER BENEFITED

Picked Up After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Towanda, Pa.—"I was working in a silk mill and got so tired and rundown that I weighed only 89 pounds. I was not well enough to do my work. As soon as I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to pick up. After being married for thirteen years, I had a baby boy and the next year I had another boy who now weighs 37 pounds and is healthy as a bear. The Vegetable Compound has helped me in a dozen ways and I hope others will try it too."—Mrs. C. B. Johnson, Webb Street, R. D. #6, Towanda, Pennsylvania.

NERVOUS AND RUN-DOWN ... SLEEPLESS

EDWIN J. SHAFFER

Allentown, Pa.—"A few years ago I became nervous and rundown, slept poorly and my appetite failed, which caused me to lose weight. I knew I needed a tonic and builder. My wife and her folks have always been users of Dr. Pierce's medicines and she persuaded me to try Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery. A few bottles fixed me up wonderfully well, in fact I noticed that I began to feel better after the first bottle and now am feeling splendid, thanks to Dr. Pierce."—Edwin J. Shaffer, 228 North Penn. Asks: What Is ACNE?
Big Ugly PIMPLES

Yes! That's the simple answer, but Acne is more than just a big pimple—better to call it a big stubborn pimple. That's why you must fight this obstinate skin disease with somethnig powerful enough to kill it and swiftly get the unsightly thing off the skin.

So we advise all who are so unfortunate as to have Acne to get rid of it at once and for all by using Emerald Oil, a powerful, healing, antiseptic oil that no case of Acne, Pimples or Eczema can withstand.

And those itchy toes that get raw and sore—the germs that cause it are killed by Emerald Oil. Don't waste time with weak washes—Emerald Oil is guaranteed by Peoples Drug Stores and druggists everywhere to rid you of stubborn unsightly skin troubles or money back—an 85 cent bottle lasts 2 weeks.—Adv.

McCormick Rite To Be in Church

Wife of Rear Admiral Had Been Active in Religious and Navy Work.

Funeral services for Mrs. Edith Abbott McCormick, 58 years old, wife of Rear Admiral A. M. Dupuy McCormick, who died Monday night at her home, 1805 Phelps place northwest, will be held tomorrow morning in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church. The Rev. C. Ernest Smith, rector of the church, will officiate, assisted by Capt. Sydney K. Evans, chief of the Chaplains Corps, United States Navy.

Mrs. McCormick was a native of Boston, Mass., and had been a resident of Washington since 1923. She was a member of the Colonial Dames of America, the Army and Navy Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Lloyd Williams Post of the American Legion Auxiliary of Berryville, Va. She had long been active in church and Navy welfare work, and was at one time a member of the board of managers of the Navy Relief Society.

Besides her husband, Mrs. McCormick is survived by a son, Lieut. Comdr. Lynde D. McCormick, and three daughters, Mrs. John R. Beardall, wife of Commander Beardall; Mrs. Morris R. Clark, of Santa Barbara, Calif., and Miss Ellen Jett McCormick, a student at the Holton-Arms school.

Florida Sport Trip Planned By Rineharts

Will Essay Angling in Forest Region of Pirates' Cove.

WHEN gifted folk a-fishing go they display a flair for places picturesque and when the Rineharts—Dr. Stanley M. and the clever Mary Roberts Rinehart—set out on expedition their trail generally leads to some spot of alluring name. Now it is Pirates' Cove, Fla., beckoning and within a fortnight Dr. and Mrs. Rinehart will leave for the South, drawn by the magnet of fish and forest and the zoom of the ocean. Dr. Rinehart returned on Monday from New York and Mrs. Rinehart will arrive tomorrow, both having gone up for a flying visit with their three sons, Stanley M. Rinehart, jr., Alan Rinehart and Ringgold Rinehart.

The problem before the family, asserts Dr. Rinehart, is how to get from Pirates' Cove to the West Coast when the unhappy day arrives which marks the end of angling and "roughing it" to return to civilization and a well ordered existence. This means luxurious cruising on their cabin boat which, unless plans go awry, will precede them into southern waters and lie at anchor while the Rineharts adopt the role of anglers.

The call of Florida, like that of the West, inspires each winter attention from the Rineharts, who always pass some time in the South. In summer, as everybody knows, they hie into the West, where Wyoming's spaces offer all to be desired in the way of outdoor freedom and relief from reading and 'riting and 'rithmetic.

The three R's well may be the equivalent, also, of three gifted Rineharts. Mrs. Rinehart's latest publication, now running serially, will be printed in book form in the spring by the company of which her son is a member. Not to be outdone by his mother Alan already has found favor in the realm of the reading public, having a play or two to his credit and various magazine articles, his latest venture for further acclaim including an article in a current publication.

Mrs. John L. Cable, wife of Representative Cable, of Ohio, and Mr. Cable's sister, Mrs. Ethel C. McCabe, will sail this morning on the President Roosevelt for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Orme Exnicios are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter. This is their second child. The eldest one, Joan, is about 4 years old.

Mrs. Exnicios, before her marriage, was Miss Eleanor Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheeler.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Garrison McClintock are sojourning at the St. Moritz in New York.

Italian Air Attache To Sail to Marry.

The Air Attache of the Italian Embassy, Commander Paoli Sbernadori, will sail for Italy on Tuesday, February 17, to be married. The engagement of Commander Sbernadori and Signorina Magda Belingardi has not been announced in Washington, but it is understood that the ceremony will take place at the bride-elect's home in Turin shortly after the arrival of Commander Sbernadori. They will come to Washington early in April to make their home during the commander's period of duty here.

Mrs. John Adams Davis, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Lincoln for a month, has returned to her home in Great Neck, Long Island.

War Secretary Dinner Host To President

Guests From Southwest Are Invited to Meet Hoovers.

The President and Mrs. Hoover were the guests last night of the Secretary of War and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, the dinner marking the fourth in the series of Cabinet functions honoring the Chief Executive and First Lady. The Vice President gave a dinner earlier in the season, the Speaker of the House and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth entertaining at their house on Massachusetts avenue and the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, also giving a dinner in January for the President and Mrs. Hoover.

The Southwest, scene of a thousand adventures and focal point of hard-fought political battles, marched to the front lines last night, furnishing a distinguished coterie of guests to pay tribute to the President and Mrs. Hoover. They included Mr. and Mrs. Amon Carter, of Fort Worth, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. James Smitherman, of Shreveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cromwell, of Muskogee, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Phillips, of Bartlesville, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. John Nichlos, of Chickasaw, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Otis McClintock, Mr. and Mrs. George Bole and Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Morgan, of Tulsa, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. John Lovejoy and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Strauss, of New York.

The Naval Attaches of the embassies and legations entertained at dinner last evening at the Carlton in honor of the retiring Naval Attache of Spain, Capt. Jose Iglesias y Abelaira. The company numbered sixteen guests.

Col. and Mrs. S. M. de Loffre, who have been spending the past six weeks in Washington, have gone South for a short visit before sailing February 17 for Europe, where they will travel extensively.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bowie Chipman entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Wesley Henderson, whose marriage took place recently in London.

Dr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sawyer have issued cards for an at home on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Sawyer before her recent marriage was Miss Blanche Wingo, daughter of Representative Effiegene Wingo.

Mrs. Andrews Hostess Tomorrow to Dames.

Mrs. Minnigerode Andrews will be hostess tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at her studios in Fairfax County to the Alexandria committee of the Colonial Dames. Mrs. Rose Gouveneur Hoes will speak on the accomplishments of the committees working for the success of the bicentennial celebration. Tea will follow the program and at the tables will be Mrs. Virginia Bell, Mrs. Eliphalet Frazer Andrews and Mrs. Edgar Nye.

Mr. Nye's landscape sketches of the George Washington country will be on view. The Alexandria committee includes:

Mrs. Mauchlin Nivin, Mrs. William Boothe, Mrs. Gardner Lloyd Boothe, Mrs. Gardner Lloyd Boothe, jr., Mrs. William Bruce Morton, Mrs. C. A. S. Sinclair, Mrs. E. F. Mitchell, Mrs. Hugh McGuire, Miss Helen Cummings, Mrs. C. Ellett Cabell, Mrs. Louis Scott, Mrs. Albert Smoot, Mrs. Thomas Cochran, Mrs. Wallace Lawrence, Mrs. Frederick Duvall, Mrs. Hubert Snowden, Miss Edith Snowden, Mrs. Emmett Dunn, Mrs. Henry Wattles, Miss Fanny Burke, Mrs. Richard Hammett, Mrs. Berryman Greene, of Alexandria, and Mrs. Eleanor Seldon Washington Howard, Mrs. Louis Storrow Green, Mrs. William Channing Johnson, Mrs. Horace Smithy, of Washington.

At the wedding of Miss Mary Paschall Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Davis, of New York, and Mr. John Clarkson Potter, of New York and Southampton, Long Island, on February 28, Mr. Craig Wylie, of Washington, will be one of the eight ushers chosen for the event, which will take place in St. George's Church, Stuyvesant Square, New York.

After the ceremony there will be a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davis, 59 East Seventy-ninth street.

Edward de S. Melcher will address the drama group of the District of Columbia League of American Pen Women on Friday at 8 o'clock on "The Current Trend of Stage and Screen." Following this, Helen Orr Watson will read a play entitled, "The House and the Garden," and Marguerite Wolfe will read "The Amazing Adventure." Both plays were written by Estelle M. Moses, president of the District League. Mr. M. K. Armstrong, who has arranged this program to be given in the league's studio in Stoneleigh Court, has given members the privilege of inviting guests.

Army Officer To Wed Girl Of St. Louis

Miss Mary Hanlon Is Engaged to Lieut. Christian.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hull Hanlon, of St. Louis, Mo., announce the engagement of their sister, Miss Mary Edith Hanlon, to Lieut. Warren Wilson Christian, U. S. Army.

Miss Hanlon is the daughter of the late William W. Hanlon, of St. Louis. She is a graduate of the Ward-Belmont School, Nashville, Tenn., and the Washington University in St. Louis.

Lieut. Christian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Christian, jr., of 2649 Connecticut avenue, Washington, and was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in the class of 1921. He is now stationed with the Twelfth Infantry at Fort Washington, Md. The wedding will take place in March.

Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Schallen will have as their guest for the remainder of the winter, their niece, Miss Mary Virginia Bowles, of Los Angeles, who will arrive on Tuesday. Miss Bowles spent her school days in Washington and returned last winter for a week's visit in the home of her aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Sophocles Papas, guitarist and pianist, will give a musical program at the Arts Club tomorrow evening. Mrs. Papas' solo group will include piano compositions of Chopin, John Ireland and Dohnanyi. Mr. Papas will talk on the development of the guitar. In the course of his talk he will play the lute, an instrument now almost obsolete. Mr. and Mrs. Papas will also serve as the hosts of the evening.

Col. Thomas Hall will entertain a company of 26 at dinner tomorrow evening in the empire room of the Shoreham Hotel.

Despite the belief of officials of the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks that the artificial freezing of the Lincoln Memorial Pool for ice skating is impractical, the special Board of Trade committee is going forward with its experiment atop the District Building.

The water in a metal basin had been frozen yesterday. George J. Adams, chairman of the committee, is keeping an hourly tabulation of the effect of the sun's rays on the ice surface throughout the day. The apparatus will be maintained for a month or more, he said.

YOUR NAME WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph.D.

The family name "Swain" "also spelled "Swaine") is of Scandinavian and English origin. It originally meant "the swineherd," but later took on the more general meanings of "herdsman," "servant," "man," and "young man." A certain Robertus Swaynne is mentioned in an English document of the year 1379. "Swain" has frequently been confused with "Swan."

The family name "Swan" (also spelled "Swann" and "Swanne") is generally a corruption of "Swain," and therefore means "the swineherd" or "the servant." However, there is evidence that sometimes "Swan" is to be taken literally. In such cases it frequently means "he who lives at the sign of the swan." It will be recalled that in early days it was a frequent practice to display the image or picture of an animal before private dwellings, as well as before inns and taverns, as a means of identification. Finally, this name was sometimes given as a nickname to persons who raised or sold swans. The family name "Swanherd," which means "the keeper of swans," reminds us that swans were a favorite food in early days, roast swan being considered a great delicacy. A certain Goeffrey Swan is mentioned in the Hundred Rolls, and a Simon le Swan is mentioned in an English record of the year 1307. A document of the year 1300 bears the name of William le Swonherde.

The family name "Swanson" is generally a variation of "Swainson" and therefore means "the son of the swineherd" or "the son of the servant." A certain Alicia Swayneson is mentioned in a fourteenth century list of English names. Other fourteenth century documents mention a Matilda Swanson and an Agnes Swanson. Occasionally "Swanson" has the literal meaning of "the son of Swan."

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

Paris, February 3.

THE French Colonial Exposition which will open in Paris at the Bois des Vincennes in May, is having a decided influence, as such things always do, on style. But in this instance, unlike most fads of this description which sweep the style world, there is some intrinsic value to the designs and fabrics that are produced in the various French colonies. A variety of curious and exotic, as well as beautiful, things are being presented by the Haute Couture, such as the Arabian burnous, interpreted as a lounging robe for beach wear, and wide Moorish stripes also for beach wear, and the Oriental extravagance in color is another result of the forthcoming exposition.

Hats made of the strangest substances, such as wood, coconut fiber, metal and paper substances, while they seem to be on the fantastic side, are actually very beautiful and more or less practical. Agnes makes paper beach hats, for instance, which keep their shape and shade one's complexion the while they are very lightweight and cool on the head. The wood and aluminum, which is the metal most commonly used, is handled by being shaven down into extremely fine strips and then woven or crocheted into bonnets.

Expositions of this kind very often lead to extremes and fads which last no more than a season, but I see no reason why the products of the French colonies should not be permanently adopted for their specific uses in women's clothing.

What do you need for your home? A fancy drape made of monk's cloth and stenciled with colored crayons in a certain way? A couch cover to match? A fireplace pillow that is both decorative and useful? A dressing table or buffet that closes up with the greatest ease into merely a decorative chest? A hassock for feet or to sit on, or a couch or wardrobe made of packing cases? All these and more do we tell you how to make out of absolutely NOTHING, my dear—in this week's leaflet, entitled "The Bachelor Girl's Studio." Send that stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this most helpful and interesting leaflet, because Dare is positive that you will find something helpful in it that you exactly need for that house of yours!

For just the right kind of an affair or place, afternoon dresses for spring and summer developed in flowered voiles are simply delightful. I find them more original and flattering even than printed chiffon, certainly they lend themselves to a certain type of dress more readily. A dress like I designed for you today, for instance, which I am having made for myself in pale peach voile—for informal dinners in my own home, even in the city, for afternoons in the country, for evening dances in the country, for that extra week-end dress that might fit into so many different types of affairs, I know it is going to be one of my favorite dresses! Like it?

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

WE REMEMBER.

Dear Frances McDonald: If you have as good a memory as I picture you to have, you will recall the letter I wrote you two years ago asking your advice as to leaving my husband. Well, I stayed with him as you told me to and am I glad! Say, I would have been the biggest fool on earth to have left, and put my dear little boy in an orphans' home. As I told you he "confessed" to me that he had done everything. Well, I guess he had. But he was sorry and is a man who has to learn by experience. There are such kind, nine out of ten. They are only boys grown up. Men seem to me like automobiles. What I mean is, a car is a car; each one has its defects and each one its good qualities, and each one a little of both, but not one has all the defects or all the good points. I still held a kind of, not a grudge, but a feeling against him in a way I just can't explain, until this summer on my way home from Europe. On the beautiful big boat Bremen I talked to a lovely old lawyer from South Dakota and a young man from New York City. The lawyer was a Swede, the other a Russian. I can't go into details here but what they told me was enough and in short was this—"Something terrible would happen to me to bring me to my senses." I thought of my boy. You know the innocent must suffer for the guilty. So I stepped off that boat at New York resolved to be a different woman and say, what wonders it works. Just goes to show you about these cars. What you put into them you get out of them. The poor boy lost 10 pounds and missed me dreadfully. All the neighbors told me how homesick and sad he was till I came home.

I was gone eight weeks with my father and sister. The next time I go, my hubby will be with me and the boy along. So tell that worried bride, whose brand-new husband kisses the neighbors to remember that the man who does these things can truly love his wife and probably don't ever think of doing a single really wrong thing. And don't nag, please, for everything will all come right some time, if it's ten years from now.

MRS. M. R. K.

My dear girl, it may often sound like laxity when we caution wives against hasty action when legally they might have grounds for divorce. But there are things in life that only life can teach and one of them is that there are very few angels prowling around this world. And another is that not every divorced woman is made happy by divorce. If divorce wiped out all memory, turned back time in its flight, miraculously provided paternal love for small sons and solved the problem of heartache, then we would be strong for divorce in large doses. But we know both sides of the picture. And besides we read in a very good book that even just men fell seven times a day. And that seems to leave some hope for a husband who falls once.

Glad you are happy. You deserve to be. Not just because you followed our advice—which is generally terrible—but because you were big enough to see your problem through. Most of us fail because we are so petty. Did you know that?

The above hand at Auction Bridge would be played by South at one No Trump.

At Contract Bridge South would bid two No Trumps and North three. The margin for North's three-bid would be very close, but a five-card suit headed by an Ace is sufficient to jump partner's two No Trumps to three. If it were only a four-card suit it would fall short of the jumping requirements unless the hand contained some other count.

In the play West obligingly opened with a Spade and South won with the Queen. South then led the King of Clubs and a second Club which dummy ducked, but East overtook his partner's Jack of Clubs with the Queen and led a Spade through the South hand. South won and put dummy in to run the remaining Clubs, so at that stage of the play Declarer had accumulated four Clubs and two Spades.

Three more tricks were needed for game and it was Declarer's last chance to try a finesse. North led a Diamond and South played the Queen although with only six of the suit in the combined hands the Ten usually is finessed from Ace-Queen-Ten, but Declarer needed only three tricks for game and with the Ace of Hearts on the side could make it by playing the Queen if East had the King. Had South played the Ten of Diamonds, West would have won, run his Spades and Declarer's hope for game would have ended then and there.

Work's Radio Bridge Game

Three outstanding New York Bridge authorities as well as an expert from Denver, Colo., participated in the Eleventh of Milton C. Work's Radio Bridge games broadcast yesterday afternoon from station WRC. The New Yorkers were Ely Culbertson, Editor of the Bridge World; Ralph J. Leibenderfer and E. V. Shepard, with Mrs. Lewis Todhunter, of Denver, Colo.

Their hands were: Mr. Culbertson, dealer, South: Spades, A, Q, 10, 7, 6, 5; Hearts, A, 7, 5, 4; Diamonds, 3, 2; Clubs, 4. Mrs. Todhunter, West: Spades, 4, 3; Hearts, 3; Diamonds, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4; Clubs, A, K, J, 10, 2. Mr. Leibenderfer, North: Spades, J, 9, 2; Hearts, K, 10, 9, 6; Diamonds, A, J, 10; Clubs, 7, 6, 5. Mr. Shepard, East: Spades, K, 8; Hearts, Q, J, 8, 2; Diamonds, K, Q, 9; Clubs, Q, 9, 8, 3.

Mr. Culbertson, South, opened the auction with one Spade. Mrs. Todhunter, West, said two Clubs; Mr. Leibenderfer, North, two Spades; Mr. Shepard, East, three Clubs. Mr. Culbertson, South, went to three Spades, which held the bid.

Opened the Play.

Opening the play, Mrs. Todhunter, West, led the King of Clubs, to which Mr. Culbertson played the 5 from North, the dummy hand. Mr. Shepard, East, played the 3, and Declarer the 4 from closed hand. Mr. Shepard played his lowest Club as a discouragement card; he felt it might be better for Mrs. Todhunter to switch her suit. It was evident to Mr. Shepard that Declarer had an abundance of trumps, so forcing could not injure his hand, and Mr. Shepard was quite sure that Declarer would ruff a second Club. Mr. Shepard would have been perfectly suited by a Diamond lead from his partner; or a Heart was not liable to be seriously harmful.

Influenced by her partner's discouraging play of the Trey of Clubs, Mrs. Todhunter led her singleton Heart to trick two, hoping that Mr. Shepard had the Ace and Queen or, at least, the Ace to give her one ruff. Declarer, after studying the situation, played the King of Hearts from Dummy. East played the Deuce. He appreciated that his partner's lead probably was a singleton, and it seemed best to him to keep his Queen-Jack-8 together over Dummy's 10-9-6 rather than to start a signal by playing the 8. Declarer played the 4.

Leads 9 of Spades.

To trick three Declarer led Dummy's 9 of Spades; East followed with the 8, Declarer with the 7, and West with the Trey. Declarer continued from Dummy with the Deuce of Spades; East dropped the King; Declarer played the Ace, and West the 4, the last adverse Spade. Mr. Culbertson next led the Deuce of Diamonds from the South hand; West played the 4, Dummy the 10, and Mr. Shepard, East, won with the King of Diamonds—a false card, the object being to induce Declarer to finesse again in that suit.

To trick six Mr. Shepard led the 8 of Clubs, his partner's suit. Declarer ruffed with the 10 of Spades; West played the Deuce, and Dummy the 6. Declarer then led the Trey of Diamonds; West played the 5, Dummy the Ace, and East the 9. Declarer continued Diamonds with Dummy's Jack; East played the Queen; Declarer ruffed with the Queen of Spades, and West played the 6 of Diamonds. Declared, at trick nine, led the 5 of Spades from closed hand to put Dummy in the lead; West discarded the 7 of Diamonds; Dummy played the Jack of Spades, and East discarded the 9 of Clubs.

Declarer next led from Dummy the 7 of Clubs; East played the Queen; Declarer trumped with the 6 of Spades, and West played the 10 of Clubs. Declarer had developed the hand as he planned to do from the moment the Trey of Hearts was led by Mrs. Todhunter. Mr. Culbertson was certain the Trey was a singleton and therefore Mr. Shepard, in the East, must have held four Hearts originally; and after the first Heart trick must have been left with the Queen-Jack-8. Declarer had to take three Heart tricks to make his game. He could do this only by the subtle play he developed.

Leads With 5 of Hearts.

To trick eleven he led the 5 of Hearts from closed hand. Mrs. Todhunter, West, discarded the 8 of Diamonds; Dummy played the 9 of Hearts, and Mr. Shepard, East, won with the Jack. Mr. Shepard then had nothing to lead but a Heart, and it was immaterial whether he led the Queen or the 8. In either event Mr. Culbertson would take the remaining two tricks. If he led the Queen, South's Ace would win that trick, and Dummy's 10 the next. If the 8 were led, Dummy's 10 would win and Declarer's Ace would take the final trick. Declarer therefore won four-odd, scoring 36 points, game, with 40 honors. At Progressive or Duplicate there would have been an additional 125 points for game in one deal.

In his analysis of the play, Mr. Work said: "It is rarely that we see a hand developed as brilliantly as the one just played. When Mrs. Todhunter led a Heart to trick two, Mr. Culbertson could mark that lead as a singleton and place Mr. Shepard's Hearts. He had lost one Club trick and knew he must lose one Diamond. Therefore to make game his Spade finesse must succeed and he must develop the Hearts so as to lose only one trick in that suit. If North should play the 6 of Hearts on this trick, Mr. Shepard could play the 8-spot, force the Ace and have the Queen-Jack in reserve. If North should paly the 9, East could play the Jack and have the Queen-8-2 over North's King-10-6. To win this trick in the North hand was essential in order to finesse the trumps, and unless his trump finesse won, Declarer could not make game.

Boldly Leads Deuce.

"After North won the third trick with the 9 of trumps, he boldly led the Deuce to the next trick, hoping and expecting that the King would drop and that his Jack of Spades would be an entry. It turned out that way (Mr. Shepard's 8 had not been a false card), and the rest of the play developed easily, Declarer being able to exhaust Mr. Shepard's Diamonds and Clubs so as to force him to lead a Heart at trick twelve."

The contract bidding of this hand, under the Common Sense System would be: South two Spades; West pass; North three Spades, and then whether South should bid four or pass would be doubtful. His bid of two would have shown the full strength of his hand, but with a partner able to assist Spades, the distribution of the hand was most satisfactory; so South probably would bid four Spades. The Common Sense System would be the only one which would permit South to bid two Spades originally, and therefore the only one that would shut out bids by West and East. It probably would be the only one that would produce a game bid by South. However, the game bid would be disastrous in the hands of any but a master player.

For the final two problems in his Handicap Test series, Mr. Work announced these cards: South: Spades, A, J, 9, 4; Hearts, 3, 8, 6; Diamonds, A, 9; Clubs, A, 10, 7, 2. North: Spades, K, Q, 7, 2; Hearts, J, 7; Diamonds, K, J, 10, 6, 5, 2; Clubs, 9.

South is playing a No Trump declaration (at Contract three No Trumps). West leads to the first trick the 6 of Clubs; North plays the 9, and East the King of Clubs.

Question 19. Which Club should South play on this trick?

Question 20. When South obtains the lead, which suit should he lead?

RAISIN CAKES FOR DESSERT.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Hot desserts may be introduced occasionally as the weather grows colder. These raisin cakes, for which the Bureau of Home Economics gives a recipe, are good with whipped cream, hard sauce, or one of the liquid hot sauces, flavored with vanilla or lemon.

¼ cup butter.
1 egg.
½ cup milk.
½ teaspoon vanilla.
1½ cups soft wheat flour.
½ cup raisins.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
⅛ teaspoon salt.

Cream the butter and sugar, and add the well-beaten egg. Roll the raisins in two tablespoons of the flour. Sift the other dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Stir in the raisins and vanilla. Bake in greased muffin tins for 15 to 20 minutes at a temperature of about 375 degrees F. Serve while still warm.

IF February 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to mdinight. The danger periods are from 5:30 a. m. to 7:30 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

The influences in force on this date make for overoptimism, exaggerated confidence and the support of bubble schemes—do not be carried away by glittering proposals and stimulated emotions! A variety of events and excitement are prognosticated. In the evening, attention will be diverted from work to more romantic and idealistic interests.

Children born on this February 4 will have fiery tempers, a streak of stubbornness, indomitable wills and considerable affection. They will have to learn many lessons from experience, but they will profit much from this harsh teacher. Much of their selfishness will be outgrown before they reach adulthood.

Born on February 4, your chief characteristics are straightforwardness, pluck, modesty and a sense of humor. You have a hot temper, but you do not bear ill will against anybody. If you are hit on the raw, you hit back on the spot, and then forget about it—no back-biting. You call a spade a spade on all occasions, and you are never afraid to express your very strong convictions.

You are inclined to give the casual observer the impression that you are easy-going. As a matter of fact, you take life very seriously, and when things are not going quite right you worry a lot. You keep your troubles to yourself, however, not even sharing them with your family. It is your good fortune to be able to see a bit of humor in everything, and many a tear has been forced back by a sincere laugh.

Your homing instinct is very highly developed, and you are loath to spend your leisure hours away from your own fireside. You would be a homesick traveler and one who would make odious comparisons with the things abroad and those "back home." You dislike publicity, and you never seek the front benches, no matter how deserving you may be to sit there.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

THE LILY OF JAPAN.

LILIES are indeed the aristocracy of our garden families and no garden is quite complete without them. This is the time to study their wants and thus prevent giving them the wrong treatment later on in our borders. They are tall and stately, and, above all else, easily raised, seeming most happy when let alone. All garden borders should have a few of these flowers scattered through them.

The gold-banded lily of Japan (auratum) is undoubtedly one of the very finest varieties for the ordinary garden. It attains a height of from 3 to 5 feet and blossoms continually from July to September.

Hardy lilies do best in a herbaceous border, as they derive benefit from the shade of the surrounding plants. They will also do well in plots that are more or less shaded by buildings, walls or trees.

The auratum should be planted in the early spring. Plant the bulbs where you mean them to remain permanently for, as I have said, lilies do not take kindly to change. When you transplant a lily, you can expect few if any blooms for several months.

The auratum must be planted in well-drained, sandy soil which must also be fairly rich. Set the bulbs quite deep. Shallow planting seems to be the reason why so many people fail with this variety. During a prolonged drought, which we so often have in August, the auratum should be watered once a day. As soon as the flowers fade, cut them off. By doing this you will discourage other buds to develop and those already developed to unfold.

Auratums will not stand for any encroachment of weeds about their roots. If weeds are permitted within 1 foot of this bulb, it will soon show signs of deteriorating. The auratum is a heavy feeder and refuses to share its food, derived from the soil, with other plants.

Therefore, it is wise to turn over the top soil about its roots about once a week during its blooming season. This may seem like work to some persons, but the large, perfectly formed blossoms which will surely result from this treatment, will be ample repayment for the necessary labor.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE.

Special Food Dislikes.

Mothers are frequently baffled when children take unaccountable dislikes to foods they have hitherto enjoyed. Such sudden dislikes may have been brought about by any one of several causes.

It is possible that the child has seen some older member of the family refuse a certain dish and is imitating him. He may have heard some one voice his distaste for the food as it was being served.

Such remarks as "tapioca pudding looks just like frog's eggs, and I wouldn't eat it for anything!" are certainly enough to give the child an aversion to tapioca pudding or anything that looks like it.

Then again, it may be that the child's mother gave him a particular dish on a day when for some reason or other he had no appetite. Unwittingly she made much of his refusal. The child, pleased with the attention he received, repeated the refusal when he would otherwise have eaten. Because refusal to eat a dish brings each time increased satisfaction through attention, it soon becomes an unthinking automatic response.

Children sometimes show special dislikes for foods which are badly cooked, unattractively served and too highly seasoned. Lumps in the oatmeal, prunes served hard and stringy, spinach cooked without having first been sufficiently washed to remove the grit, are examples of things which set up prejudices against entirely wholesome and otherwise pleasant food.

A single unpleasant experience, either frightening, disgusting or unhappy, associated in the child's mind with some food, may cause him always to dislike it.

The sight of that particular dish will inevitably recall unpleasant feelings, even though the original incident has been forgotten.

Feel Safe always

Specify Kotex when you buy sanitary pads

HOURS at the opera, hours in business, hours out-of-doors—always the feeling of perfect freedom when Kotex is your sanitary protection. Kotex is shaped to fit under any sort of gown. It is highly absorbent (5 times more by test than surgical cotton). It is guaranteed to give more protection, longer protection than any other sanitary pad.

Kotex deodorizes. It is soft—not merely a surface softness but a delicate, lasting softness. It is adjustable, because of the layer construction of its absorbent filler, so that you can change its size to suit your changing needs. It may (and this is important) be worn on either side with equal efficiency.

It is disposable, easily, quickly—one very important reason for preferring this modern sanitary protection.

The Life Story of Gen. Wood

By HERMANN HAGEDORN

CHAPTER XXXII.

"Ah, I wish you were here," wrote rn. Bullard to Gen. Wood from rance September 22, 1917. "This is e place for you. But, wherever you e, our people know you as the truest d ablest patriot and soldier."

On the 25th of August Wood ar-ved at his new post.

Camp Funston—named after that ntrepid Kansan, Gen. Frederick Funton who fought for the Cubans even efore the Spanish War and captured guinaldo in the Philippines—was tuated at the precise geographical enter of the United States on the ort Riley Military Reservation. The vel country, broken here and there y water courses, offered excellent pportunities for the movement of rge bodies of troops, but it was a rnace in summer and like the Arctic winter; swept by fierce winds and orrential rains; prodigal of mud, rodigal of dust.

On September 5 the draft men egan to arrive, 500 in the first con-gnment, and thenceforward in a ood. They came from Kansas and issouri first of all; from Colorado, ebraska and South Dakota; from rizona and New Mexico; farmers, ost of them, interspersed with such aried types as plowed through the ust of San Antonio that May nine-een years before.

Great Lack of Equipment.

"Our men are coming in," Wood rote his old friend, Gen. Greble, nd we are without arms, without rtillery and without pretty much erything we need, including uni-orms, and there is not much pros-ect of getting them in the near fu-ure. * * * God save the mark hen a Nation of our numerical and nancial strength sits watching for ree years a great war coming near- and nearer and then finds itself, ve months after war is declared, ab-olutely unready and unprepared to quip partially the small number of oops which have been called to the olors thus far."

There were no cots, no blankets, no louses, no hats, no overcoats. It was e story of ninety-eight, but this me he was too far from the source power to cut red tape as he'd cut then.

"Pretty ghastly isn't it," Wood rote Roosevelt, "when you think of is, the richest nation in the world, the sixth month of war and that, ven in the demoralization of the panish War, we had taken Santiago the end of three months and had early 300,000 men in training.

Finds Nation's Energy Wasted.

"The situation makes one very ap-rehensive concerning the successful onduct of the war. * * * Com-ittees are sitting in Washington, ade up of able men, but the situ-tion as a whole reminds one of a reen man in an automobile, with ne foot pushing down on the clutch nd the other on the accelerator. The ngine is whirling around and a tre-endous noise is being made, but ere is no application of power, and it goes."

When, a week or more after the men ad begun to stream in, no uniforms ad arrived, Wood took action, pur-hasing 5,000 suits of blue denim on is own responsibility. The training roceeded in spite of handicaps. With- 3 miles were rifles, but——

"Despite repeated requests for the 500 rifles stored at Fort Riley," ood wrote in his diary, "they were l shipped East on the 13th. This is ne of the most asinine pieces of stu-idity of a long series of stupid acts. ith these 5,000 rifles we could have one very substantial work in the ay of training. As it is now, men re walking about with sticks and ieces of board for guns."

Wooden Rifles Made.

Gen. Wood set the men to whit-ling wooden rifles. They rather en-oyed that. They were a simple-earted, somewhat bewildered lot—hese men who had come from the ay fields and the corn fields, the oda fountains and the hardware hops to be made into soldiers—ague concerning the objects for hich they were offering their ease, ir hopes, their lives, but—since hey could not help themselves, be-ng drafted—willing to accept the ecessity on faith. Gen. Wood was truck by their earnestness and sin-erity, their evident eagerness to do heir duty. It was his task, as he onceived it, to keep undulled this ence of personal responsibility and elf-respect even while, out of his 5,000 units, he built his great ma-hine.

"Never laugh at a man, however rude he looks," went the order to he officers of the division. "There sn't a man in the division who does ot at heart want to do well. Let othing in your method of training r your conduct toward your men end to destroy their self-respect. emember that these men are hu-nan beings with ambitions, hopes d a hundred changing emotions. reat them as human beings. If hey are to be real soldiers they must e proud of their possession, proud f their officers, proud of themeselves s soldiers. It is your part to see hat such loyalty is developed and, nce developed, that it is upheld."

Works Patiently Among Men.

Day in, day out, he was among hem, as laboriously they passed hrough the first stage of the transi-ion from civilian to soldier, speaking ere a word of praise, there quiet ad-ice, patient, considerate, endlessly elpful. "He never said a mean thing o a man," said one of them after-ard, half in awe. No man ever saw im angry. It was not long before is spirit began to find its reflection n the attitude of the men. It was umored that the general had sent ut the word, 'See that the private [illegible] a fair deal; he's the man least ble to take care of himself.' He kept sharp watch on the court-martial ecords. Too many court-martials in command, he pointed out, indicated failure to attain the kind of dis-ipline he required, and they brought he officer who was responsible a ecture on fundamentals. Wood was trict, the men said, and he was quare. When a private "got in rong," the general "socked" him, and hen a lieutenant colonel "got in rong," he "socked" that notable just s hard. That struck them as un-sual.

Gen. Wood had a deep feeling of ellowship for young men, and his magination ran to meet the bewilderment of these strong-bodied Mid-dle Westerners for whom life and all ts traditions of easy-going democ-racy had been turned upside down vernight.

Private Ambles Up.

On one occasion a boy strolled up o him as he stood beside his car. Wood waited in vain for the salute. How long had the youth been in camp, he asked. Three weeks. Why idn't you salute? Didn't he see the lag on the car? Oh, he thought that was the gentleman's family service lag. "How long have you been here?" he inquired genially.

Wood explained.

"Well, I never!" the soldier ejacu-ated. "I've got in wrong, ain't I? I ant to shake hands with you and sk you to forget it."

It was all happily reminiscent of Rough Rider days.

Wood knew that to many a young ecruit the matter of the salute was one of the most galling features of soldiering. "Get out of your head the idea that there is anything ignominious in saluting your officers," he had a way of saying to them. "You salute the lieutenant, the captain, the major, the colonel. They all salute me. I salute the Secretary of War. The Secretary salutes the President. The President salutes the flag. So, in saluting your officers, you are just indirectly saluting the flag."

Gives Lesson in Discipline.

He was driving a motor car along a country road one day when he saw a soldier, walking some distance ahead with a girl, suddenly bend down as the motor approached and tie his shoelace. He stopped the car. "You saw me, didn't you?" The man shuffled about uneasily. "But, in order to avoid saluting me you pretended to tie your shoestring. That was it, wasn't it?"

Reluctantly the man admitted it.

"Now I'll tell you what I would have done if I'd been in your place," Wood remarked. "I'd have said to my girl, 'Now watch me make the old man take my salute!' Get the point?"

The soldier saluted, grinning. The general answered the salute with marked precision—and one more young man learned the lesson of the interdependence of officers and men necessary to make a mob an army.

He made it a practice to assemble each regiment soon after its organization and, in simple words, to speak to the men of soldierly duty, the traditions of the Army, the hardship and sacrifice they must be prepared to face.

Tried to Create Soul.

A regiment, he knew, was only a piece of machinery until it had a soul, and it was his part, out of a welter of emotions—fears and aspirations, bewilderment and loneliness, personal pride and love of country—to build that something which should survive when every physical resource was exhausted. He had a peculiar genius for thus transfusing his men with his own energy and devotion. In the Philippines Army officers had had a way of saying that regiments which had once served under Wood were noticeably better troops for years thereafter.

Even as he sought to mold the spirits of his soldiers, so he endeavored to reach into their lives in the communities from which they came. These 50,000 young men represented approximately 50,000 homes, scattered over half a dozen States. Their willingness to subject themselves to discipline, to endure hardship, to face bravely the black possibilities of the battlefield, would depend largely on the spirit of those they had left behind.. If mothers chafed and questioned, the sons would go forward with uncertain steps.

Defends Theory of Draft.

At public meetings he spoke to them of the draft, explaining why it was just and how it placed the burden of service evenly upon all. He spoke of leadership, of the feeling of confidence and comradeship which existed between the French soldier and officer, which in no way interfered with discipline, yet brought a strength which nothing else could bring. His words were simple and direct as the minds to which they were addressed, and earnestness with which they were uttered left something quivering where they lodged.

Wood worked night and day, supervising the training, inspecting, gathering equipment, building morale; in the saddle often at 6 in the morning, covering the longer distances by motor, this way and that, across the reservation, an average of 100 miles a day. His knack of relaxing and going to sleep quickly when he had a spare moment made it possible for him to keep at work almost continuously at times for days and nights. On one occasion during the noon rest period, as he was sitting on the ground with his back to a tree, a staff officer approached. Wood's aid waved him frantically away. "For God's sake," he whispered, "let him sleep a minute. I haven't had any rest for a week." But Wood was awake even then, and did not let him hear the last of it.

The middle of September brought cold nights and the equinox brought rain.

Floods Cover Plain.

"Our camp here is known as the American Venice," Wood wrote Col. E. F. Glynn. "They put it on a beautiful alluvial plain, which is entirely flooded by the river in times of high water.

"The shortage of blankets is distressing," he wrote in his diary. "A thousand or more men slept cold last night, with only one blanket to a man and some of them without even a bed sack to lie on. There is also a general shortage of leggins, a great shortage of hats—in fact, little or nothing here in comparison with what we should have. * * *

"I presume the same condition exists at other camps. There is no reason whatever why we should not have had plenty of some kind of blankets, comforters, or something of the sort. As a matter of fact, we are now buying whatever we can lay our hands on in local markets and paying excessive prices. * * *

"Nothing in the Spanish war touches the present situation in some respects.

Galled by Inefficiency.

"I know as positively as I know anything in this world," he wrote Roosevelt, "that I could have had 600,000 men in France by the 1st of December had I been given a free hand in April. I would have had them armed and clothed warmly and comfortably. The situation is terrible beyond words. The national divisions will not get into the war until some time next summer at this rate, and we shall dribble in our resources to be wasted in detail."

"We have three regiments of field artillery," he wrote Root, "and not a gun with which to train them. We haven't had a rifle until recently, when about 5,500 of the old Krags (the type used in the Spanish War) were sent out. Of equipment, we have absolutely nothing. * * *

"A hideous mistake was made in not adopting the British caliber for our rifles. We were making 8,700 British rifles a day as against 750 of our own, and, as England is now making her own and big reserves, if we had taken her caliber we would have avoided an added caliber at the front, had the English factories behind us in case the submarines made the Atlantic too difficult and would have had their reserves in the way of factories making machine guns.

Rifles Should Have Been Standard.

"In other words, we should have standardized our rifles with one of our great allies. * * * The change has already cost us nearly 1,000,000 rifles, has delayed our getting into the war in effective strength at least six months and has in every way imposed a handicap upon us and resulted in an added embarrassment to the military situation. * * * It was an act of indescribable military folly."

Late in November Wood received orders to go to France on a tour of inspection. As a surprise the whole division was drawn up for his departure. For 2 miles his car passed through a double line of men who three months before had been untrained, undisciplined individualists and now were soldiers of the United States.

"Why are the men so fond of Wood?" one of his staff officers asked.

"I'll tell you why. Because Bill Smith in the rear rank thinks that as far as the general is concerned, he is the whole division."

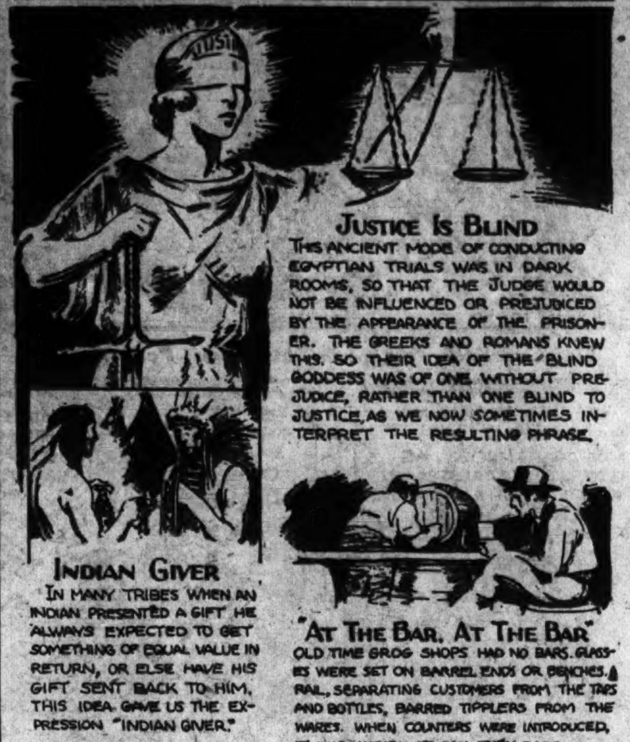
HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Roy Senausky



JUSTICE IS BLIND

THIS ANCIENT MODE OF CONDUCTING EGYPTIAN TRIALS WAS IN DARK ROOMS, SO THAT THE JUDGE WOULD NOT BE INFLUENCED OR PREJUDICED BY THE APPEARANCE OF THE PRISONER. THE GREEKS AND ROMANS KNEW THIS. SO THEIR IDEA OF THE BLIND GODDESS WAS OF ONE WITHOUT PREJUDICE, RATHER THAN ONE BLIND TO JUSTICE, AS WE NOW SOMETIMES INTERPRET THE RESULTING PHRASE.

INDIAN GIVER

IN MANY TRIBES WHEN AN INDIAN PRESENTED A GIFT HE ALWAYS EXPECTED TO GET SOMETHING OF EQUAL VALUE IN RETURN, OR ELSE HAVE HIS GIFT SENT BACK TO HIM. THIS IDEA GAVE US THE EXPRESSION "INDIAN GIVER."

"AT THE BAR, AT THE BAR"

OLD TIME GROG SHOPS HAD NO BARS. GLASSES WERE SET ON BARREL ENDS OR BENCHES. A RAIL, SEPARATING CUSTOMERS FROM THE TAPS AND BOTTLES, BARRED TIPPLERS FROM THE WARES. WHEN COUNTERS WERE INTRODUCED, IT WAS NATURAL TO CALL THEM BARS.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

EVER since the beginning of the season advance agents popped into town announcing, from time to time, the contemplated visit of "Young Sinners" to the Belasco. The play never arrived. Why it didn't put in appearance became one of the mysteries of the local theater. This week the comedy is playing Baltimore—about as near as it will ever get to Washington this season.

* * * *

Mr. Stoddard Taylor, manager of the Belasco Theater, is out with the welcome announcement that John Drinkwater's delightful comedy, "Bird in Hand," will play a special return engagement at the Lafayette Square playhouse the week beginning next Monday, February 9. Certainly, no play that visited the Belasco Theater this season created comment more favorable than that accorded this slice of life as they live it in rural England. It comes under the head of "a treat in the theater."

* * * *

While this old favorite, "Bird in Hand" occupies the stage of the Belasco, a brand-new comedy—the first play ever written by Roland Pertwee—will have its premiere at the National. Pertwee, an English novelist and short-story writer, is not an unknown in this country; not by a long shot, as they say at the track. Some of his stories are as fine as anything written in the English language—notably one that recently appeared in the Satevepost, a bit of fiction called "In a Mountain Hut." This showed character deliniation worthy of any dramatist. "Heat Wave," Pertwee's play, probably has the same sort of stuff spread throughout its script.

* * * *

Unfortunate booking arrangements left both local houses dark this week—so far as straight dramatic fare is concerned; but the National Theater opens tomorrow night with the first offering of the New York Grand Opera Company. This organization, recruited from the disbanded ranks of the old San Carlos and the Aborn Grand Opera companies, is making its first bid for fame in seven principal cities of the United States with the idea of creating a circuit, whereby the operas will be repeated in each city every seven weeks.

* * * *

Mr. Beauvais Fox, former president of the Theatrical Press Representative of America, hove into port yesterday heralding the approach of Miss Jane Cowl with her two plays, "Art and Mrs. Bottle," and "Twelfth Night." She comes to the Belasco the week after next. It happens that Clifford Brooke, who recently signed a contract to direct the National Theater Players this spring, is the man who directed Janey Cowl in the art and bottle comedy.

* * * *

Robert Long, through here not so long ago with "Abraham Lincoln"—the film—advises all Washington to be on the lookout for Miss Selena Royle, who plays the lead role in Roland Pertwee's new play, "Heat Wave," scheduled here next week. Miss Royle is the daughter of Edwin Royle, dramatist and actor, and she has an uncle here in the newspaper game, J. C. Royle, well known along Newspaper Row—or what is left of it.

* * * *

Roxy and His Gang will land in town tomorrow for a whirl around the Capital. They are coming here, primarily, to raise money for the magnificent new chapel now being built at Walter Reed Hospital, a chapel sponsored by the Gray Ladies, those benevolent souls who shower so many blessings on the soldiers of Shut-in Bay. At noon the Press Club entertains Roxy and His Gang. After that a visit to Walter Reed and two performances—matinee and night—in Constitution Hall.

* * * *

That whirlwind comedy, "In the Best of Families," which had its opening here in the Belasco, braved Broadway last night. At the same time, "America's Sweetheart," formerly of the National, took its footlight bow. The reports will be in later.

Hollywood Screen Life

By HUBBARD KEAVY.

Hollywood.—Hollywood's most unusual store has closed for the uncommon reason that its stock was depleted and couldn't be replenished.

MARY PICKFORD.

The Screen Stars' Shop opened early last year to sell players' cast-off clothes to aid charity, didn't succeed because the stars who were supposed to supply its wares didn't supply 'em. (Maybe they were wearing their old clothes.)

The idea was Mary Pickford's. As an official of the Motion Picture Relief fund, she sought ways to raise money. She started the ball rolling by giving 60 gowns and a dozen or more pairs of shoes. They hadn't been worn much, either. A comparatively few others gave clothing, autographed books and playing cards, but none of the contributions equaled Mary's in quantity.

For a while the shop did enough business to justify its existence. But players gave less and less, and finally when its shelves got almost as bare as Mother Somebody's cupboard, it folded up because there was nothing for customers to buy.

Fire Loss.

The dstruction by fire of a studio cutitng room will keep some famous freaks from becoming known through the cinema.

Nearly 20,000 feet of film were destroyed when the building burned. The "shots" had been gathered for the short subject, "Strange as It Seems," and many of them, obtained in odd corners of the world, can not be duplicated.

Off-Stage Acting.

The interviewer arrived at the star's home twenty minutes late. The telephone must have been in the entrance hall, for the star's voice was heard through the front door.

"I don't see why I should be put on the spot," the dulcet voice was informing some one. "I'm never late on the set or any place else." As the door knocker was dropped, the receiver was heard to click.

A uniformed maid escorted the interviewer directly to the star, two rooms away. Not more than ten seconds could have elapsed, yet there was the star gracefully reclining on a chaise lounge, every camera angle considered.

Helping the Homemaker

An Early Spring Luncheon.
Cream of Asparagus Soup
Cheesed Wafers
Chicken Souffle Buttered Peas
Hot Rolls Raspberry Jam
Stuffed Tomato Salad
Drop Cakes with Mocha Frosting

Cream of Asparagus Soup, Serving 8.

2 cups canned asparagus (or fresh)
½ cup diced celery
2 tablespoons chopped onions
3 tablespoons chopped green peppers
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 cups water
5 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons flour
4 cups milk
1 cup whipped cream

Mix asparagus, seasonings and water. Cook 25 minutes in covered pan over low fire. Press through coarse sieve. Melt butter and add flour. When blended add milk and cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add cooked mixture. Serve in hot cups and top with whipped cream and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Chicken Souffle, Serving 8.

1-3 cup chicken fat or butter
½ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
3 cups milk
5 egg yolks, beaten
3 cups diced chicken
3 tablespoons chopped pimientos
5 egg whites, beaten

Melt fat and add flour, salt, paprika and milk. Cook until thick and creamy. Stir constantly. Add egg yolks and beat three minutes. Fold in rest of ingredients and pour into small buttered timbale molds or custard cups. Set in pan of hot water and bake 25 minutes in slow oven. Unmold carefully. Surround with peas.

Filling for Tomato Salads.

½ cup cottage cheese
½ cup diced cucumbers
1-3 cup chopped olives
¼ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons mayonnaise

Mocha Frosting.

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons hot coffee
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1-3 cups sifted confectioner's sugar

INCOME TAX FACTS

No. 3.

Returns are required of every single person whose net income for 1930 was $1,500 or more, every married person living with husband or wife whose net income was $3,500 or more, and every person, single or married, whose gross income was $5,000 or more, regardless of net income. Divorced and married persons separated by mutual consent are classed as single persons. The personal exemptions are $1,500 for single persons and $3,500 for married persons living together.

Husband and wife living together may each make a separate return of the income of each, or their income may be included in a single joint return. If separate returns are filed, they can not report income which belongs to the other, but must report only the income which actually belongs to each. (This rule applies only to taxpayers residing in States other than where community property laws are in force.) If a joint return is filed, such return is treated as the return of a taxable unit and the income disclosed is subject to both the normal tax and surtax. Where separate returns are filed the exemption of $3,500 may be taken by either spouse or divided between them, the husband, for example, claiming $2,000 and the wife $1,500. However, where the income of one spouse is in excess of $4,000, it is to their advantage if such spouse claims the total personal exemption, the reason being the difference in the normal tax rates, which are 1½ per cent on the first $4,000, 3 per cent on the next $4,000, and 5 per cent on the balance. The case of a husband whose net income was $7,500 and a wife whose net income was $3,500 is an example:

Net income, husband	$7,500
Personal exemption	3,500
Taxable at 1½ per cent	4,000
Husband's tax	60
Net income, wife	3,500
Personal exemption	None.
Taxable at 1½ per cent	3,500
Wife's tax	52.50
Total husband's and wife's tax	112.50
Net income, husband and wife	11,000
Personal exemption	3,500
Subject to normal tax	7,500
1½ per cent on first $4,000	60
3 per cent on remaining $3,500	105
Surtax on $11,000	10
Total tax of husband and wife	175

The computations do not include the 25 per cent earned income credit.

If You are Over-Fat
Take 2 Grains Gland Food Daily Until Slenderness Returns

That is the method modern science has discovered. It is used by doctors the world over. It has changed the whole aspect of obesity. Very many of the slender figures that you envy are due to this new-day help. Single physicians, by its use, are making thousands thin.

The reason is this: A great cause of excess fat has been found to lie in a weakened gland. Its secretion largely controls nutrition. A scant secretion permits too much of our food to form fat. So modern doctors feed that lacking factor until conditions are set right.

Marmola prescription tablets embody that gland factor. A world-famous medical laboratory prepares them to fit the average case. Each box contains the formula and the reasons for results. So all may use this modern treatment at very little cost.

Marmola has been used for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. All can everywhere see the enormous good it has done. Most folks have friends who can tell them. What folly then to starve or over-do. What folly to use treatments harmful or absurd. And what folly to carry an over-burden of fat—a blight to beauty, health and vim.

Don't wait longer while so many gain the joys of being slender. All druggists supply Marmola at $1. Go get it now, read the book to know what you are taking and why. Then tell the facts to others, as we tell you.

Get Rid of Colds Before They Weaken You, Make You Liable to More Serious Troubles.

Nowadays it's important to stop your cold quick before it weakens your resistance to more serious trouble.

Any of the older treatments will bring relief—after a time. But thousands say this new way is the quickest of any.

Begin when you feel a cold coming. Take a tablespoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water, morning, noon, and night, the first day. Do same the second day. Then only at night. Colds reduce the alkaline balance of your system. That makes you feel achy, feverish, weak. Phillips Milk of Magnesia relieves this, and restores the alkaline balance.

Doctors prescribe Phillips Milk of Magnesia; hospitals use it. Millions know how it relieves sour stomachs, gas, indigestion, constipation and other symptoms of too much acid. Get the genuine.

Montana Woman Lost 17 Pounds Weight in 4 Weeks

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer, of Lewiston, Mont., that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

When stout women can lose fat and at the same time gain in energy and vigor.

Gain in charm and vivaciousness.

Gain a healthy complexion and have eyes that sparkle with buoyant health.

And at insignificant cost—isn't it time to use common sense?

Please read this letter carefully:

"Gentlemen: I started taking Kruschen every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

"I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give 'Kruschen Salts' a fair trail. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 pounds, and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 pounds. And I must say I feel better in every way, besides looking much better.

"May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. Just try one bottle and by following directions, I am sure it will convince any one. I bought my second bottle today."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85 cents at Peoples Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

Why not try one bottle—if not joyfully satisfied—money back. When taking Kruschen you can reduce more swiftly by cutting out pastry and fatty meat—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—its the safe way to reduce.—Adv.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

SKATING AS TONIC.

WINTER is regarded as a season of athletic inactivity. The newspapers think of it as a season of hard sledding for the sports page. The high speed sport writers fly to Florida and California to rest. The ordinary man follows the example of the bear, curls up and hibernates. Meanwhile, the sickness rate rises.

There is need and a remedy must be found. Indoor sports is better than nothing. It is better to watch a game of basket ball than to stay at home. Playing is better than watching. This holds true of volley ball as well as basket ball. As to all games except for the crippled, the lame and the halt, play is a hundred times better than to be a spectator.

The indoor ice games come nearer to meeting the standards of the health sharks, both for the players and the spectators. The best of the games, however, are those played in the open.

Skating leads them all. Almost no equipment is needed. If there is no nearby river or pond, a piece of flat ground can generally be flooded. In cities, vacant lots suitable for flooding and conversion into skating places are found in every neighborhood. Most skaters are dubs and the dub skater does not need ice kept in the finest condition. Skating does not require much illumination. During half the month moonlight suffices. There is no better way to keep up muscle tone, to build up the heart strength, and to ward off colds and pneumonia than to skate.

The refrigerating industry is willing to make skating possible for those who live in sections of the country where nature does not supply ice.

DID NOT HURT BUMP.

Mrs. A. M. Writes: A lady inquires how to reduce a large bump formed by blood clots caused by a severe bump in falling. Very recently I had the same to contend with, caused by being thrown through a windshield. I did not start the following treatment until two weeks after the accident.

Apply hot boric acid packs continually. Lump will disappear in about ten days. Massage gently. Protect lump from burns by placing a fine piece of gauze over side of face and sticking a few pieces of adhesive tape on gauze directly over bump. As the lump sticks out from the face, if this is not done to protect it, it becomes very sore and irritated when one has scarcely commenced treatment. I did this for ten days, six to eight times daily. The lump recedes slowly and the bruised, black appearance also. My bump was as big as a very large walnut and was as hard as a rock.

REPLY.

Bumps and discolorations generally disappear in three weeks or less without treatment. Your efforts entertained you and you did not hurt the bump.

OPERATION FOR AGED.

M. W. writes: Is it dangerous for a woman over 80 years old to have an operation for cataracts? She is in good condition for her age, but has always been very nervous.

REPLY.

There is some danger in any operation. There is some danger of loss of the eye and loss of life. Operations are generally done because the danger and other disadvantages do not offset the advantages.

MURDER WITNESSES BLAME BISHOP'S SON

DETAIL ALLEGED FIGHT

New York, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—A stocky, black-haired young man, son of the Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Tennessee, sat pale and frowning in General Sessions Court today and heard two witnesses testify they saw him knock 73-year-old David Paynter down with a chair, broke the chair over him and kick him as he lay on the floor.

Then, a third witness said, the defendant, James Matthew Maxon, jr., on trial for second-degree murder, wiped the blood from Paynter's face, put his arms about his neck and kissed him.

Police testified Maxon said he was drunk, and he appeared to be suffering from a "very bad hangover." They also said he told them he realized what had happened, but thought it was unsportsmanlike of them to question him then.

The State today presented its chief narrators of the events which it charges took place in a West End avenue rooming house before dawn last Good Friday morning.

Samuel Ecclesine, middle-aged, bespectacled construction superintendent, said that Maxon, after punching him repeatedly, hurled him out the front door and chased him down the street.

Edward Scully, 6-foot, 190-pound moving man, testified that he retired from the scene of battle as "Maxon began to get rough," and from the back yard through a window watched the young man while he "hit Paynter with a chair and knocked him down, hit him three times with the chair while he was down and then kicked him."

Divorce Racket In Mexico Ended

Supreme Court Rules Decrees Without Personal Service Are Invalid.

Mexico City, Feb. 3 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A decision of the Supreme Court of Mexico made public today marks the end of the easy divorce racket which has been flourishing in Yucatan, Cuernavaca and Sonora. The lucrative business of obtaining Mexican divorces by mail, operated from New York, Paris and London, took the count at the same time.

The supreme court ruled that decrees granted without personal service on the defendant lacked validity. The decision was handed down in connection with a divorce granted in Morelos to a Mexican whose wife failed to read in a local newspaper the notice of the suit against her. The court held that this manner of notification violated the law.

The personal service hereafter necessary to satisfy the supreme court must, in the case of foreigners or Mexicans resident in a foreign country, be attested to by the Mexican diplomatic representative in that country. Acceptance of service must be transmitted to the court through the ministry of foreign affairs.

New Trial Denied To Maj. Shepard

Doctor, Accused of Slaying Wife, Makes Appeal Bond of $20,000.

Topeka, Kans., Feb. 3 (A.P.).—An appeal taken immediately after denial of a motion for a new trial tonight was all that stood between Maj. Charles A. Shepard and the beginning of a life prison term for the poison murder of his second wife.

Judge Richard J. Hopkins in Federal District Court late today overruled citations by defense counsel of alleged error in the conduct of the trial of the Army medical officer, and imposed the sentence specified by a jury last December 22, when Shepard was convicted. Judge Hopkins set appeal bond at $20,000. Shepard gave the bond and was released. The defense was allowed 90 days in which to perfect the appeal.

Shepard, alleged to have killed his wife because of his love for Miss Grace Brandon, San Antonio, Tex., stenographer, stood apparently unmoved as sentence was pronounced. Earlier he had said "we have just begun to fight."

Taxi Stands Increased; Others Made Larger

Because of the increasing number of taxicabs and other licensed public vehicles, the District Commissioners yesterday increased the capacity of some of the existing stands and provided new ones in accordance with the recommendations of Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police.

Six new stands are provided in the order, while the capacities of eight others was enlarged.

The petition will likely be filed in the District Supreme Court within the next two days.

12 Hurt in Blast Aboard Submarine

Second Explosion in Two Years Disables $5,000,000 British Vessel.

Chatham, England, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—The British submarine X-1, one of the world's largest undersea craft, was for the second time in two years the scene of an explosion today. Twelve of the crew were injured, two of them being seriously burned.

The explosion happened 20 miles north of Sheerness in the Edinburgh channel. The piston of the port engine jammed and a cylinder exploded. The X-1 returned to port under her own power.

The X-1 is 350 feet long, of 3,000 tons displacement and carries 131 officers and men. She was built in 1921 and cost more than $5,000,000. The first explosion occurred in 1929 at Malta. No one then was injured.

Soviet Newspaper Hits Plans of Fish

Pravda Ridicules Idea of U. S. Agents Studying Labor Conditions.

Moscow, Feb. 4 (A.P.).—The newspaper Pravda, which a year ago probably would have denounced the United States in commenting on such a proposal as that made by Representative Hamilton Fish for an investigation of charges of forced labor in Russia, today had only ridicule for the project.

Recalling the explorations of Columbus, today's article said: "We need no expedition to study the life and habits of the American savage. We know this paleface tribe living on the prairies of New York and Washington and we know their warriors—Fish, Whalen and the others. They don't scare us."

Pravda was the only important newspaper commenting on the proposal which did not say flatly that American investigators would not be admitted to Russia.

Zoning Change Pleas Will Be Heard Today

STOCK MART'S RISE HOLDS IN DULL DAY

Strength in Film, Steel and Utility Issues Acts as Aid to Other Lists.

HUDSON AUTO SLUMPS 2

New York, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—A recovery by United States Government securities and firmer prices for corn and wheat provided the background for another last-hour rally in stocks today.

Although indifferent to liquidation in a few issue, the market dragged along dolefully most of the day. Until midafternoon activity was even smaller than yesterday and fluctuations in the pivotal stocks were confined to the minor fractions. Motion pictures, steels and utilities came to life sufficiently in the late dealings to improve the tone of other sections. Net gains averaged about half a point in a turnover of 1,200,000 shares.

Revival of interest in some of the pool stocks suggested that professional traders believed a sold-out condition had developed in the general list. Auburn Auto rallied 5 before losing half its rise. Worthington Pump gained more than 4 and Vanadium was active at higher levels.

American Telephone Gains.

American Telephone, Woolworth, Eastman, New York Central, North American and Union Carbide improved a point, net, but the advances over the Monday close in U. S. Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas, Bethlehem Steel, Radio, Montgomery Ward and National Biscuit amounted only to about half a point. In the amusement group, Warner Brothers, Loew's, Fox, Paramount and Radio-Keith held gains of 1 to 1½.

Weakness was confined to less than half a dozen shares. Hudson's unfavorable earnings statement, showing 20 cents a share for 1930 against $7.26 in 1929, broke the stock 2 points to the lowest quotation for the present issue.

Uncertainty over the dividends of Rock Island and St. Louis, San Francisco Railroads directed considerable pressure against both stocks, the latter losing 3.

Rock Island Off Slightly.

Rock Island's loss of more than 2 was reduced to a fraction when it was reported that the present $7 rate might be retained. Directors of both roads meet tomorrow, but it is possible that dividend action in each case will be postponed until March, by which time the traffic outlook may have been better defined. Frisco, which now pays $8 annually, earned $4.08 last year, and Rock Island $5.56.

The upturn in Libertys and Treasury certificates was accomplished on a substantial volume of business in several issues, and this reversal of trend assisted other sections of the bond market. Although the apparent change in sentiment gratified investment banking circles, it was pointed out that bonds would doubtless continue to be unsettled by the bonus question.

The 1-cent drop in silver to 27⅛ cents an ounce was one of the day's disquieting developments, and although it passed unnoticed by the security markets, there were further reactions in foreign exchanges based on that metal. Weakness in silver is attributed in large measure to sales by China, which is forced to purchase gold exchange with a rapidly depreciating currency.

Bankers' Acceptance Rates Cut.

Bankers' acceptance rates were cut one-eighth of 1 per cent, thus reverting to the basis of a week ago. In London, however, there was another rise in bill rates and also an advance in call money, which resulted in a short improvement by sterling. The stronger money markets in London have drawn an increased supply of foreign funds there, to the advantage of British exchange and the Bank of England's gold reserve.

Bullish weather in the Southwest and better export business in Canada lifted Chicago wheat and the July delivery closed 1⅜ higher. Corn firmed 1½ to 1¾ cents in response to small receipts and estimates of low farm stocks. Cotton gained nominally, 1 to 6 points.

Aside from the strength in sterling—cables advanced 3-16—European exchanges were quiet, although firm. The guilder and German mark rallied slightly.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—All grains darted upward today, impelled by drought reports and by authoritative estimates that feed use of wheat has been much larger than supposed. With forecasts giving no promise of rain or snow, wheat finished at almost the day's top level, and corn rivaled wheat, although summerlike weather has heretofore been construed as enabling feeders to economize corn. A leading unofficial authority estimated that domestic disappearance of wheat for six months was 60,000,000 bushels in excess of last year.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to 1⅜ up, corn showing 1½ to 2 cents advance, oats ⅜ to ⅞ gain, and provisions at 10 cents decline to a rise of 2.

Except 1 inch of snow at Devils Lake, N. Dak., the official map of the American grain belt gave no evidence of any fresh supply of moisture. From everywhere else came messages telling of rainless skies and temperatures above normal. France and Argentina also reported unfavorable crop conditions, but in each of these countries the difficulty was excessive rain, and the advices from France said seed in the ground had been rotted by prolonged wet weather. Falling-off in United States wheat primary receipts was also noted, reducing the total to about the same as a year ago. In addition, Winnipeg said export business was good.

Unusual scarcity of offerings of new crop deliveries of wheat startled traders who of late have been acting on belief that the market was going lower. The scarcity continued throughout the greater part of the day, even with prices up more than 2 cents a bushel in some cases, and at the highest point since January 15. Announcement of 3,585,000 bushels increase of the world's available stocks, making the total 15,000,000 bushels more than at this time last year, was completely ignored.

Corn, oats and rye borrowed strength from wheat, but responded also to a sharp decrease in primary receipts of corn to 626,000 bushels, a total only half as large as a year ago. Corn arrivals in Chicago amounted to but 60 cars, against 169 a year ago.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May (offers), 82⅛, July, 67⅜, 69¼; September, 66⅛, 68⅛. Corn, March (bids), 63⅝; May, 65¼@65⅜, 67⅛@67¼; July, 66⅜, 68¼@68⅜; September, 66⅛, 67⅞.

A $6,000,000
CASH RESERVE FUND
—your second line of defense

THE 28 great companies included in Corporate Trust Shares have surpluses totaling over six billions of dollars. This makes for stability of return for holders of Corporate Trust Shares in respect to that part of their distributions which comes from regular cash dividends on the underlying stocks.

But Corporate Trust Share distributions also include the proceeds from sale of such rights, stock dividends and extra shares from split-ups as may be declared from time to time by the 28 companies. And while the history of these companies, taken as a group, reveals a surprising regularity of such extras, the curtailment of business which takes place from time to time brings a temporary reduction in the extras.

Against this temporary decline in distributions, holders of Corporate Trust Shares have a second line of defense—a cash reserve fund maintained with the independent trustee. From this fund withdrawals are made to make up the difference between total distributions paid on the stocks and the base distribution rate of 70c per share per year, just as a bank account is drawn on by an individual to supplement income in times of stress. As of December 31, 1930, this fund amounted to $6,483,000—an amount calculated to be sufficient to protect, but not so large as to be a burden.

The reserve fund is always at work. In prosperous times it is earning interest for the shareholder; in the rare periods of adversity it is protecting his return. It is one of many features, inherently fair to the investor, that have created wide-spread popularity for Corporate Trust Shares.

U. S. GOVERNMENT BONDS SCORE RISE

PERUVIANS AGAIN LOSE

New York, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Disturbed for more than a week by the steady depreciation in the quoted value of United States Government securities, the bond market derived a crumb or two of consolation from the modest rally today.

Advances ranging from 3-16ths to ½ point were registered by Government securities, marking the first improvement since the decline set in about ten days ago. While many bankers feel that price movement in Governments will not be stabilized until Congress disposes of the soldier bonus, the price rise did tend to loosen the purse strings of some investors. It was reflected in the improved tone of domestic bonds which closed irregularly higher.

Conditions in the money market are strongly favorable to further advances in bond prices in the opinion of bankers who look for a resumption of the rise halted by the liquidation in Governments if the soldiers' bonus proposals are disposed of without creating new obstacles for seasoned obligations.

While the market for Governments remains very thin and shaky, according to traders, there was sufficient interest on the buying side today to stimulate an advance. Treasury 4¼s, which have dropped nearly 4 points in a week, closed ½ point higher. The 4s and 3⅜s of 1940-43, gained ⅝s each, and 3⅜s of '43-'47 sold 4/32 higher. Treasury 3¾s, the most active issue, with a turnover of more than $700,000, gained ⅜, but closed unchanged. Liberties were a little better also.

There was a total absence of nearby bids for offerings of Peruvian obligations, precipitating a further sharp drop. Peru 7s declined 8 points, to 42, and the first and second 6s each lost 5½. All closed at new lows for recent years. Bolivians declined 2 to 4. European bonds were firm. German 5½s gained ¾, and Europeans generally were firm.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Feb 3 (A.P.).—The Atlantic Pipe Line Co. has taken over the properties of the Gulf Coast Pipe Line Co. in the Refugio Oil Field in Texas. The consideration was said to have been approximately $4,000,000. Involved in the deal was a 28-mile pipe line from Refugio to Harbor Island near Port Aransas, tank farms and gathering facilities. At Refugio and terminal facilities, about $750,000 worth of crude oil in storage passed to the Atlantic.

The Reichsbank statement as of January 31 shows the following changes in reichsmarks: Gold and bullion decreased 130,000; reserve in foreign currencies increased 3,823,000; bills of exchange and cheques increased 362,478,000; silver and other coins decreased 35,467,000; notes on other banks decreased 18,197,000; advances increased 104,896,000; investments decreased 1,000; other assets increased 29,088,000; notes in circulation increased 627,453,000; other maturing obligations decreased 188,240,000; other liabilities increased 7,275,000. Total gold holdings 2,244,228,000. Rate of discount 5 per cent.

The American Brass Co. today reduced prices of brass and copper material one-quarter of a cent a pound. A leading smelter in the Chicago district also reduced ingot brass prices ⅛ to ¼ of a cent a pound.

Some improvement in the business situation in January is noted by the review published by the Bank of America N. A., but adds that "everything seems to indicate that recovery will be a long gradual affair." It notes that "a greater degree of stability in prices which has been apparent in several of the major commodity markets has helped confidence and buying for nearby requirements has shown a slight gain."

The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 24,650 barrels for the week ended January 31, totaling 2,085,950 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. Curb Review

New York, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—The curb list struggled a little higher in the last hour of trading today, after feeble and ineffectual fluctuations during the earlier hours of trading.

Trading was extremely light until the last hour, and total sales were only 250,000 shares, or 90,000 less than yesterday's. The ticker almost went to sleep at its job, as there were long halts in the movement of the tape.

Several of the utility shares developed a firm tone. Utilities Power & Light was a strong feature, moving up a point along with some big board issues enjoying the same sponsorship. Insull Utility Investment and American Gas & Electric made similar gains in lighter trading, and Electric Bond & Share, United Light & Power A and Middle West Utilities were among issues closing fractionally higher. Public utility holding was uninfluenced by failure of directors to act on the dividend, and closed at 7¼, up ⅛. Associated Gas A eased ½.

In the industrial and specialty group, Deere, Western Air Express and Aluminum Co. of America gained a point or two. Mead, Johnson gained 2 points, in response to preliminary 1930 earnings statement showing $9.40 a share, against $7.03 in 1929. Ainsworth Manufacturing sold off only a fraction on omission of the dividend.

Oils moved narrowly. Cities Service was up a fraction, Indiana off a fraction, and Standard of Ohio up 1 in a few odd-lot transactions.

CORPORATION BUYS ELECTRIC CONCERNS

LIST 9,300 CUSTOMERS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Acquisition of all properties and holdings of Empire Public Service Corporation in Maryland and Delaware, as well as certain properties in Virginia, was announced yesterday by Harry Reid, president of National Public Service Corporation, an Eastern unit in the Middle West Utilities System.

The transaction is reported as involving purchase of all preferred and common stock of the Maryland Light & Power Co., all physical property of the East Coast Utilities Co. in Delaware and a portion of that company's holdings near Cape Charles, Va. The newly acquired companies have 9,300 electric customers and gross revenues of $700,000 a year.

Operating revenues of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Baltimore City for December amounted to $1,210,210, the report of operations just filed with the Maryland Public Service Commission shows. Expenses during the month were $970,777, making net telephone revenues $239,433, which was $3,993 under the net revenues for November and $29,223 under December of last year.

American Ice Employes.

Although the ice business is largely seasonal, the American Ice Co., according to President Charles C. Small, has been able to stabilize employment conditions among its working forces to the point whereby over 3,000 of its employes out of a total of 4,500 during the summer period are able to have year-round employment at normal rates of pay.

In Washington, the company is keeping approximately 260 men steadily employed this winter, out of a total of some 350 employed during the past summer. American Ice and its subsidiaries operate in the larger cities along the North Atlantic seaboard.

Convention Committee Aids.

Frederick P. H. Siddons, general chairman of the 1931 convention committee of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, yesterday announced appointment of the following members of the publicity and press committee, in addition to the chairman, C. H. Jacobson, National Metropolitan Bank, and vice chairman, T. Hunton Leith, Security Savings & Commercial Bank, previously announced: Eliot H. Thomson, publicity manager, Washington Loan & Trust Co.; H. T. Bisselle, assistant cashier, Riggs National Bank; Richard Hatton, financial editor, Washington Herald; Edward C. Stone, financial editor, Evening Star; Jack Nevin, jr., financial editor, Washington Times; Thomas M. Cahill, financial editor, Washington Post.

It will be of interest to the many friends of Charles B. Rollins, widely known in investment circles, to learn that he is now associated with the banking house of Alexander Brown & Sons. Mr. Rollins, a native of Fredericksburg, Va., is 35 years old. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia, class of 1916. His experience in the securities business dates from 1924, during which time he has been connected with Stein Bros. & Boyce and E. H. Rollins & Sons.

A resident of Virginia, Mr. Rollins has retained membership in the Mansfield Hall Country Club in Fredericksburg and the Belle Haven Country Club in Alexandria. He is also a member of the Bond Club of Washington. He will be remembered as the medalist of the District of Columbia Bankers Association convention golf tournaments at Hot Springs in 1927 and again at Montauk Point, N. Y., the following year. In both these years he was also the winner of the Shannon Cup. The firm with which Mr. Rollins is associating himself is the oldest banking house in the United States. It was founded in Baltimore in 1800.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Opening declines of 2 or 3 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables were followed by steadiness in cotton today on further trade buying and covering, particularly in the near months. May contracts sold up from 10.60 to 10.70 and closed at 10.69 with the general market closing steady at net advances of 1 to 6 points.

The opening was steady, 2 to 3 points lower, under selling which appeared to be influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables and the weakness of silver. There was some spot house selling of May and July at the start, supposedly against purchases of spot cotton in the South, as well as further scattering liquidation on realizing by recent buyers. Offerings were quite readily absorbed, particularly in the near months, by trade buying, while there was some covering and commission house buying in the later deliveries. Offerings were light after the initial selling had run its course, and the market worked up a few points during the day on covering promoted by steadiness in graints and stocks.

March liquidation was much less in evidence than recently and late months were relatively quiet with differences narrowing somewhat. At the close March was 93 points under December compared with 96 at the close of the previous day and 100 points at the close of Saturday. March sold up to 10.45 and closed at 10.41, while July advanced from 10.84, the low price of the morning, to 10.94, and closed at 10.92.

Liverpool cables said the market there had declined under hedge selling and scattered liquidation, but reported a fair business in cotton cloths for future delivery.

According to the New York Cotton Exchange, service stocks of Indian cotton in India have been reduced to a level substantially lower than one year or two years ago, and the strengthening of the statistical position there may possibly have encouraged some buying on the rally from the opening decline in the local market. There was some comment on reports that rain was needed to put a good season in the ground in some parts of the cotton belt, which, however, evidently failed to stimulate interest in the new crop positions. Exports today, 44,131, making 4,576,709 so far this season. Port receipts, 27,207; U. S. port stocks, 4,041,083.

Statement Issued By 12 Farm Banks

New York, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—The twelve Federal intermediate banks during 1930 loaned $218,974,131, the largest volume of business since their creation in 1923 under the agricultural credit act, Charles R. Dunn, fiscal agent, reported today.

Loans to farmers' cooperative marketing organizations amounted to $109,927,063, compared with $43,587,600 during the previous year, while discounts of farmers notes given to local lending institutions totaled $109,047,068, compared with $94,667,000 in 1929. During 1930 a total of $197,925,000 in debentures was sold, against $115,715,000 in the previous year.

"Due to the decline in deposits of country banks," the report said, "the Federal intermediate banks have been called upon to supplement the local credit facilities in many areas in order to take care of the legitimate requirements of agriculture."

Return Privileges Hit by Merchants

Baltimore and Wheeling Men Named Directors by Dry Goods Group.

New York, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—A modification of the old slogan, "The customer is always right," was suggested to the National Retail Dry Goods Association today by Harry W. Schacter, of Louisville, Ky. With conditions as they are "a store must assert itself where it is in the right," he said, "and refuse to allow customers to take advantage of the return privilege, as so many of them do."

George V. Sheridan, director of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, warned that sales taxing to raise public revenue is a growing menace to the country's merchants.

New directors elected today included: Albert F. Hutzler, Hutzler Bros. & Co., Baltimore, Md.; Samuel N. Halle, Halle Bros., Cleveland; James E. Jones, Crowley Milner & Co., Detroit; R. P. Connolly, the Emporium, San Francisco; Harold Wendell, Lipman, Wolfe & Co., Portland, Oreg.; Leon Mandell, Mandell Bros., Chicago, and J. B. Jones, Stone & Thomas, Wheeling, W. Va.

TECH AND CENTRAL EKE OUT VICTORIES IN SERIES

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—News of a most sinister nature is at hand from Miami, Fla., where the boys are trying to promote a couple of winter prize fights. Frank Bruen of the Miami horsetrack plans to present Primo Carnera and Jimmy Maloney in a revival of their act which scored quite a high note on the cash registers in Boston last fall. Pa Stribling, in collaboration with the Madison Square Garden firm of New York, is proceeding with arrangements to reopen the Garden's branch store for one night only with a slashing contest between Johnny Risko, the stale gingerbread man, and Mickey Walker.

However, there are not really sufficient customers in Florida to support one prize fight in the customary style and the Garden firm's decision to split this patronage by moving in first with a counter-attraction has aroused resentment on Mr. Bruen's side. Mr. Bruen selected March 5 as his date and Pa Stribling has decided that February 24 would be a nice evening for his presentation. Mr. Bruen hired his fighters and named his date first.

AL CAPONE INFLUENCE HINTED

Intimations are now being conveyed that Alphonse Capone is a friend of Bruen's and will regard any attempt on the part of the Garden and Pa Stribling to anticipate Bruen's production as an act of muscling. Mr. Capone's method of dealing with those who muscle in on his territorial rights is well known, and dispatches from Florida of the kind known as inspired suggest that vigorous steps will be taken by Mr. Capone to impress the intruders with the sanctity of territorial rights.

These dispatches do not go so far as to say that the branch store will be blown up together with the customers, but it is implied that Mr. Jack Kearns, the manager of Mickey Walker, might be taken down with a serious case of broken leg unless he should decide to withdraw his gladiator. Broken leg never develops gradually but occurs overnight. Or there might be a case of spontaneous combustion in the Garden firm's wooden arena some night before February 24. This would not be at all surprising, as the arena is made of Southern pine, which is highly inflammable and likely to start burning on its own initiative or with very little encouragement at any time, but especially so at a time when muscling is going on and resentment is rife.

WILL CAREY URGED TO DESIST

In addition to the dispatches, there has been an expensive telephone call, collect, to Mr. Will Carey, the president of the Garden, from a sincere friend in Florida, urging him to reconsider the rash plan if only on the ground that two exhibition bouts on Pa Stribling's program, by Max Schmeling and William Stribling, will tend to incriminate and degrade the Schmeling-Stribling contest in Chicago next summer

Mr. Carey quickly disavowed responsibility for the production in Florida, insisting that his firm had merely leased the branch store for February 24. But he is deeply puzzled about the matter of the territorial rights. It was his impression that these rights belonged to the Garden on the ground of discovery, settlement and cash subsidy, but of course he does not wish to argue them with any one so obdurate and impulsive as Alphonse Capone. Moreover, his naturally open and trustful disposition is troubled by suspicion regarding the sincerity of his sincere friend who is also a sincere friend of Mr. Bruen.

"I do not like to entertain suspicions of people's motives," says Mr. Carey, "but the prize fighting business is very confusing at times. I often sit quietly and ask myself what it is all about. One sportsman tells me one thing and another sportsman looks me in the eye and tells me that the first one had an angle and was trying to mislead me. Then another one tells me that they both had angles and both distorted the facts. Why do people try to deceive me all the time?"

Only a few weeks ago when Mr. James Bronson asked Mr. Carey what he thought of Schmeling and Stribling he replied, "Well, to be perfectly frank with you, I never schmell nor strible." And it was just last week that, becoming exasperated by the criticism of his boxing matches in the New York papers, he called one of the experts before him and, with the severe manner of an executive admonishing a subordinate, said: "I warn you that I will stand just so much criticism."

Slower Ball Adopted in National

Opening Date Set for April 14; Early Finish Scheduled.

By ORLO ROBERTSON.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Major league baseball as exemplified by Hack Wilson and Babe Ruth, the home run twins, was curtailed in the National League today with the announcement that the 1931 ball to be used in the senior circuit will have a thicker cover and heavier stitch.

The ball, designed as an answer to the cry for fewer extra base hits, not only is expected to be a trifle slower, but will furnish the pitcher a chance for a better grip. In addition, the stitches will not be counterset. No change was made, however, in the size, or center of the ball, the former being regulated by a joint major league agreement.

No Opportunity to Veto Change.

League president and owners in session at the Hotel Commodore had no opportunity to reject or approve the new ball, as they were merely informed by President John A. Heydler of the new ball designed for the league's use by the manufacturing company which furnishes the balls.

"The idea of a heavier stitch goes back several years," said President Heydler. "Before the present core was placed in the ball, the heavy, raised stitch was used by both leagues."

The new ball will be used during the regular season, but probably will be given a trial by the National League clubs during their spring training games.

Earliest Closing Date In 22 Years.

Although not shortening the playing season, the schedule adopted by the circuit heads calls for the earliest closing date in 22 years, September 27. The opening date of April 14 remains the same as last year.

"The September 27 closing date is even earlier than in 1919, when only 144 games were played," said President Heydler.

In accord with a recent decree calling for everybody on the playing field to be in uniform, the league ruled that the home club must furnish a uniformed bat boy for the visiting club.

Old Line Frosh Five Beats Emerson, 39-15

Maryland University Freshmen tossers yesterday turned in their seventh straight victory at Colleeg Park when they trounced the Emerson Institute tossers to the tune of 39 to 15. The Old Liners led all the way, holding Emerson to three points in the first half while they registered 20 themselves.

Vincent, with 12 points, led both teams in scoring.

Marine Dribblers Defeat Fort Myer

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., Feb. 3.—The Quantico Marines defeated their ancient rivals, the Fort Myer Basket Ball Team, here this afternoon before 500 enthusiastic fans by the score of 36 to 31.

It was a second half drive which placed the verdict in the hands of the Marines, both teams having amassed 19 points at the half whistle.

Connell and Williams, with 21 points between them, were the aces for the Marine outfit, while Fitzpatrick, center for the losers, led both teams by scoring 16 counters.

Fred Dawson Will Coach At Virginia

His Team Twice Beat Undefeated Notre Dame Elevens.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 3.—Fred Dawson, for four years head coach of football and dean of men at the University of Nebraska and more recently coach at Denver University, has been selected by the athletic council of the University of Virginia to coach the gridiron team, James G. Driver, athletic director, announced tonight.

The new Cavalier coach will succeed Earl Abell, former Colgate all-American, who resigned during the Christmas holidays. He will come to Charlottesville during March to meet the men who will compose his squad and to have a week of practice and conference with them.

Mr. Dawson received his baccalaurate degree from Princeton in 1910 and two years later obtained a master of arts degree from Union College. At Union he was coach of football, basket ball and baseball from 1912 through 1916, when he established a record for victories that still stands.

Coached at Princeton And Columbia.

In 1917 he went back to Princeton. All but freshman athletics were suspended during the war period, but Mr. Dawson had the satisfaction of defeating the Yale freshmen in the first football game that any Princeton team had won from Yale in five years. For the next two years he was coach of football at Columbia, just after the gridiron sport was revived at the New York institution.

Mr. Dawson went to Nebraska in 1921 and during his first season won from Pop Warner's Pittsburgh eleven 10-0. Mr. Warner has often classed the '21 Nebraska team as one of the three best elevens he ever saw. That year Notre Dame defeated Nebraska, 7-0.

Then in two Thanksgiving games the Notre Dame team, which had come through the season until the end of November undefeated in a Nation-wide sweep of victories, the Nebraska gridders, coached by Mr. Dawson, gave the telegraph wires hot news by defeating the Four Horsemen. Stung by defeats in two successive years the Rockne players turned on the Corn Huskers and won in 1924.

Developed Winners At Denver U.

Bad health forced Mr. Dawson to the Colorado mountains in 1924 and the next fall he took light coaching work at Denver University. From 1925 through 1928 he had full charge of the Denver teams and developed the football situation there so that what had been a tail-ender was up in the running all the time.

Mr. Dawson retired from active coaching in 1929, but he has kept in close touch with the gridiron game through the last two seasons. He recently announced his desire to take up coaching again and was engaged by Virginia late today from a host of applicants.

CAMPBELL'S SPEED TEST DELAYED

By TED GILL.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 3 (A.P.).—High wind and poor visibility on the ocean speedway here today combined to prevent Capt. Malcolm Campbell, British race car driver, from making an official attempt to lower the world's land speed record of 231 miles an hour, but he claimed his huge motor car reached a speed of 260 miles an hour in an exhibition run.

After definitely calling off an official record trial, he made one exhibition run over the 9-mile course at an average speed of 194 miles an hour, despite the adverse conditions. Before entering the measured mile, Campbell claimed he attained the speed of 260 miles an hour, but that his machine slipped out of gear and he was forced to coast over the mile in neutral.

A cold wind blew out of the North all day and whipped white sand from the dunes out over the course, which made steering difficult. Campbell said that during his run he couldn't tell whether he was on his regular course or up near the soft sand close to the Dunes.

The visibility also was extremely bad and a light drizzle of rain fell at intervals. Beach conditions were ideal, however. Campbell said they were the best he had ever seen them.

Hundreds of spectators lined the 9-mile course to watch Campbell's exhibition run in his 1,450-horsepower Blue Bird.

Low tide tomorrow occurs about 3 p. m. (Eastern standard time), and Campbell said he hoped weather conditions would improve sufficiently to permit an official attempt to lower the record at that time.

He expressed confidence in the ability of his car to break the world's straight-away mark, which was established here in 1929 by the late Sir Henry Segrave, also of England.

C. U. DEFEATS TECH, 6 TO 1, IN BOUTS

Cardinals Score 3 Knockouts After Losing Opener.

CATHOLIC University's boxing team introduced itself to the Washington public last night with a smashing victory over the pugilists of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, winning six bouts to one, before an admiring audience of 3,000 sprinkled liberally with figures in evening dress that lent a drawing-room touch to the resined atmosphere.

The victory of the Cardinals assumed sweeping proportions after the first match of the program when Carl Orleman, Tech 115-pounder, pounded out a three-round decision over Joe Unsworth, Catholic bantamweight. Thereafter the evening was Catholic University's, as the Cardinal fighters in every weight fashioned victories over their foes from oBston, piling up three technical knockouts with only a forfeit in the heavyweight class marring the completeness of their efforts.

The night's fighting started comparatively tamely with the first three victories awarded on decisions, but a succession of three knockouts started with the 145-pound fray when Frank Stines stopped Bob Thompson in two rounds in the match which clinched the victory for the Cardinal team.

VIRGINIA RING TEAM BEATS FLORIDA

3,000 Record Crowd Sees Cavaliers Win 5 Bouts of 7.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 3. Florida's boxers, champions of the Southern Conference, struck a snag here tonight in their season's debut, Virginia's leather pushers taking five of the seven bouts before a record gallery, to give them a tie at 2-all in their four meetings with the Gators.

The Cavaliers registered victories in the feather, light, welter, light-heavy and heavyweight divisions. The decision in the middleweight bout was a puzzle to the 3,000 fans, who thought very much like one of the judges, who gave all three rounds to the Virginia entry, Reiss.

Virginia was credited with three knockouts, two of them technical. Zoller, of Florida, former pupil at Staunton Military Academy, stood up before Bobby Goldstein, Washington lad, for two rounds, but succumbed in the third.

Capt. Rainey, of Virginia, welterweight champion of the conference, was the master of Whitaker at all times and sent the Gator representative down for the count midway the third round.

2-Year-Old Unseats Capital Rider; To Idle for Weeks.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Ray ("Sonny") Workman's jinx caught up with the popular little Washington, D. C., jockey today, and as the result America's 1930 ranking jockey will be out of the saddle for several weeks, and probably the remainder of the winter season.

A sudden swerve by W. S. Kilmer's Suntica, the favorite in the juvenile race at Hialeah Park, Miami, sent "Sonny" Workman sprawling on the turf with a fractured leg. He made a complete somersault and landed with his left leg twisted under him.

To day was not the first time that the brilliant contract rider for C. V. Whitney has been seriously injured. Four years ago he was smashed up in an automobile crash while en route to the Bowie, Md., race track. He insisted on filling his riding engagements, however, and went on to win a dash on Mrs. Ann Burton's Battle Shot.

GAMES FRIDAY.

Eastern vs. Business.
Western vs. Central.

Winners Rally After Losing Leads in Final Stages.

Principals to Defer Action on Ineligibility Case.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

WHILE Eastern remained aloof from the din of the high school basket ball series yesterday, the other four teams who hover below the leaders in the standings battled in two of the bitterest battles Tech's Gym has been subjected to this year, and when order was retsored, well after dark, it was observed that Tech had beaten Western by the unkind margin of 32 to 30 and Central had beaten a luckless and Lucasless Business High Team by the score of 28 to 24.

Both games were won in memorable fashion, both had finishing touches which might have done credit to an inspired scenario writer. As a result, Western is toppled out of all chance to finish in the money and Business must be content with a third-place tie with Central. Tech, on the other hand, rose up ominously close to Eastern and Central improved its lie notably.

Principals Defer Decision on Game.

While Central was beating Business yesterday Allen Davis, chairman of the board of high school principals, ruled that no special meeting of principals would be called to consider the Tech-Central case which arose last week over Tech's use of Everett Johnson, an ineligible player. Mr. Davis pointed to the many duties of the principals and stated that unless special insistence is brought to bear the matter will not be considered until February 14, the next regular meeting of the board. The series ends on February 10.

With the return to shooting form of Everett Russell, Tech swept over Western from the start of their game up to the point where there were but four minutes left of the game. Tech led by 6-3 after a safe and sane first period. The play quickened perceptibly in the second quarter, but again Tech was master at 13-9 as the gun exploded.

MARYLAND U. FIVE BEATS GENERALS

W.-L. Outplayed All the Way in Taking 28-17 Licking.

STUNG by a surprising defeat at the hands of Virginia Monday night, Maryland University's basket ball team ran wild last night at Ritchie Gymnasium and subjugated the crack Washington and Lee Generals by the score of 28 to 17 before a capacity house of fans.

Maryland hopped off to a lead before two minutes of the game had ticked away and never relinquished its hold on the visitors. Maryland's zone defense play was never more airtight, the heretofore sharpshooting Generals being unable to score a single goal from the floor in the entire first half. The Old Liners were on their toes at all times and squelched innumerable attacks on their goal.

Generals Scoreless From Floor In First Half.

The score stood 12 to 5 at the half, all of Washington and Lee's tallies coming from the charity stripe.

Maryland held the invaders scoreless for three minutes of the second half before Jarrett, Washington and Lee forward, came through with a long shot. On top of this Cox, Jarrett's running mate, was expelled from the game and the team play of the Lexingtonians exploded all over the place.

SONNY WORKMAN BREAKS LEG IN SPILL AT MIAMI

Riding Star Unseated by 2-Year-Old

Noted Capital Jockey May Be Idle for Winter Season.

Filly Swerves Sharply, Catapulting Boy to Ground.

Mary for "Sarge" Swenke at Havre de Grace. A year later, at Saratoga, he was knocked out of saddle competition for two weeks when hit in the eye with a baseball.

Today's mishap came when the filly swerved sharply about half way down the course and Workman was catapulted out of the saddle. As the boy struck the track his left leg crumpled up under him. Fortunately, he escaped the flying hoofs of the other juveniles, which also were swerving badly. George Cassidy, in the starter's wagon, was first to reach him, and picked him up from the track. Then the track ambulance came and after a hurried examinations by the track physician the boy was taken to the Jackson Memorial Hospital.

TOODOO PESAMO -aged 12- ATE 10 LARGE BLACKBERRY PIES IN 10 MINUTES — San Francisco — 1930

"WATER, water, everywhere, and not a drop to drink," certainly applies to the coral island of Nangone. If some one had not discovered a fresh water spring bubbling from the ocean's floor near the island Nangone would be a poor place to live. Natives dive to the spring and catch the fresh water in bags before it has a chance to mix with the salt water of the ocean.

Toodoo Pesamo ran roughshod over all competitors in a recent pie-eating contest held in San Francisco, when he consumed ten good-sized pies in less than ten minutes. His nearest rival fell out of the race when he had finished but three. Young Pesamo won a similar contest last year, but at that time he was only able to put away five pies. You see what "training" will really do. Incidentally, first prize was another pie!

In the little town of Kurma stands the only apple tree in the region of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. Therefore it maybe that this is the original tree that "brought about the downfall of man." The tree is now barely more than an overgrown stump, and, of course, produces.

Any reader wanting further proof of anything depicted here should address John Hix, care of The Washington Post and inclose a stamped and self-addressed envelope for reply.

Boots and Saddles

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)

—Miami Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

DUE to the rainy weather Monday night, the track at Miami was changed into a sea of mud. The races yesterday were run over a sloppy course, and will, no doubt, be contested on a heavy track this afternoon. With the oval in poor condition for the first time in more than a week, mud runners are expected to splash over the heavy going to sudden victories.

The Tamiami Trail Handicap, feature event on the program, has attracted a small field of four of the leading 3-year-olds and upward to contest the issue over the mile course of the fifth race. REPLEVIN, a fast-stepping gelding in the M. Lowenstein string, has shown speed over a heavy track, and should outfoot this field. The son of Brown Princess II—Tanais is well suited by the conditions, despite his impost of 115 pounds. MOINE, from Westside Stable, is in receipt of 7 pounds from the top one and is favored for the runner-up position. SIDNEY GRANT would appreciate a longer route. RACCCOON, the remaining starter, appears outclassed in this field.

FIRST RACE—RUNINLITE, from the Mrs. M. Colford Stable, has raced creditably over a sloppy track and appears the class of this heat. JEFF O'NEILL finished second last outing, after a slow beginning, and should go as well here. QUAKER, the H. C. Phipps mud lark, is given the show call.

SECOND RACE — ABSURDITY, a clever nonwinner carrying the Keenland Stud silks, has displayed speed and should account for the purse. VOLCRY tired in her last attempt, and with that race as a conditioner is favored for the place. DON'T BLUSH broke in a tangle last start, and was never a factor. The California Stable's filly should get into the picture.

THIRD RACE—POUR BOIRE, a highly regarded 3-year-old in the Wheatley Stable, lost a nose decision to Christmas last start, and is expected to improve off that effort. The Wheatley maiden is selected to enter the winners circle in this company. HALF DAY, in the G. D. Widener string, is dropping two pounds off his last effort but the John P. Grier gelding may falter at the distance. LAUGHING BOY has shown a liking for slow going and should finish in the money.

FOURTH RACE—BLACK WATCH, a sterling performer owned by W. E. Martin, has shown a decided liking for the soft footing and should gain the honors. DR. PARRISH was beaten a head by BLACK WATCH in their last meeting under the same conditions, and is given the place call. HACKY H., from J. P. McGovern barn, won his last start over a fast track and may falter in the heavy going. However, the McGovern steed should save the minor prize.

SIXTH RACE—BORIS, a recent winner at this track, has reached the top of his form and judging from his impressive victory is favored to lead this field to the wire. JAMES M., a fleet mudrunner from the Thomas string, is given the place call. WESTERN PRINCESS, lightly weighted with 108 pounds, should account for the minor share of the purse.

"The Word 'SPIT' ...Conveys the Meaning"
Says
DR. G. E. MURPHY
Health Officer, Olympia, Washington

THURSTON COUNTY
WASHINGTON

DR. G. E. MURPHY HEALTH OFFICER

Olympia, Washington
September 9, 1930

The American Cigar Company
111 Fifth Avenue
New York, New York.

Gentlemen;

The commendable campaign against "spit-tipping" in the manufacture of cigars should receive the endorsement of all interested in the Public health.

The word "spit" is forceful, easily understood, and conveys the meaning intended.

Permission is given The American Cigar Company to make use of this letter.

Yours very truly

City Health Officer.
G E Murphy

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Murphy's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Murphy writes: "The ... campaign against 'spit-tipping' in the manufacture of cigars should receive the endorsement of all interested in the Public health."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it...Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Little Generals Find W. & M. Cubs Easy

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., Feb. 3.—Washington and Lee's freshmen cagers swamped the Norfolk division of William and Mary here tonight, 39 to 10, for the third victory in as many starts this season. Not until Coach Cy Young had replaced his regulars did the visitors find the basket. Sacks counted for a goal in the first few minutes and at the end of the third period the Generals led, 30 to 2. Joey Sawyers raked the basket for six field goals and four fouls to lead with 16 points. Hamburger stood out for the losers.

Western Elections, Laurel Guards Win

Special to The Washington Post.

Laurel, Md., Feb. 3.—Play in the Intercity Basket Ball League swung toward the midseason mark here tonight at the Laurel Armory when the Laurel Guard Five took a 35-23 decision over the Black Pirates, while the Western Electric tossers, of Washington, D. C., were swamping the Laurel Independents, 31-12.

The Guard-Pirate fracas was fast from start to finish, but Edmonston and Kaiser kept the Guards safely ahead at all times.

"And then what are you going to do?" the expert inquired.

MR. CAPONE VALUABLE SERVANT

If the present situation marks the beginning of an active supervision of the prize fight industry by Mr. Capone, I should say that the industry has acquired a valuable servant, with ideal qualifications to serve as the Will Hays or the Judge Landis of pugilism. Mr. Capone has an excellent knowledge of just what the public will stand and, unlike the various prize-fight commissions which have made ineffectual efforts to compel the boys to be nice, he is qualified to enforce his edicts, or else——

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

BOND FOR ALLEGED ROBBER IS $25,000

Paul M. Taylor Is Released as $2,500 Is Posted; T. A. Phillips Held.

LAUREL PAIR ARRAIGNED

Bond was set at $25,000 yesterday for Thomas A. Phillips, alleged Laurel jewelry store robber, when he was arraigned before Judge Thomas D. Griffith in the Marlboro Jail. His companion, Paul M. Taylor, was released on bond of $2,500.

The preliminary hearing, which resulted in holding both men for the action of the grand jury on charges of holdup and robbery, was held inside the jail. Usually prisoners are taken to the courthouse for this arrangement, but the desperate reputation of Phillips led to the decision to keep him behind locked doors.

The men were charged separately, and it is said that Phillips was not told the amount of Taylor's bond. Friends of Taylor arranged for his bail and he was released. Phillips' bail would cost $2,500 if made by a regular bondsman, and he is still in the jail.

The arraignment was a mere formality, as both men waived a hearing. Taylor's father and wife were present. Chief Deputy Tom Garrison said that Phillips boasted of seventeen robberies from Los Angeles to Florida, and quoted the prisoner as saying that he had never used a gun.

A third member of the gang, which held up the jewelry store last Wednesday, shot himself when cornered in a swamp along the Patuxent River. Phillips told police that he was from Los Angeles, while Taylor lives in Kensington, Md. Taylor claims that the crime last week is his first.

Henry St. James L. Briscoe, of Brandywine, Md., road clerk to the Board of County Commissioners of Prince Georges, was stricken with a heart attack while in the courthouse in Marlboro yesterday. While his condition was at first thought to be serious, he was reported last night as much improved.

Mr. Briscoe, who is in his 70s, has been road clerk for about four years. He was sitting in the office of Summerfield D. Hall when he complained of feeling faint, and he collapsed shortly afterward. Dr. James I. Boyd, of Forestville, was called, as well as the man's own physician, Dr. Jesse Shoup, of 200 Maryland avenue northeast. Dr. Shoup said that the heart attack was brought on by an attack of indigestion.

A decision to have the halls of the courthouse paved with red tile and the appointment of Charles Wilson as constable in the Riverdale district were the chief acts of the Board of County Commisioners at their meeting yesterday.

A report was received from the road board of Berwyn district advising against making Columbia and College avenues county roads, as had been asked by residents of that town. The board recommended that Dartmouth avenue from Calvert avenue to the Baltimore boulevard be taken over by the county.

An agreement was reached with the sheriff whereby he will pay premium on his bond over the legal amount of $10,000. The law provides that the sheriff shall be bonded for this sum, but Sheriff W. C. Hopkins desired the additional protection of a bond of $25,000 and agreed to pay the premium on this surplus.

A delegation from the White Marsh and Mitchellville Citizens Association, headed by David L. Shacklestein, appeared to ask the county to take over the road from Central avenue to the Defense highway by way of Woodmore. The delegation was told that recommendations to the State Roads Commission had already been made for 1931, and the appeal was filed for consideration next year. The road is about five miles long.

The commissioners then approved the installation of a phone in the tax assessor's office and adjourned to inspect the almshouse.

Pearl M. Hager, through her attorney, John S. White, filed a suit for limited divorce from Edwin S. Hager, jr., of Bradbury Heights, charging cruelty and desertion.

The couple was married in 1929, the petition states, and he deserted her shortly afterward. They have no children.

Another suit was filed by Frank G. Bauman, who wants an absolute divorce from Edna Bauman, of Washington. The couple was married in 1926, he says, and she deserted him in 1927. They have two children, Luradean, 4, and Charles, 2. He has Charles at present and asked the court to award him the girl.

Application blanks for Federal farm loans are now available at the office of the county farm agent in Marlboro, according to W. B. Posey, the agent. No loans in excess of $600 will be made, and 5 per cent is the interest rate. They will be secured by a promissory note and a mortgage on the 1931 crop.

Loans will not be made to farmers whose security is good at the local bank. Money will be granted for the purchase of seed, feed for work stock, fertilizers and fuel and oil for tractors. Feed for dairy cows is not included.

Deputy collectors of internal revenue will be at the following towns on the following dates to give assistance in making out income tax returns: Upper Marlboro, February 27; Hyattsville, February 28; Laurel, March 2.

George W. Giddons has been appointed town bailiff of Mount Rainier, which increases the town police force by one. There has been agitation for such an increase for some time. Giddons was appointed at a recent meeting of the council.

The council also decided to lay a new sidewalk from Thirty-third street to Eastern avenue along Rhode Island avenue. This will be done in the spring. It was also decided to buy 800 shade trees from the State forestry department for planting along the local streets. This will make a total of 1,600 trees in the town.

SCHOOLS AND ROADS BOOSTED IN BUDGET

COVERS NEW PROJECTS

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 3.—Liberal allotments to the State University and also to the public school system and the State Roads Commission are included in Gov. Ritchie's budget submitted to the General Assembly when it reconvened today for the fifth week of the 90-day biennial session.

The budget is for the fiscal years 1932 and 1933, and the governor asks a grand total of $71,488,727 to cover all departments of the State government for the two periods. The specific amount asked for 1932 is $34,815,312 and for 1933 $36,673,414, and, according to accounting, there will be a cash balance of $1,763,023 to the State's credit at the close of business September 30, 1933, the end of the fiscal period for which the budget was drawn.

Estimated revenues for the period covered by the budget amount to $34,243,802 in 1932 and $35,296,279 for 1933, with a balance of more than $3,000,000 estimated surplus available at the close of 1931 to be added to these totals to provide the $71,488,726 asked for the coming two years.

University Fund Analysis.

The State University was awarded $2,011,690 for 1932 and $1,983,177 for the following year. The increase of $212,335 for 1932 over 1930 was divided, $85,372 going to the Baltimore schools and the University Hospital, $20,000 to the schools at College Park, $1,000 to Princess Anne, $9,600 for agricultural research, $14,250 for agricultural and home economic extension, $34,646 for public service and regulatory funds and the balance an increase in students' fees which were reappropriated to the institutions.

Construction work, including the $2,000,000 for the University Hospital reconstruction and additional buildings at the College Park seat of the university are included in the general construction loan, the budget noted.

The greater part of the budget, with the exception of the itemized statements for each of the departments, was covered by the executive in his message to the General Assembly nearly a month ago, when he announced a construction program amounting to more than $6,000,000 to be carried out during the coming two-year period.

The State Highway Department, the public school system and the University of Maryland accounted for the largest single sums included in the budget.

Public School Budget.

Public schools, exclusive of the State University, were given $5,330,342 for 1932, and $5,566,050 for the following year, an increase of more than $500,000 over the years 1930 and 1931 covered in the budget passed by the 1929 session of the General Assembly.

The State Roads Commission came in for the biggest single allotments contained in the budget, with an expenditure of $12,550,638 estimated for 1932 and $13,645,811 for 1933.

Of the amount scheduled for expenditure in 1932, reconstruction and betterments took the largest slice, $3,568,221, and lateral road construction ranked next with an estimated expenditure of $3,303,842. Maintenance was listed for $2,740,437, post road construction at $1,052,000, bridge construction at an even $1,000,000 and grade crossing construction at $886,136. Reconstruction and betterments were listed at $4,133,548 in the figures for 1933, while lateral road construction came in for $3,716,822, maintenance at $2,746,536, post road construction, $1,052,000, bridge construction at $1,000,000, and grade crossing construction at $996,903.

The Legislature of 1933 was given $233,000 for its meeting. The judiciary department, including salaries of the members of the Court of Appeals, was given $386,798 for 1932 and $394,758 for 1933, which also included the expenses of the Court of Appeals.

Batton Will Admitted To Probate in Danville

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Feb. 3.—The will of the late L. C. Batton was admitted to probate in the Corporation Court today. His estate is given a provisional value of $50,000 with the knowledge that certain lands at Silver, Tex., are being bored for oil.

The American National Bank of Danville and Lem Dunnam, of Birmingham, his brother-in-law, were named executors. The property was bequeathed to Mrs. Dunnam and ten nephews and nieces. The will was explicit as to details of his burial.

Howard M. Gore Named State Commissioner

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Howard M. Gore, former Governor of West Virginia and for a time Secretary of Agriculture in President Coolidge's Cabinet, today was appointed State commissioner of agriculture by Gov. W. G. Conley.

Mr. Gore will fill the unexpired term of John W. Smith, who died last Friday.

50,000 Greet Two Princes As Ship Halts in Jamaica

Heir to British Throne and Brother Receive Ovation at Which Wales Makes Speech Asserting Better Times Are Just Ahead.

Kingston, Jamaica, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Greeted by an ovation from 50,000 persons who crowded the docks, the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, stopped over here today on their voyage to South America.

Despite the busy day which awaited him on this island, the heir to the British throne found time this afternoon to open a new golf course at Constant Spring, 6 miles from here, and to attend a polo match.

Tonight the royal guests were guests of honor at a reception given by Gov. Sir R. E. Stubbs and Lady Stubbs at Government House. There they met the high dignitaries of the island.

After landing from the steamer Oropesa, which brought them across the Atlantic, the princes were given a hearty welcome by several thousand school children who were waiting impatiently to catch a glimpse of them.

At the end of the official welcome the Prince of Wales pleased the crowd by making a short speech. He said that brighter days were ahead and told the Jamaicans to face the future with courage. He expressed disappointment at not having been able to visit the island when he was in this part of the world ten years ago while the world was in the midst of such difficult times.

Kingston was the third stop of the Oropesa on this side of the Atlantic. the princes landed at Bermuda and stopped, without going ashore, at Havana. Panama will be the next halt, with the ship scheduled to reach there Friday.

Front Royal Man Is Taken by Death

Edgar H. Duncan Is Victim of Pneumonia; Funeral Set Tomorrow.

Special to The Washington Post.

Front Royal, Va., Feb. 3.—Edgar Hill Duncan, member of a well known family of this place, died at his home here early this morning following a week's illness of pneumonia.

Mr. Duncan, a son of the late Capt. and Mrs. Elzie Duncan, of Marshall, Fauquier County, moved to Front Royal about 30 years ago, engaging in the mercantile business until three years ago, when he became manager of the store of George R. Green, at White Post. He was a member of the Methodist Church, and for some years has been a member of the board of stewards.

He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Nettie Anderson, member of a well known family of this place, and the following children: James Duncan, of Syracuse, N. Y.; Prof. Edgar Duncan, of Los Angeles, Calif., and Rebecca, Marylee and George Webster Duncan, of Front Royal.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. R. L. Fultz, and interment will be made in Prospect Hill Cemetery.

College President to Speak.

Dr. William E. Zeuch, president of Commonwealth College, Mena, Ark., will address the Liberal Club of George Washington University at 8:30 o'clock tonight. His talk, "The Story of Commonwealth," will be given in Corcoran Hall.

Tombstone Hurts Boy, 5, in Game

Leg and Arm Are Broken in Follow-the-Leader Fun in Cemetery.

Baltimore, Feb. 3 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A peculiar accident in which one of their playmates was seriously injured yesterday will likely put a check upon, if not stop, children playing in cemeteries hereabouts. Five-year-old Donald Schuchman is in Johns Hopkins Hospital suffering from injuries received when a large tombstone fell on him while he was playing in St. Patrick's Cemetery, near Baltimore.

With four other boys, Donald was playing follow the leader. He took his turn at swinging on one of the stones. The stone became loose and fell on him, causing a spinal injury and fracturing his right arm and left leg.

The other boys hailed a passing motorist, who lifted the marble marker from Donald and took him to the hospital.

Murderer Executed In Prison at Richmond

Richmond, Va., Feb. 3 (A.P.).—Ollie Dawson, 40-year-old Negro, was executed today at the State penitentiary here for the murder of James T. Howe, woodsman and student, at Greenwich Station, near Norfolk. Howe was shot to death on the night of December 18.

Dawson contended that although he was present when Howe was killed, he did not fire the fatal shot. Police said Dawson had confessed to another slaying on December 6.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

HOW TO DRAW BACK BROKERAGE OFFICE CUSTOMERS.

STOCK market brokers are complaining of unprecedented dullness. It is so quiet in their offices that you can hear a stock drop. Office managers are keeping themselves awake by playing backgammon, customers men are killing time by drawing funny faces on desk blotters, and the telephone operators are wishing somebody would call up, if only by mistake.

* * * *

The investing public is still in the cyclone cellar, the man who used to take tips from anybody is now going around with his ears marked "Nonrefillable," and the confirmed Tape Worm who frequents the office in good times and bad may now be found snoring beside the tape basket, merely because it is so quiet there.

* * * *

In the meantime the broker does nothing to lure back the customers. He doesn't seem to have any showmanship.

* * * *

First of all, he should comprehend that he needs new furnishings. The sleeping accommodations are terrible. The brokerage offices are using the same furniture today that they used in the bull market, when the customers wanted to keep awake. What the customer wants when he visits the office these days is a good sleep, and it can't be obtained in straight-backed chairs.

* * * *

* * * *

What can a patron do under present conditions if he craves diversion? Nothing, except listen to the deadly drone of a lifeless ticker or crack jokes with the office statistician.

* * * *

WHY shouldn't a brokerage office offer amusement during dull times? How about using some of the office space for a Tom Thumb golf course There's ample room for at least three or four holes in most any office, and under present conditions there is time for a foursome between quotations.

Why not something in the line of music? A player-piano might do, but a smart orchestra with a crooner crooning "You're Driving Me Crazy" would draw prospects and hold them.

* * * *

Then there is the matter of refreshments. The brokerage office does absolutely nothing to satisfy the inner man. Does anybody doubt that interest in the market would be restored if the brokers put in a free lunch and near beer counter?

* * * *

* * * *

Just because the stock market is dull is no reason for letting the office take on the atmosphere of a morgue. It is a time for action. The least the most conservative houses could do would be to put in bridge tables.

ADD SIMILES.

As blue as the sky behind a postcard White House.

As quickly shut off as a radio talk on sausages. APHASIA.

I feel mean as can be
And as small as a penny
When I only wish one
And the clerk yelps "How man-n-ny?"
APHASIA.

MARY PICKFORD says that if she had her life to live over again she would not be a moving picture star and would shun a career. The delicatessen dealers had a word for it.

COURT ROOM DIALOGUE.

"What did you say you do for a living?"

"I'm a salesman."

"What were you selling at the time of your arrest?"

"Apples."

"What did you sell before you sold apples?"

"Chocolate bars."

"What did you sell before you sold chocolate bars?"

"Chestnuts."

At this point hizzoner gave up.

ROADS CONFERENCE TO OPEN TOMORROW

Experts and Officials Will Discuss Plans for Improvements in Virginia.

SESSIONS AT LEXINGTON

Lexington, Va., Feb. 3 (A.P.).—The program of the sixth annual highway conference to be held at Virginia Military Institute here Thursday and Friday is planned especially for county engineers, county and district officials, contractors and officials of towns and cities of the State.

The purpose of the conference is to bring together members of the boards of supervisors, engineers and highway superintendents of the various counties, road commissioners, contractors, officials of the cities and towns and others interested in highway problems to the end that they may hear the latest information on construction and maintenance of highways and highway development, with special reference to conditions in Virginia.

To Open Tomorrow.

The two-day program will begin Thursday morning. Opportunities will be given for informal group meetings.

There will be an informal highway dinner Friday night, an equipment exhibition, an exhibition of road models, bridge models and pictures by the United States Bureau of Public Roads and an exhibition of the Virginia highway department.

E. A. Snead, a member of the House of Delegates, will call the conference to order after an address by Gen. Lejeune, superinendent of V. M. I., and the response by T. M. Gathright, a member of the Alleghany County board of supervisors.

Topics to Be Discussed.

J. J. Forrer, engineer in charge of maintenance for the Virginia department of highways, will speak on "Construction and Maintenance of All-Year Roads for Light and Medium Traffic."

Delta Upsilon House At Virginia U. Burns

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 3.—The Delta Upsilon fraternity house at the University of Virginia was almost destroyed by fire early this afternoon. The students saved most of their belongings, but some of the furniture was burned.

The three-story frame building, located on Madison lane, was recently acquired by the fraternity, having formerly been occupied by "Billy" Gooch, son of Judge W. S. Gooch, now in charge of athletics at William and Mary College.

Scotchman Rewarded In Finding Wee Bottle

Baltimore, Feb. 3 (A.P.).—A wee bottle tossin' in the waves off the shore of Sutherlandshire, northern Scotland, attracted the eye of Angus Morrison, and he is to be $1 richer because he opened it.

The bottle containing a note, was tossed into the surf at Cape Henry, Va., on September 18, 1928, by W. Melbourne Hart, Baltimore attorney. The note directed that the finder send his name and address and the place where the bottle was picked up, to Hart, who would pay the $1 as a reward.

Johns' Country Home Is Destroyed by Fire

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 3.—The residence of Mrs. V. M. Johns, Avon Hill, in Nelson County, one mile west of Howardsville, this county, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin this afternoon.

The two-story frame structure caught in the front and the flames were beyond control when neighbors arrived. Only a small quantity of furniture was saved. Loss is estimated at $6,000. It is the second time a residence on this site has been burned.

LOWER FARM COSTS PREDICTED FOR YEAR

TALK OF IMPROVEMENT

Richmond, Va., Feb. 3 (A.P.).—John A. Hicks, Federal-State crop statistician here, quoted today the annual agricultural crop outlook report of the United States Department of Agriculture as saying there was some prospect for gradual recovery in the domestic demand for farm products during the latter half of this year.

The report forecast lower production costs also. The prospect of improvement was based on the belief that the world-wide economic depression will have run the worst of its course by the summer of 1931, as consumption of many industrial products is now outrunning production, it said. Prospects also were expected to be affected by the volume of agricultural production in 1931.

Although credit may be curtailed, the report said, ample marketing credit was expected. Farm wages were quoted at the lowest in many seasons, and building materials and fertilizer prices were lower than they were a year ago.

Wheat Outlook Poor.

"Wheat growers are faced with rather discouraging market prospect—that unless yields throughout the world should be materially below the average, prices are likely to continue to be low," the agent said. World production has been increasing faster than consumption for some years and burdensome stocks have been piling up so that the world carryover on July 1 will again be abnormally large.

"Some increase is expected in the commercial consumption of corn in the United States, but foreign demand is not expected to be large unless the production of feed crops in Europe is less than average and the Argentine surplus is small. Prices in 1931-32 season are expected to average somewhat lower than in the current season, but some improvement in cash corn prices is looked for before the 1931 crop is available. There will be a tendency to increase corn acreage in the corn belt to replace reduced stocks.

Short Hay Crop Expected.

"There will be a decreased market demand for oats, and live stock producers in the spring wheat area are advised to cut sufficient oats for hay to insure ample forage for feeding requirements, in view of praspective small hay supplies next season.

"There is indication of less strength in the market demand for barley. Prospect of a slight reduction in hog production this year is regarded as a favorable factor in the long-time outlook for the hog industry.

"Cattle prices in the first half of 1931 are expected to average considerably below those of the first half of 1930, but it is believed prices of most classes and grades will improve during the second half of the year. The live stock industries will have the advantage of relatively cheap feed grain.

Sheep Producers Advised.

"Sheep producers are faced with the problem of reducing breeding stock numbers and disposing of a larger proportion of their annual lamb production through slaughter channels, to improve the economic position of the industry.

"World wool production continues near record levels, and present world stocks are large.

"The dairy industry has been expanded to the point where even with the expected improvement in the business situation the bureau believes the former favorable relation of prices of dairy products to the prices of other farm products will not be restored this year. Domestic prices of dairy products have declined nearly to the world level and foreign markets do not afford advantageous outlet for American dairy products.

"Some improvement in the price trend of eggs may be expected during the second half of 1931; poultry prices for the first half are expected to be somewhat above those of the same period a year ago."

Metzerott Offers Auto, Zoning Bills

Prince Georges Delegate Is Seeking State-Wide Changes in Law.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 3.—Delegate Oliver L. Metzerott, of the Prince Georges County delegation, has introduced four bills, two of which affect the metropolitan area of the county and the other two bearing upon motor traffic laws.

One of the bills is designed to extend the election district of Berwyn by taking in a small area on the western boundary, and another increases the parking and planning area, the idea being to give the respective sections the benefit of inspections and zoning protection. Both of the bills are drawn as emergency laws. The second measure specifies that no sanitary tax shall be collectible until direct benefits accrue.

Mr. Metzerott is sponsor of a State-wide measure to reduce the license fees charged automobile chauffeurs. The bill proposes to reduce the original fee from $3 to $2 and to make the annual charge for renewals a flat rate of $1. Under existing law $3 is also charged for renewals. Mr. Metzerott holds these fees are excessive. Another motor bill by Mr. Metzerott is State-wide prohibition of the use of cut-outs. Such a law is now in operation in certain cities, but the Metzerott measure would apply to any highway in the State.
